UNIONISTS ALLEGE A PLOT

Assert When the Truth Is Known the Country Will Realize Tha the King Saved It from Civil War.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 25.—"Cheers Against the King" is the heading of a report in to-day's Daily Telegraph of a remarkable demonstration in the House of Commons yesterday against the Throne—the first of its kind since early in the nineteenth century. It was an outcome of the crisis created by the resignation and reinstatement of the Curragh cavalry officers.

It was reported at a late hour last night that War Secretary Seely had tendered his resignation. The Daily News says that so far as is known it has not been accepted. The Cabinet will meet to-day and presumably the matter will then be decided.

Yesterday's demonstration in the House of Commons greeted a speech by a Labor member, John Ward, who sits as a Liberal. Turning from the Unionists to the Speaker, he declared that the issue was whether Parliament was to make the laws "absolutely without interference from the King or the army."

A scene of enthusiasm, without precedent for many years, followed, and was continued for several minutes. It was sustained by the whole coalition, the Liberal, Labor, and Nationalist members giving vent to their emotions by cheering, while the Opposition remained silent.

The Daily Telegraph asserts that War Secretary Seely was among the warmest applauders of Mr. Ward, who, it says, made a direct attack on the King, and it declares that if Col. Seely applauded the speech "he ought not to hold his portfolio another hour."

Shouts of "Buckingham Palace!"

In describing the scene in the House The Daily Telegraph adds:

"There was no mistaking the meaning of that pointed association of the King and the Army and the mocking shouts of 'Buckingham Palace!' The suggestion plainly was that the Sovereign had exercised influence upon the Government to induce them to yield to the demands of the officers."

The Liberal Daily News, which adversely criticises the Government for its handling of the situation, calls upon the Government to relieve the nation of its uncertainty regarding the nature of the verbal communications which passed between the War Office and Gen. Sir Arthur Paget (commanding the army in Ireland) and between Gen. Paget and other officers in Ireland, adding:

"There is a general conviction that during the last few days free government in these islands has been struck the gravest blow which has been launched against it for centuries. * * *

"The country has the right to be told, and demands to be told, the part played during these last days by the King. It wants the Government to explain how Lord Roberts, who more than any other individual was responsible for the military conspiracy, came to be moving to and fro between Buckingham Palace and the War Office, and it wants to know what the Archbishop of Canterbury was doing in the affair. The truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, must be published, if justice is to be done to the nation."

"The question, as Mr. Ward put it,

EMMET FOR SERVICE BOARD.

Well-Defined Report That Glynn Will Promote Commissioner.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 24.—There was a well-defined report at the Capitol to-night that William Temple Emmet, State Superintendent of Insurance, would be nominated as a Public Service Commissioner to fill one of the vacancies in the up-State board. Coupled with the report was a statement that the Superintendent of Insurance would present his resignation to-morrow, and that his nomination would be sent to the Senate to-morrow or Thursday.

At the Executive chamber the report was neither denied nor confirmed. Supt. Emmet, when seen at his home, 35 Elk Street, to-night, would not discuss the matter.

SHOOTS BANK PRESIDENT.

Masked Man Fires on Him After Depository Is Closed.

SUPERIOR, Neb., March 24.—Capt. E. S. Adams, President of the First National Bank, which recently closed its doors, was to-night shot and dangerously wounded by a masked man, who waylaid him near his home.

Since the failure of the bank Adams has received threatening letters. He is one of the pioneer residents and has long been prominent in political and Grand Army circles.

CORNELL HAS MEASLES.

26 Cases of the German Variety in Hospital and Others Outside.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 24.—A plague of German measles is now occupying the attention of the Cornell medical officers. Thus far twenty-six cases have been sent to the university infirmary, and it is believed that almost as many cases are confined in rooms outside. A new case from an entirely different quarter was reported to the medical officers to-day, and they are taking every precaution to check the disease.

"While this disease is not dangerous, it may lead to more serious consequences, and therefore we are trying to isolate the cases at once," said Head Medical Officer Munford.

CONVICTS STEAL AN OUTING.

Borrow Warden's Automobile for a Night's Lark in Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 24.—"Number 6,182," the Warden's chauffeur, and "Number 991," the Warden's coachman, fallen from their proud place in the convict aristocracy at Joliet, slept "in solitary" to-night after a frugal dinner of bread and water. It will be a long time before No. 6,182, who used to be Edward Smith and who is serving a life sentence for murder, sits at the wheel of Warden Allen's automobile again, and quite as long before Jim McGee, as No. 991 was known before he killed his wife and went to the Penitentiary to serve seventeen years, whips up the Warden's grays.

The automobile shot out between the prison gates Monday evening under control of the favored "trusties." Hours later an alarm was sounded and word was sent for miles around that two convicts, both murderers were escaping in a white striped touring car. No news of the car or convicts was received until 8 o'clock this morning, when the machine rolled into the prison yard and McGee and Smith jumped out.

"We just had our fling—that's all," explained Smith. "It would have been for us to forget to come back, but the Warden has been good to us and it would have put him in bad. Besides we knew it would end the 'honor system.'"

The men had driven to Chicago and back and had enjoyed a hilarious time in the city's tenderloin district. As dawn broke they cranked up the Warden's car and returned to prison.

HOBOKEN HOTEL BURNS.

Destruction of Old Terminal Laid to Firebugs—Loss $50,000.

The old Terminal Hotel of Hoboken, situated directly across from the Lyric Hotel in Hudson Street and in the centre of the amusement section, burned to the ground in a very short time last night. The fire was believed to be of incendiary origin and an investigation by order of Fire Chief Dunn was begun.

From the four-story hotel, which was 72 Hudson Street, the fire spread to 74, a four-story twin building, occupied by a school of languages, and then to 76, the home of Eugene Cook, a well known chess expert. Mr. Cook is 90 years old and lost a valuable library of works on the game of chess. The total fire loss was estimated at $50,000.

Moe Hochster, Treasurer of the Lyric Theatre, was the first to see flames shooting from the second floor of the hotel. He gave the alarm and then safeguarded those in the theatre by stationing guards at every exit. There was no commotion in the theatre. When Fire Chief Dunn arrived the hotel building was aflame from top to bottom.

The fire started shortly after 9 o'clock and was under control within an hour. At 11 o'clock Chief Dunn said that the fire had started simultaneously at five different places in the hotel. The police could find no one who had been in the building. The owner of the property, Mrs. Mary Smith, was not at home. Nor were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reich, who ran the restaurant.

DEMOCRATS NAME O'BYRNE.

Senator Hughes's Secretary Nominated for Congress.

Special to The New York Times.

PASSAIC, N. J., March 24.—In to-day's primaries in the Seventh Congressional District, Dow H. Drukker, a Passaic contractor, got the Republican nomination. He led Alvin Smith, a lawyer of Paterson, by 1,700 votes. He expects to be elected to succeed the late Robert Gunn Bremner, who died of cancer. Bremner was a Democrat, but the district is normally Republican.

James O'Byrne, Secretary to United States Senator William Hughes, is the Democratic nominee. He beat Judge W. Carrington Cabell, a personal friend of President Woodrow Wilson, by 1,000 votes. When President Wilson was Governor of New Jersey, he appointed Cabell District Judge of Passaic County. O'Byrne's great personal popularity in his home city of Paterson and the active support of Senator Hughes enabled him to defeat Cabell.

Henry C. Whitehead, a former Assemblyman, is the Progressive nominee and Gordon Demarest, the Socialist nominee. Demarest and Whitehead were unopposed in the primaries.

The Republican vote at the primaries was very light and the Democratic vote only about half of the normal.

CROSS-OCEAN TALKS PERHAPS THIS YEAR

Marconi Thinks Wireless Telephony Will Come in About Six Months.

RATE MAY BE $10 A MINUTE

With Bigger Machines He Hopes Soon to be Able to Talk from London to Ireland.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 24.—William Marconi reached London to-day and reiterated his prediction that he would be able to telephone across the Atlantic in the near future—possibly within six months.

The inventor spoke of his recent visit to Italy, where he conducted what he termed "a series of gratifying and successful experiments" in wireless telephony. He told THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent just what he had accomplished so far in that field and what he expected to achieve, and at the same time he took occasion once for all to deny the canard, which has frequently cropped up in the last few months, that he had succeeded in talking across the Atlantic.

"Some newspaper accounts of my recent experiments in Italy," he said, "were very funny. Here is one that says I succeeded in talking over a distance of more than 4,000 miles. As a matter of fact we talked by wireless over a distance of slightly more than forty-five miles, which was all we expected and knew we could do with the apparatus we were using.

New Telephone Apparatus.

"We were experimenting with brand-new apparatus on which I began work only three months ago, and which seems very simple and very practical. We did not intend it to work over big distances. It was not tried over long distances; in fact, I knew it would not work much over forty-five miles. The same type of apparatus would have worked over longer distances, but what we were after was not long-distance records, but reliability—reliability first. We were very much gratified by the results.

"The first and severest test was twelve hours' continuous talking—not all by one man, of course. The twelve hours' talk was provided by several men and a gramophone working in relays.

"The new apparatus is more practical, simpler, and less likely to get out of order than anything we have had heretofore.

"I think transatlantic telephony will be done soon. I think there is no impossibility about it. I have not tried transatlantic telephony yet, and there is no foundation for the rumors, so far as this company is concerned. However, I expect to try the experiment of talking across the Atlantic some of these days, as soon as I think the science is sufficiently advanced."

Mr. Marconi did not wish to be pinned down to any definite period within which he would engage to achieve the feat; but when six months was suggested he said he thought something like that would be about right.

To Talk Across Irish Sea.

"We are building some larger and more powerful machines," he said, "and now expect soon to be able to carry on experiments in long-distance wireless telephony over 200 or 300 miles. The station at Clifden will, I hope, be doing it soon. We hope soon to talk between Ireland and London if everything doesn't get smashed up over Ulster and prevent the experiment. The station at Carnarvon, Wales, will also soon be experimenting with long-distance wireless telephony over a minimum of 300 miles. I am also working on a still bigger machine, the object of which is to send transatlantic wireless telegraph and telephone messages both on the same machine.

"The commercial possibilities of transatlantic telephony, I think, will not be nearly so great as those of transatlantic wireless telegraphy—at least, not at present. You see, at most we cannot talk more than 100 words a minute over the telephone, whereas we can send 200 words a minute by wireless telegraph.

"I suppose we could charge $10 a minute for talking across the Atlantic—no doubt many a man would gladly pay it to speak to his best girl or his partner—but for most practical purposes wireless telegraphy would be chosen in preference to wireless telephony, since the maximum speed of the telephone would be 100 words a minute, as against 200 by telegraph. You people of the press would want to get over a lot of 'stuff' to the other side in a hurry. You wouldn't telephone it; you'd telegraph it, wouldn't you?"

MRS. MORSE LOSES ANTS.

Washington Orders Amber-Tinted Insects Put to Death.

The fate of the box of amber meadow ants brought into this country last week by Mrs. Charles W. Morse was definitely settled yesterday when word came from the Department of Agriculture to ship the ants to the Bureau of Entomology of the Department in Washington. The order from Washington stated that the ants "are injurious insects that damage meadows, lawns, and in some instances field crops." On their arrival in Washington the insects will be put to death with appropriate official ceremonies.

Acting Collector of the Port Stuart wrote Mrs. Morse a letter yesterday to tell her of the impending death of the box of amber-tinted insects.

SHOT AT CALMETTE TO SAVE HUSBAND

Mme. Caillaux Says She Feared He Would Kill Editor to Prevent Publication of Letters.

PARIS, March 24.—"I never intended to kill M. Calmette; I wanted only to give him warning."

This assertion was made by Mme. Caillaux as the climax of her dramatic story to-day of the shooting and recital of the events preceding the killing of the editor of the Figaro.

Mme. Caillaux's state of mind on the eventful day, her purchase of a revolver, and the last act of the tragedy were set forth in detail by her before the examining Magistrate, Henri Boucard, at the Palace of Justice.

Before going to the Figaro office Mme. Caillaux had left a note for her husband, who she feared might commit an act of violence against M. Calmette. It read as follows:

"France and the republic have need of you. I do not want you to sacrifice yourself."

The prisoner told of her cordial greeting by the editor when she reached the Figaro office.

"No doubt you know the object of my visit?" she had said to the editor.

"No," replied M. Calmette, "won't you sit down?"

He then lighted a lamp and placed it near the desk.

"Frantic at finding myself in semi-obscurity, facing the man who had maligned my husband, my presence in the office known to all," Mme. Caillaux cried dramatically, "I drew the revolver and taking careful aim, fired low."

"Yes, indeed," interrupted M. Boucard, "I observed that two bullets lodged in the base of the book case. But how do you explain the wound in the chest of M. Calmette, who was behind the desk?"

"I do not know; I continued to fire without noticing," she answered.

"Are we to suppose that the weapon followed M. Calmette around in his efforts to escape?" asked the Magistrate. To this the prisoner had nothing to say.

Mme. Caillaux then told of the luncheon with her husband on the day of the tragedy, the consequent nervous excitement she suffered, and the necessity of making a last effort to prevent the publication of the letters.

"Shortly after 8 o'clock in the morning I received M. Fernand Monier, Chief Judge of the Civil Tribunal of the Seine, with whom I had spoken, as I have previously told you, on the question whether any legal means existed to prevent the publication of my private letters in the Figaro. Judge Monier was unable to make any suggestion as to how the Figaro could be prevented from publishing other private letters. He left my house at 8:30.

"I then answered a telephone call from the Foreign Office when M. Pierre de Fouquières, Assistant Master of Ceremonies, inquired what time I and my husband were going to dinner at the Italian Embassy that evening. I took the opportunity to tell M. Fouquières that I wanted him to arrange the places at a dinner I was to give on March 23 at which the American Ambassador, Myron T. Herrick, and his wife were to be present.

"I then telephoned to my hairdresser to come to the house at 7 P. M. I was manicured and then visited my dentist. Afterward I drove to the Ministry of Finance and told my husband what Judge Monier had said.

"My husband was furious. He explained: 'Then there is nothing else for me to do except to go and break his neck!'

"I did not doubt at that moment that he intended to commit some act of extreme violence.

"In this state of mind we took our lunch together at home. The meal was a wretched one. Our cook, who was to leave us that very evening, had neglected her work. I could eat nothing, as I was accustomed to a severe diet."

Mme. Caillaux seemed to recollect keenly while she was relating it the annoyance that she had suffered throughout that day. She continued:

"Although we both talked a good deal about the bad quality of the luncheon I was in reality becoming more and more preoccupied with the nervousness of my husband. I could think of no means to prevent the publication of two letters which I feared would appear in the newspaper. My fright over my husband's words grew, and I felt the imperious necessity of taking some step against the editor of The Figaro.

"I felt so nervous and irritated that it seemed impossible for me to go to the Italian Embassy that evening, and I telephoned that I was ill.

"Then more than ever I became obsessed with the desire to go and see Gaston Calmette. A terrible fear clutched me lest my husband, who was a remarkably good shot, should kill M. Calmette. In my delirium I already pictured to my mind the figure of my husband on the prisoners' bench, and I was already confronted with the consequences of such a frightful tragedy. What added to my anguish was a deep personal conscientious scruple, for there was no use concealing from myself that I should be the involuntary cause of this terrifying drama."

Mme. Caillaux told of her movements on the afternoon of the crime, among them being her visit to a gunsmith to buy a revolver.

M. Boucard interrupted her to ask if at this moment she had planned her act of violence against M. Calmette.

"Not entirely," replied Mme. Caillaux, "the idea then began only to take root."

Mme. Caillaux declared that she had purchased a revolver, after refusing one in which the trigger worked too hard, for protection on nights in the country during the electoral campaign of her husband, whom she intended to accompany. After buying the weapon Mme. Caillaux went home and later left for the office of the Figaro.

Fifteen ringleaders of the women prisoners in the Saint-Lazare Penitentiary, who protested against privileges being accorded to Mme. Caillaux, were placed in isolation cells to-day as a punishment. Mme. Caillaux, who appeared in a condition of extreme fatigue this morning, called impatiently for her husband. When he arrived at the jail a long conservation ensued.

SAY HIGHEST BIDS GOT FEDERAL JOBS

Postmasterships on the Political Auction Block, Pennsylvania Citizens Assert.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—Postmasterships in York and Adams Counties, Penn., comprising the Twentieth Congressional District, have been bartered and sold under the Wilson Administration; candidates for the offices have had to sign agreements promising to pay 5 per cent. of their salaries to the support of the Democratic State and county organizations, and jobs have been put on the political auction block and knocked down to the highest bidders, according to citizens of York and Adams Counties, who have filed affidavits with Postmaster General Burleson.

As a result of the exposure appointments of Postmasters for vacancies occurring in the district have been held up at the order of Mr. Burleson. Appointments have already been made at Hanover, New Freedom, Dallastown, and Wrightsville. Two of the four new Postmasters at New Freedom and Wrightsville frankly confessed to-day that they had signed papers agreeing to pay $75 a year to the support of the Democratic organization. The appointments held up are at York, Gettysburg, and Delta. They are being held in abeyance until Postmaster General Burleson completes an investigation of the alleged gross malpractices of York County officials who are dominant factors in the affairs of Democracy of that section.

As a climax to the investigation, Allen M. Seitz of York, a deputy prothonotary and ex-Chairman of the York County Democratic Committee, confessed that he had publicly announced at a meeting of the committee, soon after President Wilson's election, that all prospective office holders would have to contribute part of their salary to the committee. Seitz admitted further that he had circulated slips of paper among candidates for Postmasterships asking them to put their signatures to a contract to pay $75 annually.

To clinch Seitz's confession it was learned from James F. Singer, now Postmaster at New Freedom, that he had signed one of the Seitz contracts while he was yet a candidate for the appointment, and that soon after he returned the document to Seitz his name was sent forward to Postmaster General Burleson by Congressman Andrew R. Brodbeck, representing the York-Adams district, and a month later confirmed in the Senate. Singer insisted that, although he had signed the paper, he had not yet paid the money. He agreed to pay $75.

Affidavits now in the possession of Mr. Burleson state that one of the Seitz agreements was offered to another candidate for the Postmastership at New Freedom. The candidate refused to sign the paper, and shortly afterward learned that Singer had signed and had been appointed at the dictation of Congressman Brodbeck. The affidavit was made by George E. Ruhl of New Freedom, and his affidavit was substantiated by the sworn statement of Ira S. Painter of New Freedom, who took oath that he had heard Congressman Brodbeck promise the appointment at New Freedom to Ruhl.

Congressman Brodbeck, however, declared that former Chairman Seitz did not act with his authority in the circulation of the alleged agreements, that he never told Seitz to exact such financial promises from would-be Postmasters, and that as soon as he learned of Seitz's actions he immediately ordered him to desist.

HIT BY AUTO; MAY DIE.

Chauffeur Released, but Owner Says He Had Car Without Permission.

A speeding automobile struck down Morris Rose, 45 years old, a bookkeeper, of 510 Howard Avenue, East New York, in Eastern Parkway, near his home last night. His skull and right leg were fractured and numerous cuts and bruises were inflicted.

The car was brought to a stop by a man who said he was Daniel Drenning of 1,308 Prospect Place, Brooklyn, employed as a chauffeur by Harry Balfe, Vice President and general manager for Austin, Nichols & Co., grocers, of 61 Hudson Street, Manhattan.

A crowd saw the accident. The injured man was carried into a drug store and a motor ambulance rushed him to St. Mary's Hospital, where it was said he had small chance to live through the night. An operation on his skull was made at once. The police were satisfied that the chauffeur was not driving recklessly and he was not held at the Brownsville Station, to which he drove.

Mr. Balfe was summoned and he said he had not given his chauffeur or anybody else permission to take either of his two cars from the garage. He said he would communicate with the police at once.

NO BIG ROCKEFELLER TAX.

East Cleveland Will Get $51.60, Not $12,000,000, This Year.

Special to The New York Times.

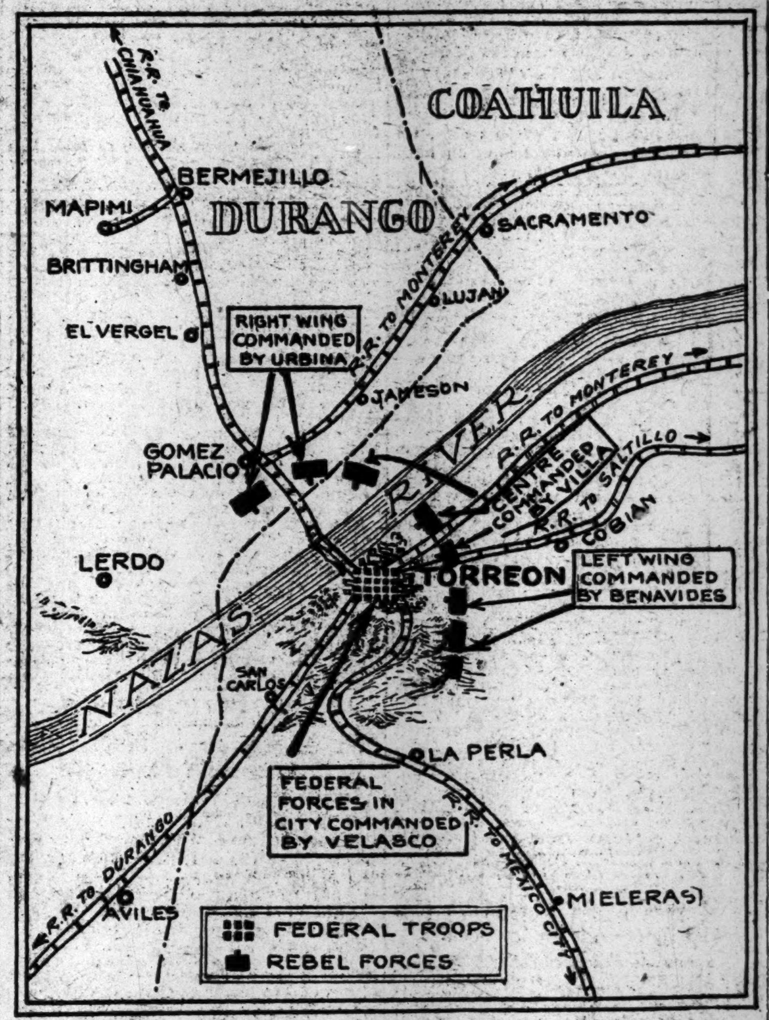
CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 24.—Arrangements to collect $12,000,000 taxes from John D. Rockefeller have been postponed indefinitely. East Clevelanders are advised to prepare for a tax rate based on the assumption that Rockefeller will pay the usual $51.60 into the suburban treasury.

Tax Commissioner Fackler announced to-day that nothing was being done with the Rockefeller investigation.

"We have put up to Attorney General Hogan a number of questions relating to the date when Rockefeller will be in default," said Fackler. "In the meantime we have stopped the investigation of the amount of his personal property."

The word came from Columbus to-day that the Tax Commission did not think Rockefeller would ever be in default, and that the case was dead.

REBELS FIGHT THEIR WAY INTO TORREON; BATTLE RAGING IN STREETS OF THE CITY; RUMOR OF SURRENDER UNCONFIRMED



Line-up of Forces Before Torreon.

Benavides's Strong Force Meets Heavy Resistance in Its Assault from the East.

TWO BARRACKS CAPTURED

Federals Said to Have Been Driven Back to the Plaza for Their Last Stand.

Special to The New York Times.

JUAREZ, Mexico, March 24.—Part of Gen. Francisco Villa's onrushing army of rebels has penetrated into Torreon.

Only the most fragmentary reports of the actual fighting in the streets of that important railroad centre have been received, but evidently the Federal garrison under Gen. Velasco is battling desperately to hold the town.

Col. Trevino of the staff of Gen. Benavides, commanding the strong left wing, which was generally expected to enter the city first, moving from the east, wired his brother to-day that the rebel army had taken two cuartels in the city. Whether this success was in any way decisive of the final result was not indicated, but he added a semi-humorous remark that Villa and Benavides were planning to take breakfast in Torreon to-morrow.

Another dispatch even stated that Gen. Villa, in the midst of the fighting to-day, sent a courier across the irrigated fields and through the river to deliver a message to Gen. Benavides inviting him to breakfast with him in Torreon to-morrow morning.

A message came to Gen. Chao from Gomez Palacio this evening, asserting that Torreon had yielded. No confirmation of this could be obtained from any source, but nevertheless this town and others on the border made merry over it.

The message was the signal for a general celebration. Bands played in the streets, speeches were made by Gen. Chao and his staff, and people paraded under the arches erected for the reception of Gen. Carranza, who is expected here on Thursday. The message came from Gomez Palacio, Villa's present base, and was believed to be authentic.

Later a message came from Chihuahua, quoting an "official message," as saying that fighting was still going on at Gomez Palacio. This contradicted all the day reports of the rebel success at that point, but may simply indicate the renewal of the struggle there while the greater contest is going on in and around Torreon.

Day of Desperate Fighting.

When the fighting began to-day, it was a case of men battling against a foe filled with the enthusiasm engendered by two days of triumphant progress.

Gomez Palacio, on which a furious assault was begun yesterday afternoon, was taken late last night, Villa directing the attack in person.

This town was of little importance, but it covered the main artillery position of the Federals, Cerro de la Pilar, a mountain opposite, where the Federal gunners had been doing the most damage. These guns were soon silenced, and the Federals were killed in great numbers when they abandoned the position and fell back along the open road and across the bridge which spans the Nazas River into Torreon.

The Federals fought like men waging a hopeless battle, while the rebels charged the irrigation ditches, drove the enemy out of old ranch houses and across the muddy fields as if they were rounding up rabbits. Many Federals were shot in their tracks as they fell exhausted after trying to escape across the irrigation fields.

With Gomez Palacio taken and the mountain battery silenced, Villa gave orders for a shift of the main attacking

POLICE BILL KILLED BY ASSEMBLY VOTE

Lower House 94 to 49 Against Mitchel Measure Designed as Goethals Lure.

REPUBLICANS BADLY SPLIT

Progressives Also Divide Widely, but Democrats Practically Solid in Opposition—Mitchel Places Blame.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 24.—The Goethals Police bill was defeated in the Assembly late this afternoon, 94 to 49. Before the final vote an amendment providing for a Board of Review to pass upon disciplinary decisions of the Police Commissioner, which had been offered by George R. Brennan of Kings, was killed, 120 to 18.

In the five-hour debate that preceded the final vote, charges were made repeatedly that improper influences had been used to induce favorable action on Mayor Mitchel's bill. The most definite of these charges came from three Progressive Assemblymen from New York City.

Assemblyman Otto Henschel of the Bronx declared that he "had been approached with insinuations that it would be unwise to vote against the bill, and that it might be to his advantage to support it."

Assemblyman Benjamin E. Moore of the Twenty-second New York District said: "They approached me on the floor of the Assembly only five minutes ago and tried to shut me off from opposing the bill."

Assemblyman William J. McRoberts, a Brooklyn Progressive, waved a sheaf of telegrams in his hand which he declared contained pressure from "office holders and gentlemen in the bread line," urging him to vote for the bill. Mr. McRoberts declined to make the telegrams public, but it was learned that Charles A. Aronstam, a Progressive leader in Kings, had signed one.

How Assemblymen Voted.

All three of these Assemblymen voted against the bill. The vote on the whole did not follow party lines. The Democratic Assemblymen, with the exception of Arthur P. Squire of Schenectady County, voted against the bill. Michael Schaap, Progressive leader of the Assembly, made a strong plea for the bill, but succeeded in holding only eleven of the twenty Progressives in line.

The Democratic Assemblymen from New York City voted solidly against the bill. The Republicans from New York City divided as follows:

FOR.	AGAINST.
Cinkling, N. Y.	Ahern, Kings.
Crane, N. Y.	Brennan, Kings.
Eadie, Queens.	Burlingame, Kings.
Ellenbogen, N. Y.	Flamman, Kings.
Grimler, Bronx.	Garbe, Queens.
Hoff, Kings.	Green, Kings.
Karutz, Kings.	Langhorst, Kings.
Mathewson, Kings.	Lockwood, Kings.
McQuistion, Kings.	Simpson, Kings.
Nelson, New York.
Stoddard, New York.

The Progressives divided:

FOR.	AGAINST.
Bleecker, New York.	Boylston, New York.
Ittleman, Kings.	Findlater, New York.
Meyer, New York.	Henschel, Bronx.
Patton, Bronx.	Karpen, Kings.
Schaap, New York.	La Frenz, Kings.
Sufrin, New York.	McRoberts, Kings.
Sulzer, New York.	Moore, New York.
	Scheidemann, Kings.

Smith Criticises Mitchel.

Ex-Speaker Alfred E. Smith, who made one of the strongest arguments against the bill, declared that politics was responsible for its introduction and that Mr. Mitchel, although ostensibly a reform Mayor, had invoked all the old-time discredited methods in an effort to get his bill through. He quoted from an interview given by the Mayor after he had been told by Speaker Sweet that his bill was marked for defeat.

"I thought we had a progressive reform Assembly this year," said Mr. Smith. "Mayor Mitchel evidently does not think so, judging from an interview in which he said: 'I am surprised that this bill is to be defeated. I had the assurance of the Progressive and Republican leaders that they would make it a party measure, and I supposed they could control their men.'

"I had supposed that no man here was 'controled' by his leader, except the Tammany members."

Addressing himself to the amendment which provided for a board of review, Mr. Smith said:

"This bill is a compromise measure. It does not take away the policeman's right of review, but substitutes a private board for the courts. I contend that this constitutes an attack on the courts, because it can be construed as due to nothing but a feeling of dissatisfaction with what the courts have done in reviewing the case of dismissed or disciplined policemen.

"What kind of Police Commissioner can possibly, as this bill in its amended form presupposes, reverse himself in three months' time with reference to a decision when no new facts, no new evidence has been adduced to make him change his mind? And if such a man, willing to so humiliate himself, could be found, would you want him for Police Commissioner of New York City? I would not. If you want a policeman who moves along the lines of least resistance, then take from him the right to court view."

Early in the debate Assemblyman Conkling, Republican, of New York, declared that Mayor Mitchel "is entitled to any legislation he wants from this House."

"Oh, is he!" rose in a derisive chorus from the Democratic side.

"The party that fails to give Mayor Mitchel what he wants," Mr. Conkling retorted, "will lose from 50,000 to 100,000 votes of dissatisfied citizens next Fall."

"A Corrupt Measure."

Assemblyman Benjamin E. Moore, Progressive, of New York, said: "This is not a bill. This is a job. The leaders who are out for this bill are out for it because they are looking for jobs from Mayor Mitchel. It is a corrupt measure. Talk about machines! There is no worse machine than the Mitchel machine. Within the last five minutes they have approached me on the floor of this Assembly and tried to shut me off from opposing this bill. But, thank God, I have strong shoulders, and can go out and work for an honest living if I cannot come back here. And I won't have to look to Mitchel for a job, either."

Mark Eisner, Independent Democrat, of New York, declared that no self-respecting person could afford to take a place on the proposed Board of Review, because the members would be nothing but errand boys for the Mayor, who had the right to reverse the findings of the board if they did not suit him.

"If the Mayor had started to wipe out the secret societies in the Police Department he would have come nearer hitting the root of the evil commonly called 'The System,'" said Mr. Eisner.

Assemblyman Burlingame, Republican, of Kings, referred to the fact that the court review it was proposed to wipe out was written into the charter at the request of Gov. Hughes. He also pointed out that the Curran Commission had recommended that it be retained.

Progressive Leader Schaap said that under the present system a court review was as likely to result in reversing the findings against a guilty as against an innocent man.

Majority Leader Hinman opposed the bill.

"What guarantee is there, if this bill is passed," asked Mr. Hinman, "that some future Commissioner, taking advantage of the situation, might not use this greater power to protect the underworld and thus capitalize for sordid ends this proposed 'reform'?"

In the Senate the Mitchel bill remains in the Cities Committee.

"ASSEMBLY IS RESPONSIBLE."

Mitchel Places Blame for "Failure to Get Goethals for Commissioner."

When he heard last night of the defeat of the Police bill in the Assembly Mayor Mitchel said that the responsibility for the failure to get Col. Goethals as Police Commissioner would lie entirely with the legislators who voted against the bill. Said the Mayor:

"As I have said before, the responsibility is the Assembly's. We gave the Legislature a programme and a man. Both were possible and both should have been made available. Down here we are going to do the best we can with the law as it is to administer the Police Department to the best of our ability, but for the failure to secure the most effective police administration and control and for the failure to get Col. Goethals for Commissioner the responsibility lies with the Legislature and with every man who voted against the bill."

columns to the eastward. He had previously decided that it would be needless waste of life to attempt to storm Torreon from the north, where it was protected by hills and canyons, fortified with cannon and machine guns. So the main force of rebels began to reform in a great arc to the northeast and east of Torreon, where the Laguna cotton district occupies a wide area.

Federal Brigade Struck Hard.

As the shifting movement started a Federal brigade under Gen. O. Carranza, which was retreating, turned and struck venomously at the rebel advance guard. They were quickly driven into the river, and many perished from the storm of bullets which followed them. Bodies could be seen floating down stream for a mile.

A special train was rushed to Chihuahua with the rebels who were seriously wounded, while those less badly hurt were sent to Bermejillo for emergency treatment at the hospital which Villa had established at his base there.

With the rebel change of front completed much of the Federal artillery was rendered useless against the rebels, as the Federal gunners could not get the range. Some of their pieces were soon silenced, many by their own pieces, which had been captured at Gomez Palacio and used against them.

During the afternoon the heaviest fighting was to the east of Torreon, where Gen. Benavides, recently Jefe de Armas at Juarez and a native of Coahuila, had command of the rebels' left wing and bore the brunt of the battle. His force is the best organized and best equipped in Villa's army. His losses are reported heavy.

Gen. Tomas Urbina led the right wing, but had little fighting to do after Gomez Palacio was taken.

This afternoon Villa leaped on his horse, after he had remained in the trenches until he was covered with mud, and rode out to the eastward to cheer his men for a final assault on the town. His progress could be traced along the line of fire, for the hungry and tired rebels stopped firing long enough to yell and throw their hats into the air as their leader rode along.

The heaviest fighting in the centre came when the rebels started to cross the Nazas River. Realizing that this would be a critical assault, the Federals poured a hot fire on the advancing foe and shelled them as they crossed the river. Heavy losses were received here.

Once on the south bank, the rebels began a general charge which resulted in the Federals abandoning two cuartels on the outskirts of the town and seeking refuge in the cathedral and other buildings around the Plaza. Buildings were set on fire as the Federals fell back to prevent the rebels using them for protection.

Col. Trevino, Benavides's subordinate on the extreme left wing, was the first to enter Torreon proper with 3,000 men. They drove the Federals before them, killing men in hand-to-hand fights. Realizing that they might be executed, the Federals preferred to fight to the death. They were weakened by cholera, which had broken out in the barracks and had depleted the fighting force.

Late in the afternoon the Federal forces were preparing to surrender or retreat toward Monterey.

Villa Spares the Wounded.

For the first time Villa is not killing the wounded on the battlefield. Prisoners have also been taken and are being guarded in little groups over the irrigated lands. No one knows what their fate will be, as Villa has issued no orders either to spare or to shoot the prisoners captured in battle. No accurate estimate has yet been made of the dead and wounded, and it is probable that none can be made. Many Federal wounded and dead were burned in buildings which were destroyed to prevent the spread of cholera, which was discovered among the Federal forces.

All afternoon and late into the night the Hospital Corps, many of them volunteer women from the best families in Chihuahua, worked on the battlefield and hospitals at the front. The worst wounded are being operated upon in field hospitals, while others are being sent to Bermijillo or Bermejillo. Federals and rebels alike are being treated by these wearers of the Red Cross of Mercy.

Chihuahua Report of New Battle.

By The Associated Press.

JUAREZ, March 24.—Rumors and "official" reports of the onward sweep of Gen. Villa and his rebel army kept this city in a state of gratified excitement all day to-day.

A telegram came this afternoon from Col. Trevino, an officer on the staff of Gen. Eugenio Aguirre Benavides, to his brother in this city, which said that Benavides had taken two cuartels (barracks) in the City of Torreon. The telegram added:

"Gen. Villa and Gen. Benavides have concluded to take breakfast in the plaza at Torreon."

As the telegram did not name the cuartels taken, it is a matter of conjecture whether they were on the outskirts of the city or well inside of it.

Gen. Benavides, who led a large force from the eastward on Torreon, was expected to be the first to enter the city. It was Villa's plan to engage the main force of the enemy himself, thus weakening the opposition to Benavides.

Later in the evening, Gen. Manuel Chao, Military Governor of Chihuahua, who is now in this city to greet Gen. Carranza, received a private report that Gen. Velasco, the Federal commander at Torreon, had surrendered.

Gen. Chao accepted the report with reserve, however, and telegraphed to Gen. Villa asking for confirmation or denial. After two hours he had received no reply.

Later this dispatch came from The Associated Press correspondent at Chihuahua, which served to dampen the general enthusiasm:

"An official dispatch, received at 5 P. M. to-day, says that fighting continues fiercely at Gomez Palacio. The rebels are said to have captured the stone railroad round house and to be fighting from it.

"The rebels claim that the Federal dead number 700. No report as to their own losses has been made public, but it is learned that they have at least 800 wounded."

This message gave rise to all manner of conjectures. It was the first direct news telegram of the day, but it was argued that the official report quoted in it did not necessarily disprove previous reports of fighting in Torreon, or even that Villa did not actually have Gomez Palacio in his possession last night. It was announced officially here this morning that Gomez Palacio was taken last night at 9 o'clock and that Gen. Villa had ordered supplies sent direct to that city.

Might Mean Federal Move.

The report might mean, it was conjectured, that the Federals, as a part of the general battle, might have returned to Gomez Palacio and renewed the fight, while other forces were engaged in Torreon, three miles away.

The fall of Gomez Palacio became practically certain yesterday when, after a cannonading, the infantry advanced up the slopes of Cerro de la Pilar, a moutnain 2,000 feet high, and captured the water tank that crowns it. Cerro de la Pilar commands portions of both Gomez Palacio and Torreon. It lies to the right of the street car tracks connecting the two cities.

Nevertheless the fighting in Gomez Palacio was of a desperate and sanguinary sort. It was said to-day that dead were lying where they fell in the streets. No official statement of losses on either side has been made.

Apparently seeking to deal Villa a crushing blow before he reached the gates of Torreon, Gen. Velasco sallied out of the invested city under cover of the guns on the sides of Cerro de la Pilar, and strongly garrisoned Gomez Palacio. Made confident by his previous victories, Villa gave the order for attack.

The guns on Cerro de la Pilar were opened up. Volley after volley from the Federal trenches and the fire of rebel artillery and small arms opened the first serious engagement of Villa's troops and the Federals.

The rebel cavalry pressed forward toward the mountain and soon Villa's men had taken the water tank, gaining their first vantage ground. From there they fought on, the Brittingham Soap Factory Infantry engaging the defending forces, who were within and upon the buildings.

Another hour and the Federals retreated to the cuartel, where the hottest fighting of the day took place. Fighting from the front and gaining ground foot by foot, the rebels finally drove the Federals back toward Torreon.

But so heavy had the firing been, and so many were the shells that burst in the cuartel, that scarcely had it been occupied by the pursuing rebels, than it caught fire and the victors were forced to abandon it.

The Federals retreated in order, however, keeping up an insistent firing as they were beaten back on the road to Torreon. As the rebels advanced, they passed forward over the bodies of Federal dead and wounded.

While the fighting was still in progress Villa felt so confident of victory that he returned to the main base at Bermejillo to telegraph to Chihuahua and other points about the handling of supplies and the movement of troops.

To-day the field hospital at El Vergel is crowded with wounded, which streamed into the place as fast as they could be returned from the front. Given emergency attention here, the seriously wounded were hastened on to the hospital at Bermejillo. The Federal loss appears to have been much heavier than that of the rebels.

If Trevino's message tells the facts, Gen. Villa, after his long and careful prepations, has conducted a whirlwind campaign.

Beginning Friday he swept down from the north and took Bermejillo, about 30 miles north of Torreon. Without halting his forces pressed southward and drew in from other directions until Gen. Velasco and his Federal troops were cut off from the outside world. Mapimi, Matamoras, Brittingham Junction, and other small railroad towns fell in the next two days, and last night the railroad city of Gomez Palacio, only three miles from Torreon. Thus in five days Villa has all but accomplished the object of the first part of his campaign.

MANY KILLED AT GUERRERO

Both Rebel and Federal Generals Claim a Victory.

LAREDO, Texas, March 24.—Conflicting reports of a battle between Mexican Constitutionalists and Federals came to Laredo to-day from the isolated scene of yesterday's engagement near Guerrero, sixty miles south of this city, on the Rio Grande. Heavy losses on both sides were indicated.

An official Federal dispatch given out in Nuevo Laredo aserted that Gen. Guardiola repulsed the rebels after nine hours' fighting, and that the latter took with them in retreat five wagons loaded with wounded, besides leaving many dead on the field. It was said that many Constitutionalists deserted and fled to the United States during the fighting.

It was admitted, however, that Guardiola withdrew to San Ygnacio after the reported retreat of the rebels. His loss in killed, captured, and wounded was given as sixty men.

Constitutionalist reports were conflicting, but all claimed a substantial victory, including the capture of Guerrero, which had been held by Guardiola. It is regarded here as probable that both sides retreated with no material advantage.

About 1,500 men were engaged on both sides. Gen. Jesus Carranza and Antonio Villareal commanded the Constitutionalists.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, March 24.—Fifty-two Constitutionalists and sixty Federals were killed, wounded, or captured in yesterday's battle at Guerrero, according to the official report of Gen. Antonio Villareal, a rebel commander, received at the Matamoros Constitutionalist headquarters to-night. Capt. José Maria Montamayor is reported among the rebel dead.

Gen. Villareal's message, dated at Guerrero, claimed a "complete victory" for the Constitutionalists. He reported 25,000 rounds of ammunition, sixty rifles and other supplies and equipment captured from the Federals.

MAY ATTACK MONTEREY NEXT.

Washington Hears That Villa Has His Eyes on Tampico Also.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The Government was without official advices to-day concerning the crucial battle in and around Torreon. A dispatch from a Consular officer reported the capture of small towns yesterday.

While dispatches to the rebel junta predict that Torreon will fall, and that within a fortnight Saltillo and Monterey also will capitulate to Villa, the War Department has information that the Federals have a well disciplined force and have fortified the town strongly. It is also stated that Villa has practically no supplies and his commissary is the worst conceivable. The country behind him has been devastated and he can draw no food supplies from it.

The Constitutionalist view is that Villa will be in Monterey within a few days, to make his base there until he can take care of his wounded and recuperate his army for an advance on Tampico, which is the real objective of the leaders. They regard the oil industry of Tampico as worth $200,000 gold a week, and contend that if they once get the place, and the oil fields are in their power, the City of Mexico will be an easy prey.

Army officers here find themselves deprived of a much-desired opportunity to study the features of the campaign. As political recognition has not been granted by the United States to either Federals or Constitutionalists, there is no way by which American officers might be detailed to witness engagements as in ordinary wars. Even if the situation were different, army men here think it doubtful whether the Mexican Generals would be willing to tolerate the presence on their battlefields of foreign officers, with their notions of the proper method of dealing with prisoners and the inhabitants of captured towns.

In the opinion of military men here, Gen. Villa's success so far has been founded, not upon any exhibition of military skill, but solely upon his ability to imbue his soldiers with the idea that he is invincible and to inspire them with courage in attack. The officers are waiting with interest to observe how well the Constitutionalist troops, heretofore used only to irregular warfare, stand the strain of repeated assaults upon regular earthworks and fortifications.

It was announced at the British Embassy to-day that the report of Mr. Perceval, Consul at Galveston, who has been investigating the death of W. S. Benton at Juarez, had been received. The report will not be made public "for the reason that all of its statements have practically been published already."

The report is not as conclusive as was hoped. Mr. Perceval did not find the grave of Benton nor an eye-witness of the killing, nor learn exactly how Benton was killed. It was his conclusion from all the facts he obtained that Benton was stabbed in Villa's office in Juarez and buried in the place.

It is understood there will be no immediate action on the report, but in due time a claim will be made on the Mexican Government for indemnity for the killing of Benton.

EXPELLING HUERTA'S FRIENDS.

Sonora Authorities Will Deport 600 and Seize Their Property.

NOGALES, Sonora, March 24.—Six hundred citizens of Sonora, suspected of sympathy with Huerta, are to be deported by Constitutionalist officials, according to authoritative statements made here to-day. Twenty-five were brought to Nogales to-day from Hermosillo.

Every one not in accord with the Carranza programme will be sent out of the country, it was said. None of the expatriates brought here to-day was allowed to take anything of value with him. All their property has been confiscated.

More Work; More Room; More Profit; Less Noise

Here are the facts in connection with the billing department of a certain New York department store:

Eight operators using "Ellis" machines do nearly 25% more work than the thirteen operators, formerly employed, who used typewriters.

The output per operator is from 85 to 200 per cent. greater.

What has happened is this: Each operator does more work. There being fewer machines in the room, it is not so crowded. Moreover, it is quieter. Mistakes are lessened—to the satisfaction and profit of all concerned.

Shall we put an "Ellis" in your office, on trial? Free!

HUERTA TO GET $33,000,000

Will Issue Treasury Notes Against Unsold Bonds of 1913.

MEXICO CITY, March 24.—President Huerta's financial stress will be relieved by a plan adopted to-day which will bring into the Treasury 100,000,000 pesos, approximately, at the present exchange, which is practically three to one, $33,000,000 in gold. Fifty million pesos will be immediately available, the balance as required.

The result will be the resumption on April 1 of the interest payments on the foreign debt, suspended on Jan. 12, and the early revocation of the 50 per cent. advance in import duties recently imposed as a war measure, all of which will be set forth in a decree to be issued within a day or two.

The plan involves the issuance of Treasury notes against the unsold balance of bonds authorized in May, 1913, to the amount of $100,000,000, for a portion of which a Paris bank syndicate subscribed, but of which practically half remain unsold. These bonds are to be placed with the Mexican banks at 30 per cent. of their face value, the banks to issue currency against them at the legal ratio of 3 to 1. The bonds are secured by the pledge of 16 per cent. of the customs.

The bankers have agreed to take the bonds in question, and the plan awaits only the signature of President Huerta to become effective.

In return for the assistance rendered by the banks President Huerta promises definitely to abandon the scheme for a Federal Bank and likewise the proposed 1 per cent. tax on the capital of corporations and individuals.

The plan has been the subject of many conferences between the leading bankers and the Finance Minister, and before its final adoption was submitted to José de Limantour, the ex-Minister of Finance, who is now in Paris. He responded at great length, giving his approval of the project as a sound measure.

Provision is made in the contract with the bankers subscribing that in the event that the Paris bankers determine to exercise their option on the balance of the bonds the Mexican banks shall surrender their holdings for cash.

The London and Mexican Bank will subscribe $11,000,000, the National $4,000,000, and the rest will be distributed among State banks.

The bankers, commenting on the measure, while regarding it as the best procedure, foresee difficulties in which the banks will be unable to offer further assistance, since the present measure taxes the resources of all the institutions of issue to their full extent.

ARMS REACH OUR EMBASSY.

First Installment of Delayed Consignment Is Received.

MEXICO CITY, March 24.—The first installment of the arms and ammunition sent by the United States War Department to the American Embassy for the protection of American citizens in the event of disturbances in the Federal capital was delivered to-day.

The consignment, which includes 250 rifles and two machine guns, had been held for fourteen days at the Custom House under orders issued by President Huerta. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Chargé, expects no further trouble in getting the remainder of the rifles and the machine guns.

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, commander of the American warships in Mexican waters, who, with his wife and daughter, has been visiting the capital unofficially, left for Vera Cruz today after four days of sightseeing. The American naval officer met no Mexican officials, although he had a good look at President Huerta driving in the park, when he visited the National Palace with Mr. O'Shaughnessy.

SEEKS TO FREE AMERICAN.

Consul Garrett Takes Steps in Behalf of Arturo Valle.

LAREDO, Texas, March 24.—Consul Garrett to-day took steps to obtain the release of Arturo Valle, an American resident of this city, who was arrested in Nuevo Laredo yesterday by Federals, while trying to trace his stolen horse.

He had driven across the river, stopping at a canteen, and when he emerged the horse was gone. He said he traced it to a point near the Federal fortifications, when he was arrested.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Gov. Colquitt's offer of a reward of $1,000 for the delivery upon Texas soil of five Mexicans, suspected as murderers of Clemente Vergara, has caused officials here serious concern for international complications. The Mexicans sought are Capt. Apolonce Rodriguez, Nito Ceara, Juan Castillon, Andreas Rodriguez, and Dinomisio Martinez. In his report today Brig. Gen. Bliss says:

"The men named are charged in the newspapers with complicity in the death of Clemente Vergara."

The right of the Governor to offer a reward for the apprehension of a fugitive from justice is not denied by the officials, but in this case it is feared that the offer may lead to an attempt to kidnap the Mexicans and bring them into Texas, which would violate the extradition treaty between Mexico and the United States and give the Mexican Government a basis for a demand for the punishment of the kidnappers, causing all sorts of legal entanglements.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, March 24.—Gen. Guajardo, commander of the Federal garrison at Piedras Negras, to-day returned one of the horses stolen from Clemente Vergara to Adjt. Gen. Hutchings of Texas, and promised that ten other horses would be delivered later.

Fletcher Is Back in Vera Cruz.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VERA CRUZ, March 24.—Rear Admiral Fletcher and his family returned to-day from a few days' recreation in Mexico City. The Admiral expressed himself as surprised and pleased with the progressive spirit of the capital. Immediately on his arrival he went with his family aboard the Mayflower.

MARKS IS OPTIMISTIC.

Tells West Siders at Dinner About Manhattan Real Estate.

The fortieth anniversary dinner of the West Side Taxpayers' Association was held last night in the Lexington Opera House, at 145 East Fifty-eighth Street. It was attended by about 500 members, including many business and professional men from the west side and many women. Dr. George Wenner, President of the association and toastmaster, introduced Marcus M. Marks, President of the borough, who predicted better values for real estate here, and said that a man could not do better than to invest his money in the Island of Manhattan. He advocated one board of inspection for all city departments.

Other speakers were Allan Robinson, President of the Allied Real Estate Interests, who spoke encouragingly on "The Future of Real Estate in New York City"; Dr. Gustave Scholer, and Frank Dermuth, both ex-Presidents of the association.

VASSAR TO AID WELLESLEY.

Students' Association Pledges $1,000 to Repair Fire Losses.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, March 24.—One thousand dollars will be raised by the Vassar students and forwarded to the Wellesley College authorities as an evidence of sympathy for their sister collegians.

The action was agreed upon at a meeting of the Students' Association to-day, and the method to be pursued is that of a campus campaign like the one so successfully carried on a few weeks ago for the cause of foreign missions. At that time $1,500 was raised in three days.

The campaign will begin in a day or two.

BEACHEY BUILDING FOR SPEED PRIZES

Aviator Sails To-day to Pick a Motor for a Specially Constructed Aeroplane.

WON'T TRY OCEAN FLIGHT

Says Such Schemes Are Harmful to Flying—Race to Bermuda Being Talked Of.

Lincoln Beachey, who has recently looped-the-loop in an aeroplane 103 times at Los Angeles and San Francisco, arrived here from the Coast last night on his way to Europe. He will sail to-day on the Carmania, and will spend six weeks abroad visiting aeronautical expositions and motor factories.

When he returns to this country in May Mr. Beachey hopes to bring with him an aeroplane motor with which it will be possible to capture all American speed records and to enter the James Gordon Bennett race next September with some chance of winning it.

At present his intention is to purchase a Gnome motor, but he said last night that this plan would be subject to revision if he should find the Austro Daimler or the Anzini motors doing better than the Gnome, which at present is used on aeroplanes holding all of the world's speed records.

In San Francisco, Beachey has built his own aeroplane, following a design worked out during his exhibition flights. He hopes to equip this aeroplane with a motor so good that no entrant in the race can possibly be equipped with a better one. Then he will depend upon the design of his aeroplane to give him an advantage over the European machines.

"It is time that we stopped this talk about interest in aviation being dead in America," said Beachey. "For the benefit of the disheartened airmen I will state that I flew in San Francisco at the Panama-Pacific Exposition grounds before 20,000 persons. I am sure there were 20,000, for I took the cashier's count at the gate and was paid on the basis of that attendance. Those people turned out on a raw, slushy day.

"Am I going to enter the trans-Atlantic race? No, I do not know enough about flying to undertake anything like that. I am really sorry to see schemes flaunted before the public that are on their face absurd and impossible. The reaction will be inevitable. I know that I don't know near enough to tackle the Atlantic. Why, I even lost my way hunting for Boston Light. I would urge upon all promoters of over-sea flying that they give the entering airmen a tryout in round trips between New York and Albany of sufficient number to cover any possible over-sea event. Let the trans-Atlantic machine, for instance, grill its way up the Hudson to Albany and back six times without alighting. Then you will begin to know what may be done about the ocean flight. And the tryout will have the advantage that when the aeroplane falls all the airman will get will be a ducking and a chance for a short swim to shore."

Mr. Beachey said that he would be prepared to loop-the-loop at some field near New York City upon his return to this country, and that he would give a rather extended flying exhibition here before returning to the Pacific Coast.

While Beachey is arranging his programme of loop-the-loop flights here, it is probable that plans will be completed for still another big aviation event for the coming season. This event will be an aeroplane race from New York to Bermuda, a distance of 700 miles. Robert H. Sexton sailed yesterday for Bermuda aboard the steamship Caribbean after a conference with President Alan R. Hawley of the Aero Club of America. Mr. Sexton is said to have been assured that $25,000 could be obtained for prize money for a New York-Bermuda flight. Part of the money, it was said, would be raised in Bermuda and part in New York. President Hawley assured Mr. Sexton that the race would be sanctioned, provided all aeroplanes entering were required to carry wireless outfits with a sending range of sixty miles and to provide themselves with boat bodies capable of keeping the aviator afloat for several hours if he should be forced to come down at sea.

PALISADE BOARD SPLIT?

Glynn and Fielder Name Different Men for the Same Job.

The Palisade Interstate Park Commission may be split as a result of the disagreement between the Governors of the States of New York and New Jersey. The trouble has arisen over the reappointment of Franklin W. Hopkins as Commissioner. Gov. Fielder sent to the Senate yesterday the name of Mornay Williams as the successor to Mr. Hopkins. Gov. Glynn has reappointed Mr. Hopkins. It has been the custom to reappoint each commissioner as his term expired, and this is the first difficulty of the kind that the commission has encountered.

"From the present outlook," said one of the commissioners yesterday, "the Interstate Park Commission, instead of acting in harmony as one commission, will be split, each State having its own commission. The commssion has charge of all the land given to the two States by Mrs. E. H. Harriman, John D. Rockefeller and the late J. P. Morgan."

J. K. Sague Chosen for Appraiser.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—President Wilson has approved the recommendation of Secretary McAdoo and Senator O'Gorman that John K. Sague, former Mayor of Poughkeepsie, be appointed Appraiser for the Port of New York. Mr. Sague's nomination for the office probably will be sent to the Senate to-morrow.

WOMAN JUMPS FROM TRAIN.

Baby's Photograph Is Clue to Identity of New Brunswick Suicide.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 24.—A woman about 25 years old committed suicide at 6:45 o'clock last night by jumping from a Pennsylvania Railroad express train at a point 100 feet east of the railroad station here.

Coroner Harding took charge of the body, but it was not until this afternoon that the first clue to the identity of the suicide was discovered—the photograph of a baby, taken at the International Art Studio, 145 Manhattan Avenue, Brooklyn. The photograph was inclosed in a photographer's envelope and was concealed in the suicide's clothing. It is the belief of the Coroner that the woman had prepared carefully for her railroad journey, as her clothing apparently was new.

The woman had a handbag which also was nearly new. Its blue lining was spotless and unfrayed. There was a little purse inside the handbag, but it contained nothing. Besides the purse the handbag contained a coin carrier, but it, too, was empty.

The police in their efforts to ascertain the identity of the suicide made a careful examination of the woman's effects. The suicide, they say, has dark hair and blue-gray eyes. Her hands are described as delicate. She wore a brown coat of good material, a heavy maroon sweater, and a white muslin waist, with red dots. There was no mark on this waist. Her shoes had been resoled. They are size 3E, maker's number, 9,236, Getty & Scott were the makers. The suicide wore gray worsted gloves, and these showed signs of wear.

OPPOSE 5-CENT PHONE BILL.

Spokesmen of Hotels and Apartment Houses Side with Company.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 24.—The Goldberg bill providing for a five-cent telephone rate in New York City was strongly Charles J. Campbell, representing hotel and apartment house owners and the New York Telephone Company.

Charles J. Campbell, representing the Hotel Association of New York, said that if enacted the law would compel hotel managers to charge 3 cents for a telephone call, while the manager would be compelled to pay 10 cents. The bill, he said, did not take into consideration the charges of the company for equipment, such as trunk lines, switch boards, and extension lines. The company, Mr. Campell said, could raise the price on equipment while it was forced to charge less for telephone calls.

Representing the Merchants' Association, F. B. De Berard objected to the uniform rate. He said that there should be a graduated rate, as all calls did not involve the same amount of work. He believed the question of rates should be left to the judgment of the Public Service Commission.

KILLS 5-CENT FARE BILL.

Assembly Passes Phelan's Interchange Transfer Measure.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 24.—The Assembly to-night killed the Lane bill providing for a five-cent fare on all steam and electric railroads between stations in New York City. A similar fate was met in the same House by Mr. Lane's bill providing for the erection of a railway station in the Bronx at which all fast trains should be compelled to stop. A. H. Smith, President of the New York Central Railroad Company, and Ralph Peters, President of the Long Island, recently sent telegrams to Acting Lieut. Gov. Wagner and Speaker Sweet urging the defeat of these measures.

Mr. Phelan's bill requiring an interchange of transfers between subway, surface and elevated railroads in New York was passed by the Assembly to-night.

BLAUVELT TAX BILL FAILS.

It Would Have Extended Provisions of the Secured Debts Law.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 24.—The Senate to-night again defeated Senator Blauvelt's bill which aimed to extend the secured debt tax to other securities than those now affected. The measure contemplated the exemption from taxation of mortgages on property partly in the State and partly out of the State and on bonds secured by such mortgages on which the mortgage tax had been paid without apportionment to Jan. 1, 1914.

WINS AT SESSION'S END.

New York Progressive Entitled to Democrat's Seat, Committee Finds.

ALBANY, March 24.—With only three days of the session remaining, the Assembly Committee on Privileges and Elections to-night decided that Abraham Greenberg, Democratic Representative from the Twenty-sixth New York District, is not entitled to his seat in the Assembly, but that Joseph Steinberg, Progressive, was elected to the place by two votes.

Both men will receive the full salary for the legislative year.

March Jester Lost in Transit.

Five thousand copies of the March Jester, Columbia University's humorous publication, have gone astray in the express, it was discovered yesterday. The entire issue was shipped from the printer last week, but nothing has since been heard of it. Tracers have been scurrying about everywhere, but up to a late hour last night nothing had been heard from the truant issue.

Fanny Crosby Feels Young at 94.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 24.—Fanny Crosby, the blind writer, to-day celebrated her ninety-fourth birthday. To visitors she said that her health was excellent, and she felt as young "as when 24." From all over the country came scores of congratulations and gifts were received at the Crosby home.

TO HEAR RAILROADS AGAIN ON RATES

Commission Grants Application for Hearings on Financial Condition of Carriers.

MAY NOT MEAN MORE DELAY

While Hearings May Extend Into April, Final Decision Still Is Expected by July 1.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Further delay on the part of the Interstate Commerce Commission in handing down its decision on the application of fifty-seven Eastern railroads for permission to make a horizontal 5 per cent. increase in their freight rates is not expected as a result of the action of the commission to-day in granting a request of the railroads involved that an opportunity be given to them to present additional testimony about financial conditions.

Although a statement issued by the commission to-day indicates that the hearings on the rate case may not be concluded until near the close of April, there is every expectation that the commission's belief in its ability to render the final decision by July 1 has not been changed.

The statement issued by the commission was in the form of an order fixing dates for hearing the additional testimony which the railroads are anxious to present. This is the order:

The carriers have expressed their desire to present at an early date additional testimony touching their financial requirements and also to have an opportunity to offer evidence in rebuttal of the testimony recently introduced in opposition to the proposed increase in rates. Having no other dates available in the near future the commission has thought it wise to postpone until further notice the argument on the spotting question now assigned for March 30 and 31, and to devote those dates to the hearing of such further evidence. If the carriers are not able to complete this additional testimony at the close of March 31, the hearing will be continued on April 20, 21, and 22, those being the earliest available additional dates.

As none of the Commissioners was able to be present when the testimony was given on this subject by the representative of the railroad commissions of the States of Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Missouri, he has been requested to appear again on Monday, March 30, to restate in substance the testimony already given by them.

Those in intimate touch with the procedure of the commission regard it as likely that the case cannot be argued until some time in May. After the hearing of testimony shall have been concluded, a reasonable time—ordinarily it is fifteen or twenty days—will be given for the submission of briefs by counsel for the roads. These will be followed by briefs by counsel for the opposition. After the briefs have been submitted, a time, extending, perhaps, over several days, will be taken up in oral arguments. In the usual course of events, this procedure would consume the time until nearly the first of June. How long after that it might take the commission to determine the issues involved and to prepare a formal decision is a matter of pure conjecture.

It was recalled to-day that Chairman Harlan announced from the bench a few weeks ago that the rate case was being expedited in every way and that is was the expectation that a final decision might be reached "before the Summer recess of the commission."

So Pronounced by Secretary Bryan After Reading Full Text.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Secretary Bryan will go before the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate to-morrow to discuss departmental affairs. It has happened heretofore when the Secretary of State has appeared before either the Senate or House Committee having jurisdiction over appropriations for his department that he has found a discussion of matters of foreign policy unavoidable. It is expected that a similar experience will attend his visit to the Senate to-morrow.

Among the things that Mr. Bryan will dispose of to-morrow will be the speech of Ambassador Page, which has been made the subject of sensational criticism, as likely to complicate our relations with Great Britain. The copy of the speech was received at the State Department to-day by mail and the text will be forwarded to the Senate to-morrow. Secretary Bryan said he had found the expressions of Ambassador Page in the complete speech, as he had thought, entirely harmless and innocent of any recalcitrant feeling toward Great Britain on account of the British contention as to the canal tolls.

Robert Lansing, newly-appointed counsellor of the State Department, will act as Secretary of State whenever Secretary Bryan is absent, unless the President designates some other officer of the department to act in that capacity. With the assumption of the office of counsellor by John Bassett Moore, President Wilson designated him to act as Secretary of State.

LANSING CHARGE REFUTED.

He Was Not Paid for Services in Fixing Boxer Indemnity.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—While the nomination of Robert Lansing to be Counselor of the State Department is pending before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, an effort is being made to discredit him before the committee with the charge that he and his father-in-law, John W. Foster, former Secretary of State, succeeded in getting a very large fee for themselves out of the Chinese Boxer indemnity. The Boxer indemnity was the subject of diplomatic negotiations in September, 1901, after the uprising in which scores of Americans lost their lives and a large amount of property belonging to Americans was destroyed.

Al lthe powers joined in sending large military expeditions for the relief of the beleaguered diplomats and missionaries in Peking. The amount of indemnity to be paid to the United States, as originally fixed, was $23,440,000, and with interest it would have reached the sum of $40,000,000. The actual amount paid by China was $11,655,000 up to the time in 1907 when Congress, on the recommendation of President Roosevelt, authorized the remission of all in excess of this amount.

Gen. Foster and Mr. Lansing had nothing to do with the negotiations of the Boxer indemnity. The extent of their activities which in any manner could be connected with the indemnity was that as attorneys for the heirs of the late Gen. Frederick T. Ward of Massachusetts, they collected a claim for services and moneys with interest amounting to $368,000 out of that part of the Boxer indemnity that was paid to this Government.

Gen. Ward organized the "Ever-Victorious Army" in China, which put down the Tai-Ping rebellion in 1860-3. This army was officered entirely by foreigners, mainly from the United States and England. After the death of Gen. Ward he was succeeded in command by "Chinese" Gordon, the hero of Khartum.

The Ward claim was not legitimately embraced in the negotiations growing out of the Boxer troubles. It had, however, hung fire for many years, and this Government took the ground that it was just. Its proportions were large, mainly because it had been denied for nearly half a century. It was finally paid out of the Boxer funds with the consent of the Chinese Government. China, it was said, could hardly refuse its consent after the generous treatment received at the hands of the United States.

TO BLOW UP THE MONROE.

Cutter Onondaga Ordered to Make Wreck Safe for Navigators.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The revenue cutter Onondaga was ordered out to-day to blow up such portions of the sunken Old Dominion liner Monroe as might be a menace to navigation.

The steamer's hull will not be disturbed, and her cargo may still be saved.

NO CAUSE FOR ARRESTS.

Detective Flynn Imagined Two Business Men Were Pickpockets.

Two business men who were able to convince Magistrate Simms in the West Side Police Court that they had never seen each other before, were arrested yesterday on a charge that they had been operating together as pickpockets. Then they spent three hours in cells in the West Sixty-eighth Street Police Station and were lined up before masked detectives.

The two men were arrested in the Seventy-second Street subway station by Detective William J. Flynn of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station. They described themselves to the detective as Jacob Broman of 1,170 West Farms Road, The Bronx, who has been for twenty-five years general manager of the leather store of E. W. Wolf at 106 Beaver Street, and Morris Davidowitz of 27 East 114th Street, for twenty years assistant manager of a clothing store at Twentieth Street and Broadway. The names and business addresses were regarded by Detective Flynn as fictitious. He insisted that he had seen one of the men before, and knew him to have a police record, and that he was sure the other man had acted as an accomplice in jostling crowds on the Subway platform and in an express train on which they rode from The Bronx to the Subway station.

"Why did you act so funny and draw your overcoat close around you when you saw I had my eye on you?" Flynn asked Davidowitz, when he had convinced himself that he had made a mistake.

"Well, you see, I thought it was you who was the pickpocket," Davidowitz explained.

R. W. TULLY SEEKS DIVORCE

Playwright Sues Eleanor Gates on Ground of Desertion.

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—Richard Walton Tully, playwright, instituted suit in the Superior Court here to-day for a divorce from Eleanor Gates Tully, the author. The charge is desertion.

Mrs. Tully, who is known as Eleanor Gates, the author of the plays, "The Poor Little Rich Girl" and "We Are Seven," is now living at 116 West Fifty-ninth Street. She had not heard of the divorce suit against her until told by a TIMES reporter, but she did not seem surprised and admitted she had not lived with Mr. Tully for two years.

"I left him for good and sufficient reasons," she said, "but wish to make no charges against him. I suppose, he is suing me because he wants to be free, and I can't see any reason why he shouldn't be. If by charging me with desertion he means only that I have left him, I can't deny the charge."

Mrs. Tully was born in Shakopee, Minn., Sept. 26, 1875. She married Mr. Tully in 1901, the year both of them were graduated from the University of California. She began her literary career in newspaper work in San Francisco, and later wrote magazine stories, novels and plays.

Mr. Tully has written several well-known plays, among them being "The Bird of Paradise," produced at Maxine Elliott's Theatre in 1912. Mrs. Grace A. Fendler sued him, alleging that it had been cribbed in part from her "In Hawaii." Mr. Tully contended he had written his play before Mrs. Fendler had written hers.

Reports of differences between Mr. and Mrs. Tully were circulated in 1912 and in 1913.

WILL SEARCH FOR KARLUK.

Former Skipper of Stefansson's Ship Sails for the Arctic.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The steam whaler Herman left San Francisco to-day for the Far North, and will search for the Stefansson exploring ship, the Karluk, which, with the greater part of her crew, has been missing for several months.

Capt. C. T. Pedersen, master of the Herman, believes he will find the Karluk somewhere between Point Barrow and Herschall Island, locked among icebergs. By the time the whaler reaches the arctic it is expected the ice will be sufficiently broken up to permit the ship to search the wastes.

The Herman is carrying a stock of provisions and fuel that will enable her to remain in the north, if necessary, until the season close again.

OTTAWA, March 24.—George L. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of Naval Affairs, said to-day that the Canadian Government had nothing to do with the sailing of the steam whaler Herman in search of the missing exploration ship Karluk. Capt. Pedersen was master of the Karluk before the vessel was purchased for the Stefansson expedition.

Mr. Desbarats gave it as his opinion that Capt. Pedersen was simply going north to resume his trading work in the arctic.

TO AID WIDOWED MOTHERS.

Plan to Arouse Sentiment in Support of Pending Bill.

A mass meeting under the auspices of the New York State Commission on Relief for Widowed Mothers was held last night at Cooper Union to arouse sentiment in favor of the bill now before the Committee on Judiciary in the State Senate, which would give aid to widowed mothers with dependent children through special boards of child welfare. Sophie Irene Loeb, who had been at Albany during the day, arrived late at the meeting. She brought the message that there must be speedy action if it was hoped to accomplish anything. She urged every one in the audience to communicate with the representative of his district, either by letter or telegram.

Mrs. Fannie Horowitz, a lawyer, made a strong plea for the bill. Under present conditions to obtain aid, she said, needy persons who appeared before the officials of charity organizations had to "go through a third degree" and also make their cases worse than they actually were.

Miss Loeb said that New York State placed 34,000 children in institutions, more than any other State or country. It was a shame, she said, that it was now impossible to take the money which was spent in breaking up homes by paying institutions to care for dependent children and give it to the mothers so that they could keep their children and preserve the homes.

REMOVES PROF. PECK'S BODY

First Wife Gets Permission of Second to Arrange Funeral.

STAMFORD, Conn., March 24.—The body of Prof. Harry Thurston Peck, who committed suicide by shooting here yesterday, was removed to-day to the home of his first wife, Mrs. Cornelia Dawbarn Peck, at Sound Beach, with the consent of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Peck, his second wife, who sent word from St. George, S. I., that any arrangements for the funeral which the former wife might make would be satisfactory.

Mrs. Cornelia Peck has found manuscripts which Dr. Peck prepared for publication. In one of these, on "Platonic Friendship," the question is raised whether a man and woman associated in their work day after day and year after year can maintain a friendship wholly free from sex consciousness.

MOOSE SEE VICTORY IN STANDING ALONE

Declare Day of the So-Called Progressive-Republican Alliance Is Ended.

THE CONVENTION IN MAINE

Declares for Prohibition—Connecticut Committee Assails Action Against New Haven Road.

BANGOR, Me., March 24.—A strong stand for prohibition was taken to-day by Maine Progressives at their first State Convention held here for the purpose of nominating candidates. Their platform advocated the submission of the question of national prohibition to the people of every State in the Union and pledged the party to a strict State-wide enforcement of the prohibitory liquor law.

Helbert P. Gardner of Patten, member of the Progressive National Committee, was unanimously nominated for Governor and Morton T. Goodrich of Bingham for State Auditor. These are the only two elective State officers. Their names will appear on the ballots by petition at the September election as the party is not entitled this year to participate with the Republicans and the Democrats in the June primaries.

The platform, which was drawn up after an open debate on each plank last night, declared for "an intelligent protective tariff constructed on sound economic lines, laid out by a non-partisan scientific tariff commission; a protective tariff which shall fairly measure the difference in the pay envelope at home and abroad." The Underwood tariff law was condemned as "unjust, unfair and sectional, and especially as discriminating against the interests of agriculture." The Payne-Aldrich tariff law was also condemned as not fulfilling the pledges of the Republican Party.

Declarations were made in favor of the initiative and referendum, woman suffrage, a 54-hour law for women and children, workmen's compensation, the recall of all elective executive officials in State and counties, conservation and development of resources, the extension of good roads, "a co-operative agricultural banking system providing for a more satisfactory method of extending credits to Maine farmers, and a simplification of legal procedure.

United States Senator Moses E. Clapp, who addressed the convention, pictured two great national parties in the future, one conservative and the other liberal. There was, he said, no fundamental line of demarcation between the Republican and Democratic parties at present, and pending the inevitable new alignments he urged the delegates to stand firm for Progressive principles.

"The Democratic Party," he said, "can no more outgrow the barnacles that have fastened upon it than could the Republican Party. Much as its executive leadership is admired, the Democratic Party is split in twain by a line that runs through it, separating those who believe in progressive policies, reflecting government by the many, from those who stand for reactionary policies, reflecting government by the few."

At the conclusion of the State Convention, E. M. Thompson of Augusta and Dr. E. D. Merrill of Foxcroft were nominated for Congress in the Third and Fourth Districts, respectively.

SEES BRIGHT MOOSE FUTURE.

Progressive Ideas Again Sweeping the Nation, Says O. K. Davis.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Oscar King Davis, secretary of the Progressive National Committee, arrived in Chicago to-day following a "tour of inspection" of six States to ascertain how the Moose Party was progressing. Mr. Davis gave it as his opinion that Progressive ideas again were sweeping the nation, following the inactivity in the immediate wake of the 1912 campaign, as shown by exhaustive reports received from Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, West Virginia, Minnesota and Wisconsin. He declared reports from Iowa indicated that the revolt against Senator Cummins meant the election of a Progressive Senator.

"Everywhere there is recognition of the fact that the day of the so-called Progressive-Republican alliance is ended," said Mr. Davis. "Everywhere the sentiment of the people is Progressive, and more and more it is turning to the Progressive Party as a party organization. The straight-out amalgamation, to which the Republicans have been devoting so much time and energy for the last two years, has failed utterly."

Mr. Davis said the situation in Wisconsin was very encouraging to the Progressives, and that "despite the venomous opposition of Senator La Follette, sentiment is steadily growing in that State for the straight-out Progressive Party. Every indication is that this will be Mr. La Follette's last fight in Wisconsin and that he will lose it."

PROGRESSIVES GO IT ALONE.

Party in Connecticut Against Any Alliance with Republicans.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 24.—The State Central Committee of the Progressive Party met here to-day, placed itself on record as being firmly opposed to any coalition with the Republican Party, decided to put a full ticket in the field at the next State election, and criticised the Democratic national Administration, especially in regard to its policy of regulation of trusts and corporations.

A set of resolutions declares the Administration's remedy for the corporate business of this country is to regulate it by destroying it. The resolutions say:

"The most striking example of this is here at home in the absurd handling of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad situation, where two men, the Attorney General of the United States and the President of the railway, are determining in secret conferences the transportation conditions for the 7,000,000 people of New England."

Of the Republicans, the resolutions say: "They cannot win without the Progressives, and they know it, and they cannot long survive without winning."

The committee voted to hold a State convention at Hartford, June 4.

SOUTH DAKOTA PRIMARY.

Congressman Burke Nominated by Republicans for Senator.

PIERRE, S. D., March 24.—Congressman Charles H. Burke, candidate of the minority Republican faction, was nominated for United States Senator over Senator Coe I. Crawford, the majority faction candidate, according to incomplete returns from to-day's State-wide primary election.

In the three-cornered fight for Governor, Gov. Byrne, majority candidate, was opposed by R. O. Richards and H. B. Anderson.

The following Democratic candidates, approved by the party conference, were unopposed for nomination:

For United States Senator, E. S. Johnson, Yankton.

For Congress, First District, Theodore Bailey, Sioux Falls; Second District, J. M. King, St. Lawrence; Third District, H. L. Gandy, Waseca.

For Governor, J. W. McCarter, Bowdle.

Kills Himself in Akron Hotel.

AKRON, Ohio, March 24.—A bellboy in a local hotel went to a room occupied by E. C. Opelyke of Somerville, N. J., to-night to awaken him. He found Opelyke dead with a bullet in his brain and a revolver at his side. In his pocket was a letter to his wife stating that he intended to kill himself and asking her to forgive him. No reason for the suicide is known.

FOUND ELECTRIC GHOST.

Western Visitors at Waldorf Got Many Shocks in Their Room.

A man and his wife from Lincoln, Neb., registered at the Waldorf the other night and discovered the first electrical ghost that has been in the big hotel since its establishment. At least, the visitors thought it was something of that kind, and they actually refused, on that account, to sleep in the room that had been given them.

They arrived just before dinner, and had hardly been shown upstairs when the husband called downstairs over the telephone.

"Say, what's wrong with this room?" he demanded. "We've done nothing but get shocked since we got in it."

He explained that when he had attempted to shut the door he had touched the bronze door knob and got a shock. Then as he took up the telephone receiver, he had touched the transmitter, and got a second shock. His wife had touched the brass bedstead and had got shocked.

"Send somebody up here to let us out," he commanded. "We are afraid to touch anything."

An electrician was sent upstairs in a hurry. He explored the room to see if any wires were leaking. In the course of his investigations he turned on the water in the bathtub, and got a shock from the spigot. But at the end he reported that nothing was wrong with the wires in the room, and the visitors from Mr. Bryan's town seemed satisfied and ate their dinner and went to the theatre.

It was late when they returned. They had hardly entered their room when they began getting shocked again, and both rushed downstairs to the office. The room clerk went up with them, but couldn't find the source of the shocks, and as they refused to remain in the room he had to give them another.

Yesterday morning, after the chief electrician had puzzled over the problem and asked a few questions, he decided the source of the electricity was the new carpet that had been put on the floor the day the room was let to the Nebraska couple. The chambermaid, as she does in the case of all new carpets, had given it an unusually hard treatment with the carpet sweeper, with the result that, according to the electrician, it had stored up a lot of frictional electricity. The visitors had probably not lifted their feet in walking about, with the result that they had partly charged themselves, and when their hands touched the first piece of metal, a circuit had been established. That is the only theory offered so far to account for the cause of the fright of the visitors from Lincoln.

MOLLER SUES WIFE TO RECOVER BONDS

Says She Took Advantage of His Illness to Wed Him for His Property.

DEEDED TWO HOUSES TO HER

Bought One of Them Back for $75,000 and Now Wants the Other and Securities Given to Her.

Charles G. Moller of 74 Wall Street, son of Peter Moller, who used to be called the "Sugar King of America," began his long-deferred suit in Justice Cohalan's part of the Supreme Court yesterday to recover $110,000 worth of bonds and the title to the house and land at 2,211 Madison Avenue, which are now in the possession of his wife, Mrs. Jane Sommer-Moller, and which he says were obtained from him through fraud. He charges that Mrs. Moller posed as a single woman before her secret marriage to him in 1910, when in reality she was at that time the wife of Symbert Sommer.

Mrs. Moller denies this charge. She is Mr. Moller's second wife. His first wife died in February, 1909. Mr. Moller says that he knew the second Mrs. Moller before his first wife died, because she and Mr. Sommer, whom Mr. Moller says posed as her husband, leased from him the house at 2,112 Madison Avenue.

"Jane Sommer," said Mr. Moller, "used to come to my office, paying her rent sometimes in the name of Symbert Sommer and sometimes as Mrs. Symbert Sommer. In 1909, after the death of my wife, her visits were more frequent. She would have long conversations with me in which she pretended to sympathize with me in my trouble, brought on by the death of my wife, and expressed her pity.

"In November, 1909, she told me that she was not married to Sommer. Then she got to coming to my office two or three times a week, and at other times she met me by appointment and took luncheon with me. Finally she came and took up her residence in my house.

"From that time she did not leave me until September, 1911. During this time she constantly expressed her affection and solicitude for me and urged that as we were both alone in the world that she would look after me and it was only proper that I should make financial arrangement for her.

"On Aug. 26, 1910, it was suggested that we get married. I do not recall who made the suggestion, as the state of my mind was such that I did not fully understand what I was doing. We went to the City Hall, got a license, and the marriage was performed. At that time I had no knowledge of the State of Missouri laws regarding common law marriages and believed she was at liberty to marry me.

"We took a two months' trip abroad, and upon our return I found myself in a terrible condition. It was thought that I was going to die. Jane Sommer kept urging me to make provision for her, and, finally, for the sake of peace and quiet, I told her to telephone for my lawyer.

"She had induced me to promise to deed to her the houses at 290 and 2,211 Madison Avenue. When the lawyer came I signed several papers which I thought were deeds without reading them. Later she said that the two Madison Avenue houses wouldn't give her a sufficient income and asked me to give her some of the bonds and mortgages she knew I possessed.

"As a result of her constant urging I took a number of bonds from my safe deposit box and handed them to her. After more urging I agreed to buy back from her the premises at 290 Madison Avenue for $75,000 and paid her in bonds and mortgages."

At the time Mr. Moller made the above statments Dr. J. J. McPhee filed an affidavit saying that he believed Moller was incompetent at the time he made the assignments of real estate and gave the securities to Jane Sommer.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Moller were in court yesterday. He is 68 years old and she is 51. Mr. Moller asks that the court declare his marriage null and void, and that Mrs. Moller be restrained from disposing of the bonds and mortgages she received. The couple have not lived together since April, 1912.

Mrs. Moller, in disputing Mr. Moller's claim to the property, says that she has never been the wife of Symbert Sommer, but admits that they lived together in St. Louis. She says the property in question was deeded to her in lieu of dower rights in Mr. Moller's large estate, and that she was entitled to the property as a true wife.

WINS SIX-CORNERED FIGHT.

J. A. Gallivan Named for Congress by Boston Democrats.

BOSTON, March 24.—James A. Gallivan, former Street Commissioner, won the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Twelfth District Primaries to-day in a six-cornered contest. He will be opposed by James B. Connolly, Progressive, and by Frank L. Brier, Republican, who were unopposed in their parties.

The election will be held on April 7 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of James M. Curley after his election as Mayor.

STRIKERS ROUTED AT BAYONET POINT

Martial Law, Enforced by Regiment of Militia, Quells Riots at Depew.

EVICTION TO BEGIN TO-DAY

Trouble Feared When Workers' Families Are Put Out—Rumor Arms Are Being Shipped In.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, March 24.—The village of Depew, twelve miles from this city, where 2,800 men are involved in a strike at the Gould coupler plant, was placed under martial law to-night. The order was issued by Col. Charles J. Wolf, commanding the Seventy-fourth Regiment, which was sent to the troubled village to-day. This action was taken after a long conference of the military authorities.

To-night militiamen with lifted bayonets drove the crowds from the streets and the saloons. Seventeen saloons in the vicinity of the plant were closed, and the closing order will be extended throughout the village to-morrow. Much of the trouble has developed in the saloons, the officials say.

Rumors that an organization is shipping arms and ammunition to the foreign strikers, most of whom are laborers, led to the order to patrol the streets. Although there were no outbreaks after the soldiers arrived to-day, there was a current of unrest in the village that caused the authorities very grave anxiety.

That Col. Wolf is preparing for a long stay is indicated by the arrangements being made to establish a permanent mess for the regiment. The Third Battalion was sent to Depew to-night, and orders have been issued to the officers of the Sixty-fifth Regiment to make all arrangements to mobilize that regiment on short notice should the extra troops be needed.

G. W. Hayden, general manager of the Gould Company, returned to-night from New York and announced that so far as the company is concerned the strike is ended. He said that the company had been willing to take the men back as individuals, but when the rioting started that offer had been withdrawn. None of the men now on strike could work with the company again, he declared.

About 1,200 soldiers are now quartered in Depew. To-morrow the Gould Company will make an effort to evict the families of the strikers from the houses owned by the company. This, the authorities fear, will result in trouble, for many of these men are armed and resistance is feared.

There was some shooting in the outskirts of the village to-night, but sentries reported that they could find no signs of trouble. It is thought that the shots were fired at the soldiers from a distance.

There are 1,200 strike-breakers now at work in the plant. The strikers held meetings all day, but announced no plans to-night.

The suspension of twenty-six motormen and conductors who refused to man the cars of the International Railway on which troops were to be carried part of the way to Depew resulted to-day in several hours' of strained relations between the company and its employes. The matter was settled after a three hours' conference between a grievance committee and E. C. Connette, President of the International Railway.

Mr. Connette held that the men had violated their agreement made following the strike of a year ago, and he was so well satisfied that they were in the wrong that he agreed to reinstate the men and to leave the controversy to the national officers of their union for final settlement.

BEAR ON FIFTH AVENUE.

Tame, and Only Another Animal Exhibit for Suffragists' Fete.

A big Polar bear tumbling out of the Woman Suffrage Party headquarters at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon drew a large crowd. It was a tame bear, which walked gracefully on its hind legs and made amiable gestures to the crowd with a votes-for-women banner held in its teeth and a tin cup for pennies in its paw. The bear was led by a pretty young Russian girl into an automobile which whirled up Fifth Avenue.

The bear will be one of the features of the Russian booth of the Cosmopolitan fête of the party which opens this afternoon at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. He has been christened Nicholas Grabbyrhedoffsky and with Miss Martha Klatschken's assistance yesterday he handed out slips with the words "Bear in Mind" in large black letters and circulars describing the fête. There will be dancing each evening. Admission is 25 cents.

BOY HELPS BURGLARS ROB JEWELRY STORE

Youngster of 13 Years Trips a Policeman in Pursuit of Fugitives.

TWO THIEVES GET AWAY

Jewelry Unaccounted For Is Found in Possession of Man Arrested at Pistol's Point.

Patrolman Kenny of the Oak Street Station, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning, observed a man and boy loitering in front of the jewelry store of Albert Sabatelli, at 18 Monroe Street. As he waited in the shadow of a nearby tenement he saw two men emerge from the store, join the man and the boy, and then the whole party started down the street. Kenny decided to follow them until he came within call of a policeman on fixed post, but as they reached a point near 101 Madison Street the party took alarm. Two of the men ran up the street; the other man and the boy slipped into a hallway.

Kenny whistled for help, let the runners go, and turned into the hallway. The boy thrust out a foot and tripped him in order to cover the man's retreat, but Kenny sprang to his feet, seized the boy by the collar, and started up the stairs after the fugitive, dragging the boy with him. At the second landing the man turned and struck at Kenny with a jimmy. The policeman dodged the blow and jammed his revolver against the fugitive's body. After that there was no more trouble, and Kenny took his two prisoners to the Oak Street Station.

Policemen who had answered his whistle call chased the other two men, but without success. At the station the boy said he was Michael Longo, 13 years old, of 62 Henry Street. The Children's Court took him in charge.

The man said he was George Simon, 26 years old, of 126 Chrystie Stret, but when his finger prints were taken and the police had a chance to observe him carefully they said he was Michael Tiplitzky, recently released on suspended sentence for burglary by Judge Rosalsky. He had on his person about $1,000 worth of jewelry.

After the capture of the prisoners the police went back to Sabatelli's store. They found that the door had been forced open with a jimmy, and that the old safe had been broken open with a can opener and jewelry worth about $150 had been taken.

Detectives are trying to find where Tiplitzky got the large amount of jewelry in his possession, much more than was stolen from Sabatelli's store. The thieves left their outfit of tools in the store.

Tiplitzky was arraigned before Magistrate Levy, in the Tombs Police Court, charged with burglary. He denied his guilt. He was held in $3,000 bail for the Grand Jury.

RAIN BULLETS ON BOY OF 15.

Police Wound Lad at Bay Many Times Before He Gives Up.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 24.—After a battle with the police, during which more than fifty shots were exchanged, Ernest McWilliams, 15 years old, surrendered to-day.

The boy was caught in the gun shop of Edward Tetzel, and when called upon to surrender replied with a fusillade of bullets. The police armed themselves with riot guns. McWilliams, in an automobile in the rear of the store, kept up a continuous fire, and the automobile was riddled by the policemen's bullets.

After being wounded many times, McWilliams screamed that he would give himself up, and, with arms above his head, staggered out of the store. His condition was serious.

McWilliams has a police record, and when seen in the store he was suspected of being there as a burglar.

KING ATTACKED AMID APPLAUSE

now is whether the House of Commons, elected by the people, must go to a committee of officers and ask that military junta if the laws passed by them are to be put into execution.

"If the Government cannot reassure the nation to the nation's satisfaction, then let the Government summon the nation to its aid against this last, most sinister assault on free government. There is no other alternative allowed by prudence or duty."

Say Ministers Conspired.

The Daily Mail says: "When the whole truth is known there is every probability that a plot will be revealed the disclosure of which, in a famous phrase of Sir Edward Grey's, will bring the Government to 'death, disaster, and damnation,' for many things point to the existence of a conspiracy of two or more politicians to cause a premature outbreak in Ulster."

The Standard similarly says: "There can be little doubt that a serious and most wicked manoeuvre was in contemplation, and that it was frustrated only by the royal influence. Such is the position brought about by the reckless methods of the Government that it can hardly be to their satisfaction that they have in effect forced the monarch from the position of detachment which the King ordinarily occupies.

"The nation at large, when it fully grasps what happened, will undoubtedly feel gratitude to the King for taking steps in time to avert the crowning calamity of civil war."

The Standard's Parliamentary correspondent says: "It must be remembered that the King has a special constitutional right to intervene in any matter affecting the officers of either the Army or the Fleet. In both cases the officers hold commissions direct from his Majesty, and when they resign they resign direct to the King, not to the civil Ministers temporarily at the head of the services in Parliament.

"In that way the monarch has a perfect constitutional right to have a direct voice in matters affecting his officers, and there is no justification whatever for any suggestion that his intervention was not warranted or justifiable in the strictest interpretation of the situation."

Alleges "Palace Intrigue."

The Daily Citizen, a Labor organ, gives prominence to a statement that "Court influences have been at work in politics during the past months." Under the heading, "Palace Intrigue," it declares that the struggle going on is not between the army and the Government, but between Tory officers and the House of Commons.

These officers, as a rule, the paper says, are absolutely ignorant of politics, but "they hate Labor. That is shown by their alacrity to shoot trades unionists in trade disputes. They hate ordinary Liberalism just as much. Lord Morley let the cat out of the bag when he said the King had interfered.

"In a constitutional Government the King has no business to interfere. Still the blundering confession of Lord Morley was perfectly true. The King has interfered. He has been interfering all through. For months the Court has been a Conservative committee, in the activities of which titled women have been playing a leading part, headed by Lady Londonderry.

"Whoever knows the army officer, young and old, in the mass knows his susceptibility to feminine influence. To be an officer in the army is far more a social than a military distinction, as is shown by our mishandling of the South African war. It is that which has created the crisis which we have now to face."

The Demonstration in Parliament.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 25.—The hostile demonstration against the Throne in the House of Commons yesterday occurred while the Army Appropriation bill was under discussion. A Unionist, Leopold C. Amery, had moved a reduction for the purpose of criticising the Government, on the ground that it was not entitled to use the army for party purposes, which is the basis of the Unionist position in the present crisis in regard to Ulster.

John Ward, who was formerly a dock laborer and at one time a private in the army, seconded the motion, but from a different point of view. He said that the Conservatives, by approving the rebellion of the officers, had "started to smash the British Army." The House, he said, had to decide whether it was going to maintain the discipline of the army as a neutral force, or whether the Parliament elected by the people should "absolutely, without interference from the King or the army, make the laws of the realm."

When the speaker uttered in stentorian tones "without interference from the King or the army," giving a calculated and dramatic pause after the word "King," half the House was on its feet cheering. All the Labor members and all the Home Rule Irishmen, and not only they, but very many of the Liberal members, stood and shouted for a considerable space of time.

Parliament had not witnessed such an obviously hostile criticism of the Throne in the memory of the oldest member, nor even in the past century.

The Throne, which has been traditionally kept out of party controversies, both because of its aloofness and as a point of honor with public men and newspapers, is involved in the present discussion as it has never been before during King George's reign or that of his most diplomatic father.

The section of the Liberals who oppose what they denounce as a surrender to the military oligarchy are criticising the King with the greatest freedom. They resent his action in summoning to the palace Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who, in his speeches, advised the officers that they might properly refuse service in suppressing the Ulster irreconcilables, and criticise his Majesty for dealing personally with Field Marshal Sir John French, Chief of the General Staff, and Gen. Sir Arthur Paget, commanding the forces in Ireland, who should have been dealt with, they think, only by the Secretary of State for War, in accordance with the customary official routine.

Statement Promised To-day.

The Government has promised to throw more light to-day upon recent history by giving to Parliament all the written communications with Gen. Paget and the officers who refused service, but how far the negotiations were carried on by written communications remains to be seen.

The Government's two spokesmen, Col. Seely, Secretary for War, in the House of Commons, and Lord Morley, in the House of Lords, were confronted yesterday by persistent demands for explicit information. They were asked exactly what assurances the Government gave the military officers, and whether they were written or verbal. Both refused to answer any questions before the papers were presented to the houses.

Col. Seely promised the House of Commons that he would to-day lay on the table all the material and written documents, which, he said, would clear up the whole mystery of the recent crisis among the officers of the army in Ireland. He gave this promise when he was asked by a member to confirm or deny the statement that a written assurance had been given to Gen. Gough that his troops would not be used to force Home Rule upon Ulster.

If these papers show that the Government surrendered to those who refused duty in Ulster, Premier Asquith's administration will face great danger from rebellion in its own ranks. The most reliable Parliamentary writers make this statement in the morning papers.

The Labor Party members, who throughout Mr. Asquith's administration have been criticised by many of the rank and file of their party for seeming to be docilely chained to his chariot wheels, are in open revolt. They harp upon the fact that Tom Mann was sentenced to prison for six months for inciting soldiers to refuse to fire upon strikers when ordered to do so, and demand to be informed as to whether there is to be one law for aristocrats with commissions and another for plebeians in the ranks when it comes to matters of conscience and obedience to orders.

James Henry Thomas, Labor Member for Derby and Organizing Secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, speaking in the House last night on the Ulster crisis, said that the notices given by 400,000 railway men would expire in November. If the doctrines pronounced by the Opposition were allowed to prevail it might be his duty in the interval to visit the industrial centres and tell the railway men to drill and organize in order to enforce their demands.

Would the Opposition members, he asked, be content to sit quietly in their seats and permit him to preach such doctrines?

The fact has been established from all obtainable evidence that Gen. Gough and the other officers of the Third Cavalry Brigade demanded and obtained written assurances, which had been drafted by a lawyer, that they would not be ordered to fight Sir Edward Carson's Ulster volunteers, and that these assurances were obtained largely through the personal intervention of the King.

Before they left London on Monday they sent telegraphic messages to their brother officers in Ireland that they had found support "from the highest quarters." On their arrival at Curragh Camp yesterday they were welcomed by a guard of honor and with cheers, and related the outcome of their summons to the War Office.

The Unionist morning papers fully admit that it was the King's influence which caused the reinstatement of Gen. Gough and the other officers. They express great indignation at the attack of the Laborites on the throne and the army, and take pains to explain that the Labor men are under a misapprehension in supposing that the officers would be so ready to fire on strikers.

Got Guarantee After a Struggle.

According to The Daily New's Dublin correspondent, Gen. Gough obtained a written guarantee only after a tenacious struggle and an extremely stormy interview, in which Field Marshal Sir John French severely criticised the action of Gough and his fellow officers as meriting the severest punishment. Then Field Marshal Lord Roberts intervened and restored a calmer atmosphere.

Determined efforts were made at first to get Gen. Gough to accept a verbal guarantee. These failing, a long document couched in intricate legal phraseology was presented. Gen. Gough objected, saying they were plain soldiers and could not understand legal terms. He then wrote: "Do we understand that we are not to be asked to bear arms against Ulster or to enforce the present Home Rule bill, and can we return and tell our officers so?"

Field Marshal French subscribed to this document: "Yes. This is so," and signed his name.

Copies were then made in legal form for Gen. Gough and the other officers.

The same correspondent asserts that heavy siege guns were ordered to Ulster, but the orders were suddenly countermanded and "the lamentable attempt to dragoon Ulster collapsed completely."

The Times believes that the debate in the House of Commons to-day on the official documents will decide the fate of the Secretary of War.

The Times says that evidence is accumulating to confirm reports that the Government's intended coup in Ulster was on a larger scale than the public is as yet aware of and that a large fleet was ordered to support the military movement, the order being countermanded only when the Curragh officers refused to serve.

In an editorial article The Times acquits Premier Asquith and "his more responsible colleagues" of any effective share "either in the conception or the mishandling of the Ulster plot."

A Plot, Says Redmond.

"The Ulster Orange plot has now been completely revealed," said John Redmond, the leader of the Irish Nationalist Party, in a statement yesterday. He went on:

"Sir Edward Carson and his army have not and never had the slightest intention of fighting. As a fighting force against the regular troops they could not hold out for a week.

"The plan was to put up the appearance of a fight and then by society influences seduce the officers of the British Army. By this means they intended to intimidate the Government and to defeat the will of the British people. The action of the commanders of some of the crack cavalry regiments officered by aristocrats has now fully disclosed the plan of campaign.

"The issue now raised is a wider one even than Home Rule for Ireland. It is whether a democratic Government is to be browbeaten and dictated to by the drawing rooms of London and by that section of officers of the British Army who are aristocrats and violent Tory partisans.

"The cause of Irish freedom has in this fight become the cause of popular freedom and ordered liberty throughout the world. It is impossible to doubt what the result of such a fight will be.

"The second reading of the Home Rule bill will be taken next Monday, and the bill will be proceeded with until it finds its place on the statute books."

Lloyd George May Be Premier.

Messrs. Lloyd George and Churchill and their adherents are angry with Premier Asquith and the moderates in the Cabinet for yielding to the officers, and the outcome of the crisis, it is said, is not unlikely to be a new Radical Goverenment, headed by Mr. Lloyd George.

The Morning Post and other Conservative papers boldly assert that the triumvirate, Lloyd George, Churchill, and Seely, formed a deliberate plot to coerce Ulster by the employment of troops, and thus went beyond the intentions and knowledge of the Prime Minister and other members of the Cabinet.

This plot, they declare, included a plan to arrest the Ulster leaders, but the "conspiracy" failed because the plotters misunderstood the feelings of the officers. According to these stories, the Premier was compelled to yield to the officers in order to screen the blunder of the triumvirate of Ministers.

The Daily Chronicle's Parliamentary correspondent, a strong Liberal, admits that the Government is in troubled waters and that a situation has arisen which will test the mettle and skill of the Premier to the utmost. He adds that the documents which Col. Seely has promised to publish to-day, revealing the negotiations with the officers, are very bad from the Government viewpoint, and that the feeling is widespread that the War Office "dreadfully bungled the whole business."

The fact that Mr. Lloyd George was absent from Parliament yesterday gave rise to many rumors.

RIOT IN BELFAST.

Many Hurt Early This Morning—War Office Envoy Visits Carson.

BELFAST, Wednesday, March 25.—A party riot occurred in Cromac Square early this morning.

Stones and other missiles were thrown and revolver shots were fired. A large force of police dispersed the rioters.

Many persons were slightly injured and several were arrested.

Major Gen. Sir Cecil Macready, attached t othe Adjutant General's Department of the War Office, yesterday paid a visit to Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader.

The General, who had been specially sent to Ireland by Col. Seely, the Secretary of State for War, to confer with Gen. Count Gleichen, commander of the Fifteenth Infantry Brigade here, arrived at Craigavon, the home of Capt. Craig, where Sir Edward Carson is staying, in full uniform. He declared that the object of his visit was to pay his respects to the Ulster Unionist leader.

The incident is much commented on.

DUBLIN, March 24.—On arriving at the Curragh camp to-day Gen. Gough, Commander of the Third Cavalry Brigade, had a most enthusiastic reception.

Addressing the officers, he said he had a guarantee that they would not be employed to force Home Rule on the Ulsterman, but added that if they were ordered there for the protection of life and property and the preservation of order it [illegible] would undertake it.

Gen. Gough confirmed the statement that a written guarantee had been given to him.

GERMANS MUCH INTERESTED.

Newspaper Comments in Accordance with the Paper's Politics.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 24.—The liveliest interest in the Ulster situation is taken in Germany, the action of the army officers being, of course, the feature which attracts the most attention in this military Fatherland.

Refusal by officers to carry out the Government's command is inconceivable in this land of relentless discipline.

Die Post, the Conservative and War Party organ, remarks: "The soldier's trade is hard, and the man who is engaged in it dare not shrink from shooting down his own brother if he finds him in the enemy's camp."

The Post also rejoices over what it considers a fiasco of parliamentary Government, for which the German Liberals and Radicals are clamoring. It says:

"In the twentieth century we may contemplate the spectacle of the inability of another Parliament either to prevent civil war or even to enforce its expressed wishes."

The Berliner Tageblatt (Radical) says: "The English Liberals are defeated. Home Rule will not be enforced until the people of Great Britain have voted on it at a general election. The aristocracy has overcome the democracy.

"Despite all the formidable efforts in recent times to guarantee the paramountcy of the people's will, the democratic Government had forgotten that in the last analysis it had to reckon with an aristocratic army.

"The result of the new election is doubtful. It may come to pass that unrighteousness will triumph, because, as we now see, circumstances may arise even in Liberalized England where 70 Lieutenants count for more than 400 members of Parliament."

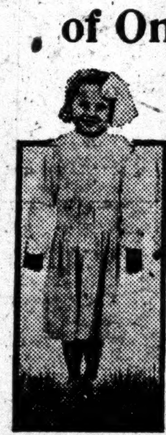
CHARITIES.

Will You Help Us Take Care of One of These Waifs?



Here is a case of a mother stricken with tuberculosis, yet deserted in the most miserable circumstances by her husband, who is a drunkard and a gambler. Though her death is but a few months away, she struggles away all day at her trade of button-hole-making. Talk about the "Song of the Shirt"! Well, there are tens of thousands of cases of it in this city. And what chance have the children got?

A father sentenced to Sing Sing for shooting. A mother convicted of keeping a disorderly house. A father sentenced for burglary. A widow confined permanently to the hospital, practically worn out from overwork and nothing else—so the pitiable cases run, one after another, literally thousands of them! And what chance have the children got?

There is not a well-to-do man in this city who, if he only knew of the cases of horrible distress that occur daily, would not contribute some small sum to take care of the little ones who figure in these tragedies. Others are to blame; not they. Since they are born, they ought to be given a fair chance to a decent life and some happiness.

We take these children, committed to us by the courts, out to the country here. They live in cottages, in little groups. Each group takes care of its cottage under the direction of a house mother. A real home atmosphere exists. They grow up with every advantage children can be given. Trades and professions are taught them. Some of the most noted educational authorities in the country have endorsed our methods of bringing up children as being ideal.

If we had the means, we would do this for hundreds more of them—for hundreds who need care just as urgently as those who are now ours. We ask you earnestly, in their behalf, for any contribution you can afford—no matter how small the amount.

First Impressions
OF THE DAY

No. 6 The morning newspaper assists in creating the first impressions of the day. Beginning at the breakfast table, it suggests many of the day's topics of conversation. To the women of the family it is a guide for the day's shopping. The morning newspaper continues in the home throughout the day and into the evening; in actual hours more than three times the reading given to an evening newspaper. On February 12th, a holiday, the net paid sale of The New York Times was 234,983 copies. On February 13th, a business day, the net paid sale was 258,365 copies. On February 23d, a holiday, the net paid sale was 228,656 copies. On February 24th, a business day, the net paid sale was 258,766 copies. These figures are conclusive proof that about 225,000 copies of The New York Times go into homes daily. The Sunday sale, greatly in excess of 200,000 copies, is admittedly a home circulation.

Loeser's

Good Morning!

Loeser Pageant of Assured Easter Fashions.

Many women have waited before purchasing until the styles of the season should be assured. They have felt no attraction toward the earlier shown bizarre styles, but they will have a vital interest in the Loeser Fashion Pageant of this week.

They will find here the apparel they can wear; the styles that the American women will approve all through the spring and summer.

The intimate manner in which the Gowns, Suits and Wraps are here shown adds much to the interest of the opening. The originators of the modes, prices of the garments and character of the material and trimmings may be readily ascertained.

We know we are showing the best ideas that have been produced by the Parisian artists of dress and the essence of America's judgment upon earlier presentations.

We invite you to attend at your convenience any day of this week and believe you will assent to the accuracy of our choosing.

Silk Is Important In The Newest Gowns.

And the Fashion Pageant is demonstrating which Silks will be most in favor for spring and summer.

Among the more fashionable weaves of the spring that you will find here in fullest variety are: Ribbon Moires, Crepes Meteor, Satin Charmeuse, printed Crepes de Chine, Roman Stripes and Scotch Plaids, Moires Antique, the new Taffetas, Crepes Moires, Canton Crepes, Brocade Moire, Brocaded Crepes de Chine, Brocaded Charmeuse. Also many others, all in full color range and at prices from $1 a yard to $4.50.

Spring Apparel for Young Women and Little Girls.

For any age from 16 to 20 there is a reduplication of the styles for the woman of fashion, with slight youthful touches in keeping with the age of the wearer.

The English Top Coats, the girlish Lingerie Frocks, the outing wear—all are designed especially for the American girl, who knows her style and understands the art of dress.

For the schoolgirl there are quaint and beautiful Dresses, new developments of Kate Greenaway's freshness of touch, a working out of the garb worn by little folk in Dickens' time.

There are unusual and attractive "Little Dorrit" Dresses with bloomers and big buttons to attach the skirt, quaint collars that speak of the early Victorian era, that will keep little girls young and with the delicate charm of the French jeune fille and the English school girl.

Parasols of New Beauty.

There will be universal comment upon the beauty of the Parasols to be shown in the Fashion Pageant, and inquiries concerning their names. These are all Loeser Parasols; some of them imported, others made exclusively for us.

Mme. Cherry-Blossom is found exclusively at Loeser's in Brooklyn and many women think it the most beautiful of the new models. It is patterned after the royal Parasols of Japan and decorated with proper deference to American fashions and tastes.

The India Ripple, the Empress Eugenie, the India Crystal, the India Canopy, the India Delhi, the India Princess and the India Marquise—seven sisters of the India Parasol Family—are also found here exclusively in Brooklyn. Every fashionable model of Parasol may be found in the Loeser Umbrella Store, but we believe these stand first in popular favor this spring.

$28,000 IS PAID FOR A SALT CELLAR

Gem of Ashburnham Collection Brings a Record Price at Christie's.

$30,500 FOR A TOILET SET

Latter, of George I. Period, Goes to Crichton, the Successful Bidder for the Salt Cellar.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 24.—It was millionaires' day at Christie's to-day when the auctioneer began the dispersal of the Ashburnham silver treasures which were recently unearthed from the strong room of the bank where they had lain unheeded for more than thirty years. The bids advanced £500 at a time. Not for twelve years has such a remarkable collection of silver been offered at Christie's.

The pièce de resistance was a silver salt cellar which sold for $28,000. The treasure, which dates from the period of Henry VII., has the London hall mark 1508, and is believed to be the earliest standing salt cellar in existence. Its height with the cover, is 12¼ inches, but it weighs only thirty ounces. The mermaid that forms the only decoration, is the badge of the Berkely family. John Ashburnham married (circa 1510-20) Lora, daughter and co-heiress of Thomas Berkeley.

It was expected that a much bigger price would be obtained for it, and it is regarded as a bargain at the figure at which it was knocked down to Crichton.

Five thousand dollars was the first bid, and after fitful rises the successful bidder had surpassed Christie's record for a single piece of silver—$22,500 for a James I. silver-gilt cup and cover at the sale of the Plomer Ward heirlooms on Feb. 4. Dunlacher challenged him repeatedly, but had to retire before his opponent's formidable final bid.

Crichton paid $30,500 for a George I. silver-gilt plain toilet service by Benjamin Pyne, 1719, engraved with the arms of Crowley impaling Gascoigne, in scroll foliage mantling, and with molded and reeded borders. Sir Ambrose Crowley had his arms granted him on becoming a Sheriff of London in 1706. John, second Earl of Ashburnham, married in 1756 Elizabeth, daughter and co-heiress of John Crowley of Barking, Suffolk, son and heir of Sir Ambrose.

A pair of Charles II. bottles and stoppers, pear shaped, and with slightly domed covers, dated 1675, thirteen and a half inches high, and seven and a quarter inches in diameter, maker's mark, A. M. monogram, crowned, weight 76 oz. 10 dwt., brought the high price of $14,535.

Amor gave $4,010 for a Charles II. vase and cover, the latter surmounted by a knot formed as a melon. The piece weighs 57 oz. 6 dwt., is fourteen and a fourth inches high and nine in diameter. The date is 1675, and the maker's mark is W. W., with a fleur-de-lys and two pellets below, in shaped shield.

Elkington obtained for $745 a Charles II. tazza, the centre slightly sunk and engrossed with the Ashburnham arms in scroll mantling. It is dated 1667, and has the maker's mark, T. H., and an anchor. It weighs 26 ounces.

An oblong inkstand, fourteen and a half inches wide, by William Pitts and Joseph Preedy, 1794, went to Carrington for $1,620.

A Queen Anne silver-gilt rose water dish, fifteen and three-quarter inches in diameter, by Pierre Platel, 1702, was bought by Drucker for $825. Weight, 61 oz. 4 dwt.

A William III. plain papboat and cover, four and a half inches high, weight 7 oz. 11 dwt., by Joseph Ward, 1697, was knocked down to Comyns for $345.

Heigham paid $915 for a silver-gilt two-handled cup and cover, twelve and three-quarters inches high, weight, 70 oz. 15 dwt., Dublin, circa 1750, maker's mark, T. U., in black letter capitals.

Welby obtained for $640 a George I. silver-gilt cup and cover, 10 inches high, weight 55 oz. 15 dwt., by Simon Pantin, 1717.

Crichton paid $1,880 for a christening bowl, 10½ inches in diameter, weight 37 oz. 13 dwt., by Francis Crump, 1743.

The same bidder obtained for $1,645 a George II. square salver, the centre adorned with the Ashburnham arms, 14¼ inches square, weight 80 oz. 5 dwt., by Paul Lamerie, 1728, Britannia standard.

Tessier gave $1,070 for a set of three sugar vases and covers, 8¾ and 7¼ inches high, weight 31 oz. 15 dwt., dated 1773.

Comyns paid $2,120 for a George II. silver-gilt cup and cover, 13 inches high, weight, 73 oz. 15 dwt., by Thomas Whipham, 1754, and Harman gave $1,090 for a similar lot 14 inches high, weight 66 oz. 6 dwt., by George Methuen, 1752.

In all fifty-one lots were sold at to-day's session. The sale will be continued to-morrow and Thursday. There remain 183 lots to be dispersed.

QUEEN COMING IN MAY.

Wife of Bulgarian Ruler Announces Date for Visit to America.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 24.—In view of the conflicting reports as to the date when the Queen of Bulgaria is to start on the visit which, as recently cabled to THE NEW YORK TIMES, she intends to make to the United States, a NEW YORK TIMES correspondent requested from her Majesty herself exact information, and the following reply was received to-day from the palace at Sofia:

"The journey is arranged for the middle of May. Our representative will come to you next week."

SAYS 'ESS' TO EVERYTHING

Paspati, Whose Marriage Annulment is Sought, on Stand Again.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 24.—Peter Paspati, 60 years old, son of a late wealthy merchant of Liverpool, for whom the annulment of his marriage is being sought on the ground that he was mentally incompetent when he contracted it, was again on the witness stand to-day and to questions of counsel responded mostly with smiles, nods, and "ess," intended for "yes."

He was unable to repeat the words of the marriage service after counsel. When asked if to-morrow was Friday and the following day Tuesday, and if the Government was going to dissolve, he replied "ess" to each question.

The Judge objected to the question relative to the dissolution of the Government, but counsel, F. E. Smith, who is one of Sir Edward Carson's lieutenants in the Ulster campaign, explained that he simply put something fantastic and preposterous to show that Paspati assented to everything.

W. N. Boston of Ralli Brothers, who took Paspati into their office out of regard for his late father, and to keep him out of harm's way, said on the witness stand that Paspati would say yes if he were asked if he wanted to get married, and give the same answer if asked whether he wanted to die.

ALFONSO'S LITTLE JOKE.

He Drenches Royal and Noble Guests in "Enchanted Garden."

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

MADRID, March 24.—Telegrams from Seville say that King Alfonso, Queen Victoria, and Empress Eugénie paid a visit to that town, accompanied by the Archduchess Isabella, Lord and Lady Wimborne, and the English officers who have been playing polo at Moratalla.

King Alfonso conducted the party through the Alcazar, citing a wealth of historical facts relating to the various objects in the famous palace. Speaking afterward with some newspaper men, he laughingly admitted that he had supplied the bulk of the information from his imagination.

His Majesty subsequently conducted the guests through "the enchanted garden," and while drawing their attention to the beautiful trelliswork, pressed a button with his foot and released a shower of water, which drenched everybody.

DE KAY TO APPEAL.

Also will Question Referee's Right to Expunge American Testimony.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 24.—John W. De Kay of New York has decided to appeal against the judgment rendered in the High Court yesterday for Callows & Sons of this city, in their suit to recover about $15,000 balance on a bill for jewelry ordered. The question also will be raised as to whether the Official Referee has power to expunge American evidence from English records.

The American evidence referred to was taken before British Consul Childers at Pittsburgh in December, 1912.

PROF. HARNACK A SUICIDE.

Body Found in River—Philosopher and Poet Missing a Month.

STUTTGART, March 24.—The body of Prof. Otto Harnack, one of the celebrated brothers, of whom Prof. Adolf Harnack is the best known, was found in the Neckar River to-day.

The professor, who occupied a position at the Technical High School here, had been missing for a month. It is supposed that he committed suicide during a mental breakdown.

Prof. Otto Harnack was the third of the four celebrated Harnack brothers, all of whom earned distinction in the educational life and universities of Germany. He was born on Nov. 23, 1857, and for many years was Professor of Philosophy in the Technical High School at Stuttgart. He obtained his degree of philosophy from the University of Göttingen, and for a while was a professor of literature and history at Darmstadt.

Among his writings were several dramatic poems, including one on Napoleon; a history of the Carlovingian dynasty, and a life of Humboldt. He was also a great student of Goethe, and published, among other works on the German poet, a volume of his selected poems in chronological order.

FREE TOLLS BATTLE SET FOR TO-MORROW

River and Harbor Bill May Be Pushed to Final Vote in One More Session.

FIGHT OVER 15-HOUR RULE

Opposition to Canal Bill Wants More Time for Debate—Line-Up for Strength Test.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—As the time approaches when the first real test of strength will be made in the House of Representatives on President Wilson's policy of repealing the free tolls exemption clause of the Panama Canal act, each side appears to be confident of success, and the claims of each as to the number of voters it will control are denied by the other.

To-day those who are backing the President found some encouragement in the fact that the filibuster which has been waged for four days against the River and Harbor bill showed signs of weakening. This filibuster, it is charged, is being engineered by those who are against the pending measure to repeal the tolls provision. The House remained in session until 8 o'clock to-night, and while the River and Harbor bill was not disposed of, sufficient progress was made to indicate that it may be pushed to a final vote in one more session.

The present plans of the President's supporters contemplate starting the battle for repeal on Thursday. To-morrow is "Calendar Wednesday" and discussions of bills on the calendar cannot be postponed unless two-thirds of the members of the House favor that course. While the programme of procedure mapped out by those who will lead the fight for President Wilson has not been completed, it is expected that before the close of Thursday's session Chairman Henry of the Committee on Rules will bring forward for immediate consideration the "rule" adopted by the committee providing that the debate on the Repeal bill shall be limited to fifteen hours and at the end of that time the House shall vote on the measure. The rule provides that the bill shall not be amended.

The House will meet at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, an hour earlier than usual, and it is the expectation of the President's supporters that the River and Harbor bill will be disposed of early enough that day to leave sufficient time for the discussion of the rule, and perhaps for its adoption.

The real fight may come on the adoption of the rule itself. If Chairman Henry, upon reporting the rule, makes a demand for the previous question, debate on the rule will be limited to twenty minutes for each side. But if Mr. Henry should not make this demand, the debate on the bill itself probably would continue for a long time, and probably run Thursday's session into the night. A vote on the adoption of the rule may prove a test of strength, and the opponents of the Repeal bill are devoting their efforts to lining up a phalanx that will give them victory before the merits of the repeal question are discussed.

Meantime the leaders of those opposed to repeal are endeavoring to persuade the leaders of the other side that the rule should make a more liberal provision for debate. They assert that the question is too important to be thoroughly discussed in fifteen hours.

Representative Underwood, the Democratic floor leader, will deliver a speech in opposition to the repeal measure, and he desires at least one hour to present his argument. Representative Mann, the Republican floor leader, and Representative Fitzgerald, one of the foremost Democrats in the House, and Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, also desire an hour each for the speeches they will deliver. In addition, Representative Doremus, Chairman of the Democratic National Congressional Committee, will speak in opposition to repeal, and he, too, has asked that an hour's time be assigned to him. Representative Knowland of California, Republican, who will allot the time of the members of his party who will speak against the repeal bill, also desires to deliver a speech of considerable length.

The fight in favor of President Wilson's recommendation that the free tolls clause be repealed will be led by Representative Adamson, Chairman of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce; Representative Sims, the author of the repeal bill, and Representative Covington, who voted for the tolls exemption originally, but is now a stalwart supporter of the President.

As Chairman of the Democratic caucus, Representative Palmer also will have a prominent part in the fight for the Administration, while Representative Sherley, one of the foremost parliamentarians in the House, will be obliged to bear the brunt of assault when parliamentary problems are injected into the discussion.

The leaders of those who favor repeal are encouraged to-night over the understanding that Representative Kitchin of North Carolina, the probable successor of Representative Underwood as floor leader, if Mr. Underwood is elected to the Senate, has decided not to make a speech attacking the repeal bill. He had been regarded as a determined opponent of the proposed legislation.

Leaders of the other side are intimating that Mr. Kitchin has been brought around to President Wilson's view through the direct persuasion of the President.

Speaker Clark has not indicated what his course will be. He has been counted as opposed to the repeal measure, and it was understood that he would deliver a speech, but it is now uncertain whether he will participate in the debate, or even vote against repeal.

The claims of the President's supporters that the Repeal bill will be passed by a majority of 150 have been considerably modified. Their prediction has dropped to a majority of 100, while more conservative friends of the repeal measure are not hopeful of obtaining a majority of more than 50. Leaders of State delegations are polling their colleagues, but no accurate estimate of the final vote is possible on account of the uncertainty among many Democratic members who voted for free tolls originally, but are not willing to oppose President Wilson's wishes at this time.

Representative Albert Johnson of Washington offered to-day a resolution calling upon the Secretary of Commerce to furnish immediately to the House all information in the possession of that department relating to the interchange of commerce among the seaport cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts, with schedules of the kind and character of the principal commodities, their weight, bulk and value. The Johnson resolution was offered with a view to obtaining this information in time for use by the House and Senate in the canal tolls controversy.

GREAT PANIC IN NAPLES.

Statue of Saint Rumored to Have Turned Its Back to Vesuvius.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 25.—A dispatch from Milan to The Daily Chronicle says:

"An extraordinary panic spread today over the populous quarter of Naples near the ancient Porta Portuana gate, over which stands a giant statue of St. Januarius, the patron saint of the city.

"Usually the saint looks across at Vesuvius with defiant gaze, but last night a witness declared that the statue altered its position in such a way that its saintly back was turned to the volcano.

"In a short space of time the news of the rumored miracle spread all over the city, and shortly after daybreak to-day an excited crowd, numbering about 30,000, had gathered before the statue. Men went down on their knees and prayed and women tore their hair and shrieked in the belief that the statue's change of front was an omen that another great eruption was at hand."

OXFORD HONORS GORGAS.

Special Convocation Confers on Him the Degree of Doctor of Science.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 24.—A special convocation held at Oxford to-day conferred the degree of Doctor of Science honoris causa upon Surgeon General Gorgas for his work in rendering the construction of the Panama Canal possible by stamping out the yellow and malaria fevers.

The convocation was presided over by the acting Vice Chancellor, Dr. Thurbert Warren, President of Magdalen College. Among those present were the Provost of Worcester, the Principal of Brazenose, Sir William Osler, and a number of doctors and members of the Medical Faculty.

The Vice Chancellor, in admitting Col. Gorgas to the degree, greeted him in Latin as "the Machaon of the American Army," and then in a Greek couplet as the true "Isthmian conqueror."

Hail, router of the plague of fleas! Hail,
 Isthmian conqueror true!
Gorgas, to that wise goddess dear, the Gorgon death who slew!

SULLIVAN LAW GETS SLAYER

Russamano, Who Killed Prisco, Convicted as Pistol Carrier.

It took a jury only ten minutes yesterday in Judge Malone's part of General Sessions to convict John Russamano for carrying a concealed weapon. For five years the police have been after Russamano. On Dec. 15, 1912, he shot and killed Amelio Prisco in the bakery of Joshua Galluci, his uncle. He escaped a prison term on his plea that Prisco came to demand money and that he shot him in self-defense.

On July 26 last four detectives, who had been sent out by Second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, arrested Russamano, Galluci and Joseph Mazzarra on 118th Street. The detectives found revolvers in the pockets of all three men. Russamano managed to delay his trial until yesterday. He will be sentenced on Friday.

Altitude Record with Passenger.

JOHANNISTHAL, March 24.—Linnekogel, a German aviator, to-day established a world's altitude record for a flight with one passenger in an aeroplane by attaining a height of 18,858 feet in his monoplane from the aerodrome here.

The previous record for a flight with one passenger was made by the late Edmond Perreyon, a Frenchman, who on June 3, 1913, rose to a height of 16,270 feet.

MIKADO SUMMONS MARQUIS SAIONJI

He or Baron Kato Likely to Succeed Premier Yamamoto, Who Has Resigned.

ENTIRE CABINET IS OUT

Statement That Resignation Is Not Due to the Naval Scandal Not Believed by Opposition.

TOKIO, March 24.—The Cabinet resigned to-day.

The Radicals consider the disappearance of Admiral Count Yamamoto's Ministry a blow to the system of clan government, and they are fighting the influence of the old Conservative bureaucratic groups represented by the Satsuma and Choshiu factions on behalf of what they term a truer constitutional régime.

The Emperor to-day conferred with a number of the elder statesmen and with the Marquis Saionji, ex-Premier.

The view is generally expressed that either Marquis Saionji or Baron Kato, ex-Foreign Minister, will be asked to form the new Cabinet.

A statement was issued to-day by the Government declaring that the Cabinet had resigned on account of the failure of the House of Representatives and the House of Peers to agree on the budget. It is pointed out that unless an extraordinary session of Parliament should be called the budget of last year and the estimates for the various departments will remain in operation.

The declaration states that the naval scandal in connection with the giving of illicit commissions in order to influence the allotment of contracts had nothing to do with the break-up of the Cabinet. It argues that if the naval scandal had been the cause of the Cabinet's fall it would have occurred at an earlier date.

A heated debate took place in the House of Peers to-day when Lieut. Gen. Viscount Soga declared that the naval scandal had been destructive of discipline in the navy and that the Japanese bluejackets regarded their superior officers with contempt owing to the revelations of corruption.

It was explained in the course of the discussion that the House of Peers had reduced the appropriations for the navy firstly, because of the allegations of corruption, and, secondly, because of the failure of the Government to accord equal expansion to the army.

All the Opposition journals attribute the fall of the Government to the naval scandal.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Carefully protected by the iron rule of custom against the vicissitudes of internal politics, the external relations of Japan will remain unaffected by the resignation of the Cabinet. Consequently, it is anticipated by the officials here that there will be no substantial change in the tone of the negotiations that have been in progress between the United States and Japan over the question of Japanese land ownership in this country.

It was pointed out to-day that, while there was a more or less urgent demand by the so-called jingoistic elements in Japan upon the Government for the adoption of a more aggressive attitude toward the United States, that issue had been almost completely obscured by the naval scandal, and nothing had been heard of late of the California land question in the Japanese papers.

Either of the statesmen named in the dispatches as the probable head of the new Cabinet, Saionji or Kato, is regarded here as conservative in so far as the foreign policies of Japan are concerned. Marquis Saionji has been Premier twice, and always has shown the friendliest sentiments toward America, though it was in his administration that the California school question became acute for a time. Baron Kato in his capacity of Minister for Foreign Affairs also has had to deal with some phases of the American restrictive legislation, and has evinced a conciliatory and friendly disposition.

While the two men differ strongly in their political opinions, the one representing the spirit of the old Japanese clans and the other the progressive element, neither is regarded here as a jingo or as likely to yield to popular demands for an overaggressive foreign policy.

SEVERE DROUTH IN HAWAII.

Worst Water Famine in History Threatens the Islands.

HONOLULU, March 24.—After two extremely dry years, Honolulu in particular, and the whole group of Hawaiian Islands in general, are threatened with the severest water famine the territory has ever known. Unless heavy rains fall soon, and the records of years do not indicate them at this season, loss to planters and much domestic inconvenience are certain.

No unusual restrictions have been imposed upon domestic consumption thus far, but if the shortage continues, irrigation privileges will have to be suspended in certain districts soon.

BANK REVISION BILL HELD BACK BY COATS

TROUBLE OVER $200 NOTE

Curious Story Credited to Senator Himself to Account for His Opposition to Commission Measure.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 24.—The fate of the Van Tuyl Banking Commission's bill revising the banking laws of this State and providing for stouter supervision of private banks still hangs in the Senate. Henry W. Pollock, Chairman of the Committee on Banks, has made several ineffectual attempts to get the bill out into the open without having it referred to General Orders, the legislative graveyard, at this late day of the session. In every instance his move has been blocked by Senator Herbert P. Coats of Franklin, the Nemesis of the present effort to regulate private bankers.

In the Assembly the Van Tuyl Commission bill is held by the Rules Committee. It is apparent that influential members on both the Republican and the Democratic side have their knives out for the bill.

Senator Coats has been besieged by colleagues with inquiries as to the cause of his persistent opposition to the Van Tuyl bill at a time when the air at the Capitol is filled with rumors of an active lobby to defeat the bill. The Senator so far has made no explanation for publication. But to some of his friends in the Senate he has told a story which has caused considerable amusement at the Capitol.

According to one of Senator Coats's friends, the Senator has declared that his opposition is due to intense dislike of State Superintendent of Banks Van Tuyl, whose powers would be vastly extended and whose salary would be boosted if the bill were to pass.

Mr. Van Tuyl, while President of the Albany Trust Company back in 1910, it appears from the story told by Senator Coats, compelled a client of Senator Coats—a resident of Lake Placid—to pay a $200 note when due, over the earnest protest of Senator Coats himself. As a result a great coldness arose.

Confirmed by Banker.

Mr. Van Tuyl declined to discuss the affair, but President Charles H. Bissikummer of the Albany Trust Company said to-night that the version given by the Senator's friend was substantially correct. He said, however, that he could not believe that Senator Coats would let this event influence him in his attitude on any legislative business.

The work of amending the Van Tuyl bill and whipping it into shape for final passage was finished to-day. A large number of bankers from all sections of the State were here, among them A. Barton Hepburn, President of the Chase National Bank of New York, who was Chairman of the Van Tuyl Commission. Mr. Hepburn called upon Gov. Glynn, Lieut. Gov. Wagner and Speaker Sweet, and urged them to do all in their power to promote the passage of the Van Tuyl bill, which, he declared, was the most important banking legislation to come before the Legislature in the history of the State.

In its amended form the Van Tuyl bill retains unimpaired its original provisions for supervision of private banks by the State Banking Department. Amendments, however, have so reduced the amount of capital, as well as the average of deposits on which interest is paid, required to escape supervision, as virtually to eliminate the up-State private bankers from regulation by the State Superintendent of Banks. This table shows the capital required under the original and revised provisions of the bill to exempt private banks from supervision:

	Original.	Revised.
In New York City	$500,000	$100,000
Buffalo and Rochester	200,000	75,000
Syracuse	100,000	50,000
Other cities second class	50,000	25,000

Deposit Average Cut Down.

Under the bill as originally drafted, too, private banks, in order to be exempt from supervision, were compelled to make oath that the deposits on which interest was paid by them averaged $500 or more. Under the revised provisions that requirement stands, so far as private banks in New York are concerned, but is cut down in the case of banking institutions in Buffalo and Rochester to $300, in Syracuse to $200 and in other cities of the second class to $100.

The original bill provided for an increase to $15,000 of the State Banking Superintendent's salary. Under the amended bill, which Senator Pollock will try to get before the Senate to-morrow, his salary is fixed at $10,000. The present salary is $7,000.

Supt. Van Tuyl said to-night that he thought nearly all opposition, including that of the private bankers, had vanished and that he was hopeful the bill would pass.

A bill introduced by Senator Murtaugh to supervise the business of making small personal loans was passed by the Senate to-day. The measure is favored by the Russell Sage Foundation. It places the business under the care of another Assistant Superintendent of Banks. The bill fixes the maximum rate of interest that may be charged and provides that all the loan brokers shall be licensed. Personal loans of not more than $200 come under the jurisdiction of the Assistant Superintendent of Banks.

PROMISES SURPRISE IN THE FRANK CASE

Hass, Associate Counsel, Says All the New Evidence Has Not Been Disclosed.

PRAISE FOR BURNS'S WORK

Detective Arrives Here To-day for Further Investigation—Motion for New Trial This Week.

Leonard Haas, associate counsel for Leo M. Frank, condemned by the Georgia courts to suffer the death penalty for the murder of little Mary Phagan, arrived in this city yesterday to work on a new phase of the case. Mr. Haas expressed the utmost confidence that a new trial would be granted for Frank, adding that the new evidence which the defense had in its possession demanded such action.

Mr. Haas paid a high tribute to the work done by Detective William J. Burns, and said that much of the new evidence had been unearthed by Burns. The extraordinary motion for a new trial, he said, would be made before Judge Ben H. Hill in the Superior Court of Georgia by the end of this week.

"I am satisfied that when all the evidence included in the extraordinary motion for a new trial has been presented to the public the demand for a new trial will be even stronger than it now is," said Mr. Haas. "The motion will include not only the grounds which heretofore have been made public, but also evidence of a much more startling nature.

"The motion will contain the evidence not only of such witnesses as McKnight, Epps and others who have recanted in part or in whole their testimony on the former trial, but new evidence which has never been heretofore disclosed. Frank and his friends feel that with this evidence before the court there can be no question but that a new trial will be accorded him. Already throughout the city the press, pulpit and public are demanding a new trial for Frank. The people in general take the view that, whether he be guilty or innocent, Frank has not had such a fair and impartial trial as is guaranteed him by the laws of his country.

"While we of the defense have always felt that the truth in the case would ultimately be revealed, since Mr. Burns's entrance into the case we have felt more confident than ever that a clear solution of the problem would be had, and that the public will soon be shown where the guilt for this awful crime rests.

"While Mr. Burns has made no announcement and given no intimation as to what his ultimate opinion will be, Frank and his friends feel the utmost confidence in him and anxiously await the announcement of his decision. Burns is a man who is reputed never to have fallen down on a single case he has undertaken, and with this knowledge at hand the friends of Leo Frank have nothing to fear from a thorough investigation into the case by Mr. Burns.

"Much of the newly discovered evidence which will be included in the extraordinary motion for a new trial has been unearthed by Mr. Burns since his connection with the case, short though it has been. That evidence does not change the conviction which Frank and his friends, and many others, always have held, namely, that the murderer of Mary Phagan was none other than Jim Conley, the negro who admits writing the notes found beside the dead body of Mary Phagan. Every trail in the case leads to Jim Conley, and when the final chapter in this case is written it will be that little Mary Phagan met her death at the hands of that negro.

"Inasmuch as Mr. Burns has in charge the matter of securing evidence for the motion for the new trial, it would be highly improper for me to disclose what such evidence is."

If the regular practice is carried out, says Mr. Haas, twenty days' notice will be given of the date set for a hearing after the motion has been made for a new trial. The date set for Frank's execution is April 17. If the extraordinary motion should not be heard before that time counsel for Frank would ask Judge Hill for a stay of execution, which, said Mr. Haas, undoubtedly would be granted.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—W. J. Burns arrived here to-day from Atlanta, where he has been at work on the Phagan murder case. He left to-night for New York, where he is to continue his investigations.

DEFENDS ITS EXEMPTIONS.

Civil Service Commission Says It Is Following Court Rulings.

ALBANY, March 24.—The Civil Service Commission reported to the Legislature to-night that "it is solely within the commission's province to make classifications, and that when they are made pursuant to the civil service law and rules and the exercise of its discretion, coercion or biased criticism is unwarranted."

One of the charges against the commission sent to the Governor yesterday by the Civil Service Reform Association declared that the commission had made "an abnormal record" in exempting 198 places from examination during the year. The Governor would not indicate to-day what action he would take on the charges.

In its report to-night the commission asserts that a great deal of time has been devoted to questions involved in classification of positions.

"It is well known," the report continues, "that the sources that have for years contended for the purpose of regulating the classifications in the State service have been, on the one side, the civil service reformers, who seek to get into the competitive class as many places as possible, and on the other, appointing officer, who usually seek to keep out of the competitive class all the positions in their respective departments. Neither of these forces should control the classification."

The commission asserts that it has sought to proceed on the legal basis established by the courts and by the Constitution in matters of classification, and to decide questions arising solely for the best interests of the service.

The Great Book of Facts and World-wide Information

Many important issues discussed in the newspapers from day to day can be rightly understood and weighed only by the man who has a broad knowledge of the underlying facts. They are the same sort of questions that are dealt with by after-dinner speakers.

If you are called upon to prepare a speech or after-dinner talk before a gathering of your business associates, a convention or a society or any group of thinking men and women, you must know the facts before you can expect to hold their attention.

And to gain success in any situation in life you need the command of exact facts that makes for conviction in serious argument.

MITCHEL FAVORS CITY WORK BUREAU

Mayor Sends Message to Aldermen, Recommending Establishment of Public Agency.

JOBS FOUND FOR 3,973

Good Results from Experimental Employment Bureau—America Is Far Behind Europe.

Mayor Mitchel sent a special message to the Aldermen yesterday recommending the establishment of a public employment bureau to be connected with the office of the Commissioner of Licenses. With his message the Mayor submitted the report of the Committee on Unemployment, which he appointed several weeks ago, and which consisted of City Chamberlain Bruere, George H. Bell, Commissioner of Licenses; John A. Kingsbury, Commissioner of Charities, and Dr. Henry Moskowitz, President of the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

The committee advocated a municipal free employment agency, and it told of the work of the experimental employment agency which has been carried on for the last month under the Commissioner of Licenses. In his message the Mayor said:

"Unemployment is a persistent problem. While it is not a function of Government directly to provide employment for those out of work, the establishment of free labor agencies where employers may obtain workers and the unemployed obtain work, is a well recognized Governmental function.

"America is far behind the European countries in the establishment of labor agencies. For a number of years past, both England and Germany have had systems of free employment agencies. In America, a few States have have established agencies which are modeled after those in operation abroad. The results thus far appear to be satisfactory. Free agencies have also been introduced into a few American municipalities, and while in many cases they have proved their worth, in other instances, perhaps due to lack of aggressive management, the good results have not been commensurate with the money expended.

"Soon after the present city administration took office the Mayor's attention was directed to the acute situation in this community with respect to unemployment. An experimental employment bureau was opened at 29 Lafayette Street, Manhattan. The establishment of this bureau had the effect of directing the attention of the entire country to the subject of unemployment.

"The city's experimental bureau began operation Feb. 14. During the month of its operation it has found employment for 3 973 persons. I call your attention to a memorandum of the Committee on Unemployment attached hereto which makes the recommendation that the ag ncy be made permanent. The report of Adelphus Ragan, who has been in immediate charge of the bureau, also attached, shows what has been accomplished.

"I am submitting a suggested ordinance providing for the establishment of a public employment bureau in the office of the Commissioner of Licenses. I trust that your honorable body will give the matter your careful consideration and if, in your judgment, this proposal is wise, that you will provide for the establishment of such an agency by ordinance."

The Committee on Unemployment stated that it had called into conference William M. Leiserson, an expert on unemployment, who served the Wainwright Commission, and who is in charge of the free employment agencies of Wisconsin. Mr. Leiserson favored the plan of State control of free employment agencies, and urged that in no other way could the agencies located in the several industrial centres of the State be welded into a single cohesive system.

MRS. HEVENOR DENIES ALL.

Jury to Give Sealed Verdict in Divorce Case To-day.

The promise made by David M. Neuberger, counsel for Harvey H. Hevenor, that he would shock the jury with the evidence he would produce at yesterday's session of his client's divorce trial, caused several scores of men and women to crowd into Justice Giegerich's part of the Supreme Court. John J. Wilkinson of 580 West 112th Street, the Superintendent of the apartment house in which Mrs. Hevenor lived, said he could not remember whether there were any hall boys in the house on the night of Nov. 12, the night of Mrs. Hevenor's alleged indiscretion.

John Cotter, a hall-boy in the apartment house, said he had seen George Winters, named by Mr. Hevenor as one of five co-respondents, leave the apartment house with Mrs. Hevenor. The couple went out on the night of Nov. 12, he said, and did not return until 3 o'clock the next morning. When they returned, he testified, they went into Mrs. Hevenor's apartment.

Clifford Butler, another hall-boy, told of having seen Mrs. Hevenor leave the apartment house on the night of Nov. 12.

Mrs. Hevenor testified that the hall-boys had sworn falsely against her because she had rebuked them for being away from the telephone switchboard when needed. Mrs. Hevenor said also that, contrary to the hall-boys' statements, she had returned from Bustanoby's with Mr. Winters at 11 o'clock at night and that he had left her at the street door.

Both sides summed up, and Justice Giegerich gave his charge to the jury. The jurors were ordered to return a sealed verdict this morning.

SAYS SHE IS PRIEST'S BRIDE

Girl Now Declares Brothers with Pistols Forced Her to Wed.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, March 24.—In a statement issued from her attorney's office to-day, Mary Christiana Morgan declared she and Father Miles M. Sweeney, rector of St. James's Roman Catholic Church in Sewickley, had been forced to go through a marriage ceremony in Wellsburg, West Va., on Jan. 28, while her three brothers menaced them with revolvers, hidden in their pockets.

Until to-day the young woman had declared there was no truth in the report of the marriage, even though her sister and brothers had made affidavit to that effect.

Miss Elizabeth Moran to-night designated her sister's statement as "lacking every semblance of truth," and declared there was no coercion.

Miss M. U. Gullette, marriage license clerk at Wellsburg, said that only two men and one woman applied for the license, and they were all very happy. She observed no coercion or indication of duress.

MINERS REJECT TERMS.

Joint Wage Scale Conference in Chicago Comes to an End.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Final refusal of the United Mine Workers of America to accept the terms offered by the bituminous coal mine owners of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to-day terminated the joint wage scale conference of the men and employers.

The Policy Committee of the United Mine Workers has been summoned to meet here to-morrow, and the men's leaders announce that they expect 't to decide upon a line of action that will prevent a labor crisis in the mines. The operators state that the next proposition must come from the men. The wage agreement expires a week from to-day.

W. O. Green, Secretary of the United Mine Workers, said that the miners were willing to accept the agreement in force, with the modification that local conditions in different mining districts should be subject to adjustment. The operators, he said, would not assent to this.

SAYS I. W. W. LEADER EXPECTED VIOLENCE

Tannenbaum Prophesied Bloodshed, Detective Says, at the Church Invader's Trial.

STATE HURRIES ITS CASE

Many Witnesses Subpoenaed for the Defense—Unnecessary Precautions in the Courtroom.

Frank Tannenbaum, who led a mob known as the "Army of the Unemployed" in an invasion of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Alphonsus in West Broadway on March 4, was placed on trial yesterday before Judge William H. Wadhams in the Court of General Sessions. The charge, which is a misdemeanor, is that Tannenbaum participated in an unlawful assemblage. If he is convicted the extreme penalty is $500 fine and a year's imprisonment.

Fears that the courtroom would be packed by Tannenbaum's followers proved to be groundless. Extraordinary precautions had been taken to prevent such an occurrence, but the extra court attendants and patrolmen who had been stationed in the courtroom and at the entrance found little to do. Only about fifty persons were admitted to the courtroom and it was said that less than half of these were I. W. W. sympathizers.

Among those who were admitted were Mrs. Mabel Dodge, Miss Jane Roulson, Secretary of the I. W. W.; Miss Matilda Rabinowitz, an I. W. W. organizer; Adolph Wolf, an I. W. W. poet; Renée Moisé, and Hutchins Hapgood. They took seats in the rear of the courtroom.

The jury was selected in two hours, after twenty-seven talesmen of a special panel of fifty had been examined. Justus Sheffield, Tannebaum's counsel, in his examination of the talesmen asked them about their religious beliefs and their views regarding labor organizations. Several who acknowledged that they would pay more heed to the testimony of a priest than to that of a layman were excused by the defence. In asking this question, Mr. Sheffield had in mind Father John G. Schneider of St. Alphonsus's, who will be one of the prosecution's chief witnesses.

Several of the questions framed by Assistant District Attorney T. Channon Press provoked a protest by Mr. Sheffield. The prosecutor's final question to the talesmen as to whether they were members of "the Socialist or any of those organizations" was changed by order of Judge Wadhams to "the Socialist political parties."

These men were sworn as jurors:

Jeffery Martin, salesman, 219 East 122d Street, foreman; W. Woodruff Chisum, real estate, 159 West 133d Street; George L. McElroy, architect, 150 Madison Avenue; Edward W. Christie, underwear, 209 West Ninety-eighth Street; E. Morris Lloyd, 430 West 199th Street; Frank Dunn, artist, 523 West 134th Street; John F. Schmonsees, clerk, 438 West Forty-third Street; Philip G. Dux, printer, 772 Ninth Avenue; Walter G. Pratt, manager, 249 Audubon Avenue; Sanford Makeever, mines, Hotel Majestic; Meyer A. Wagner, agent, 242 West 104th Street, and Aaron Kramer, meats, 522 Hudson Street.

In this outline of the people's case Mr. Press explained that the indictment contained two counts: First, that Tannenbaum participated in an unlawful assemblage by going to the church without the consent of the rector, and, second, that he remained in the church after he had been warned to leave by a public officer. The prosecutor read from a stenographic report of Tannenbaum's speech at Rutgers Square, which quotes him as exhorting the crowd to follow him to a church, where all could obtain food and shelter, or, failing there, they would go to a bakery shop.

The only witnesses called yesterday were Detectives Gildea and Egan. Gildea testified that he heard Tannenbaum speak at a meeting in Rutgers Square just before the invasion of the Church of St. Alphonsus.

"When Tannenbaum spoke about going to the churches," he swore, "a woman, who was pointed out to me as Jane Est, interrupted to say that blood was shed during the French Revolution when churches were entered. Tannenbaum replied: 'Yes, that is what will happen here.' Tannenbaum then asked the crowd to follow him and he would lead them to a church. I joined the crowd and marched with them."

Gegan, who accompanied Tannenbaum when he went to St. Alphonsus's rectory to ask permission for the men to spend the night in the church, testified that Father Schneider said that the men could not sleep there and that he had no money for them. The priest asked them to leave, Gegan swore, and he joined in the request, whereupon some one in the crowd said, with an imprecation: "We will not get out."

Mr. Press said that the People's case would be finished before adjournment to-night. The defense has subpoenaed many witnesses, and their testimony probably will take up three or four days.

MITCHEL WARNS THE I. W. W.

Mayor Gives Wide Latitude, but He Will Not Permit Disorder.

Mayor Mitchel said yesterday that he believed that the trouble with the I. W. W. was over. "They may have their public metings," he said, "and their speeches may have the widest latitude, but any general disorder or disturbance of the peace will not be permitted.

"The city authorities are trying to remedy the condition of the unemployed, but I understand that these people are not rightfully members of that class, for my understanding is that they wouldn't take work if they got it."

Priest Dies in Art Store.

The Rev. Father George F. Brown, rector of a Roman Catholic Church, at Morristown, N. J., died yesterday, following an attack of heart disease in Dierk's art store, 34 West Thirty-sixth Street. Father Brown had been ill for some time and had come to town with one of his parishioners in a motor car in the belief that the trip would improve his health. After his collapse in the store two physicians were called, but they failed to revive him, and the Coroner's office gave permission for the removal of the body to Morristown. Father Brown was 45 years old.

HOTEL BEATS ACTIVE.

But the Breslin Is Ahead Thus Far on One Transaction.

At some of the hotels complaint was made yesterday that an unusually large number of hotel beats have shown up lately; but if the Boston young man who appeared at the Breslin a few days ago was one of the number, the hotel is ahead of his game so far. It holds against a small account a new $40 leather bag, a brand new suit of Spring clothes and another bag filled with wearing apparel suitable for a gentleman.

When the visitor from Boston began to sign restaurant checks with a liberal hand, an effort was made to learn something about him. The local addresses he gave could not supply such information. The traveler, when questioned further, seemed much offended, and exhibited a check on a local bank, which the latter over the telephone pronounced worthless. Therefore the management felt constrained to take charge of the baggage of the traveler until it was convinced that he could pay his bill.

The Bostonian, who appeared to be not over 22 years old, protested, but the hotel detective stuck at his side all day, escorting the traveler to numerous addresses where the latter said he could easily get the money. Finding that the visitor had a new suit of clothes at a tailor's, the hotel got possession of it, and the detective promised to keep this and the luggage in good order until the hotel bill was paid.

THE EASTER SPIRIT

The Easter spirit is a spirit of newness, a spirit of out-of-doors, a spirit when "our hearts burn within us" for the very joy of living. The painters who are known as the "old masters" painted many canvases representing Bible stories. Among these the most typical Easter picture is that by the great Spanish painter, Velasquez, entitled "Christ and the Pilgrims of Emmaus." It was the first Easter Sunday. The Christ had joined the two pilgrims in their sorrowful journey from Jerusalem to the little village of Emmaus, where they dined together. The painting represents the three at the table—the three figures in marvelous contrast. The two pilgrims, anxious, uncertain, worried; the Christ, serene, untroubled, radiant. The hands of the pilgrims are so expressive that one almost hears the two men speaking. It is essentially a picture having a great human appeal. This famous picture is full color reproductions of the most noted oil paintings in the Altman Collection, all thirteen of which will be given with the EASTER NUMBER of The New York Times next Sunday. Several of these pictures are full page. "The Holy Family," by Andrea Mantegna, is a full page reproduction—a magnificent example of one of the rarest, outside of Italy, of all the great painters of the Renaissance. This picture was one of the auction room sensations of 1912, the bidding running up to nearly $150,000 before the picture was secured by Mr. Altman's representative. There are two full page Rembrandts. "The Betrothal of St. Catherine," by Memling, and "The Madonna and Child," by Duerer, are also full page reproductions—both remarkable pictures and wonderfully well done. The former at one time belonged to Sir Joshua Reynolds, and is considered one of the rarest in the Altman Collection. Thirteen pictures in all.

ONE of THIRTEEN

RECEIVERS REPORT BEST SIEGEL BIDS

$387,600 for Simpson Crawford Merchandise; $170,501 for Fourteenth St. Store's.

SEEK TO KEEP FIRST STORE

Siegel Stores Corporation Bids for All Assets of Simpson Crawford Company and Merchants' Express.

William A. Marble and John S. Sheppard, Jr., receivers for the Simpson-Crawford Company, the Fourteenth Street Store, and the Merchants' Express Company, failed enterprises of Henry Siegel and Frank E. Vogel, reported yesterday to Special Master George C. Holt, through their counsel, that they had received eighteen bids on the assets of those stores.

The receivers announced that they had accepted only two of the bids, and their action is subject to confirmation by the United States District Court, to which all the bids are to be submitted, at 10 o'clock this morning. At that time an effort is to be made to adjust or compromise the claims of different interests in order to avoid the expense of litigation.

The report of the receivers was made at 2 o'clock in the assembly room of the Merchants' Association in the Woolworth Building, and dealt separately with the parcels defined in the decree of sale issued by the court on March 11.

No bids were received on Parcels 1 and 2, which represented, respectively, the Simpson Crawford Company store and the Fourteenth Street Store in their entirety. For the merchandise of the Simpson Crawford store a bid of $387,600 was received from Gimbel Brothers, and that was the highest of three bids. It was accepted by the receivers, subject to confirmation by the court. For the accounts receivable of the Simpson Crawford Company, O'Neill-Adams offered $231,000, but the receivers did not announce their decision on that bid.

The net cost of the stock in the sixty-one departments of the Simpson Crawford store, according to inventories, was $581,340, with book value of $838,000. The accountants also showed that the net accounts receivable amounted to $538,399.43.

On behalf of O'Neill-Adams, John Claflin announced that in the event the bid of that concern for the accounts receivable of the Simpson Crawford Company was accepted, O'Neill-Adams would turn over the accounts receivable at the purchase price should there be a reorganization of the Simpson Crawford Company.

For the merchandise of the Fourteenth Street Store, $170,501 was bid by Steinfeld & Co., and in all there were three bids for that parcel. The net cost of the stock in the seventy departments of the Fourteenth Street Store was reported as $406,716.

Depositors Refuse Offer.

Following the report of the receivers there was a meeting of a committee of the depositors to discuss the bids, and also to consider an offer from the Creditors' Committee. The mercantile and bank creditors, through the Creditors' Committee, offered to pay $225,000 for the claims of the depositors against the Fourteenth Street and Simpson Crawford stores. It was pointed out that the depositors might expect to receive additionally perhaps $75,000 for an assignment of their claims against the Boston store.

John P. Murray of Coudert Brothers, representing more than 800 depositors, said that the offer was not acceptable, and he explained that the depositors thought they ought to get $325,000 for their claims against all three stores.

Special precautions will be taken to prevent any disturbance on the part of the depositors at the hearing this morning. The depositors, who once before started a riot in the corridors of the Federal Building, have been urged to be at the hearing in any event. They have been informed that there is room for at least 600 of them, whereas the room in which the hearing is to be held will accommodate scarcely 150. United States Marshal Henkel has been instructed to admit the depositors and others until they fill the room, and the rest will be barred.

The report of the receivers yesterday read:

> We have received no bids on Parcels 1 or 2. We have received in all eighteen bids.
>
> The highest bid for Parcel 3 was made by E. D. and J. D. Stein, in the sum of $45,000. This is the assets of the Merchants' Express Company. This bid is accepted by us, subject to confirmation by the court. Four bids in all were received for this parcel.
>
> On Parcel 4 we have received three bids, Parcel 4 being the merchandise of the Simpson Crawford Company. The highest is that of Gimbel Brothers, $387,600. This bid we accepted, subject to confirmation by the court.
>
> The only bid for Parcel 5, being the fixtures of the Simpson Crawford Company, is $15,000. This bid, by Van Praag & Co. we do not accept, but it will be reported to the court for such action as the court may take.
>
> For Parcel 6, being the accounts receivable of the Simpson Crawford Company, we have received four bids. The highest bid is that of the O'Neill-Adams Company, $231,000. The receivers will not announce any decision in reference to acceptance or rejection of this bid until they report to the court to-morrow, and until that time reserve the right to accept or reject such bid, and further reserve such right until the final action of the court thereon.
>
> For Parcel 7, being the merchandise of the Fourteenth Street Store, there were three bids. The highest is the bid of Steinfeld & Co., $170,501. The receivers will not announce any decision in reference to acceptance or rejection of this bid until they report to the court to-morrow, and until that time reserve the right to accept or reject such bid and reserve such right until final action of the court thereon.
>
> There was received one bid for Parcel 8 by Joseph Feldstein of $27,500. Parcel 8 is the fixtures of the Fourteenth Street Store. The receivers will not announce any decision in reference to acceptance or rejection of this bid until they report to the court to-morrow, and until that time and until final action of the court thereon reserve the right to accept or reject such bid. 8 were more than the said bid of Karp cels 7 and 8 together, being the merchandise and fixtures of the Fourteenth Street Store, by Karp Brothers, of $185,000, which bid we have rejected, both because the bids received separately for Parcels 7 and 8 were more than the said bid or Karp Brothers, and, further, for the reason that the said bid was not in accordance with the terms of the sale.
>
> For Parcel 9, being the accounts receivable of the Fourteenth Street Store, we have received a bid from William L. Gibney, of $9,000, which bid has been rejected.
>
> We have received one bid under Parcel 10, by the Siegel Stores Corporation, for all the assets of the Simpson-Crawford Company and the Merchants' Express Company. The terms of this bid will be stated by counsel and will be submitted to the United States District Court at a hearing to-morrow. The acceptance of the bids hereinabove referred to being the bids for Parcels 3 and 4, are subject to confirmation of the court and also subject to whatever action the court takes under this bid for Parcel 10.

Bid of the Siegel Stores.

The bid for parcel 10 was submitted on behalf of the Siegel Stores Corporation by C. H. Williams, formerly Superintendent of the Simpson Crawford Store, and Robert G. McMeekin, Secretary of the Siegel Stores Corporation. The bid was submitted on condition that all inside claims against the Simpson Crawford Company should be compromised. The bid read in part:

> The Siegel Stores Corporation, on behalf of a corporation, hereinafter called the "new company," to be organized under the laws of the State of New York or elsewhere, submits the following bid for all the assets of the Simpson Crawford Company and the Merchants' Express Company, under Parcel 10 of the decree of sale, dated March 11, 1914, in view of having their business continued at their present location and by tho new company. The bid is submitted on the following conditions:
> 1. That the receiver of Henry Siegel & Co., bankers, will enter into an agreement with the receivers of the Simpson Crawford Company not later than March 25, 1914, for the compromise adjustment and discharge of all claims held by the receiver of Henry Siegel & Co., bankers, and by the creditors and depositors of the bank against the said Simpson Crawford store upon the payment to the first-named receiver of a sum satisfactory to the undersigned and said respective receivers, and that said compromise so agreed upon shall be consummated and said compromise also to include the release and discharge of all claims of every kind which Henry Siegel and F. E. Vogel individually and their receivers have against the said Simpson Crawford Company.
>
> 2. That the Siegel Cooper Company and Henry Siegel & Co., wholesale, as creditors of the Simpson Crawford Company and the holders of 75 per cent. in amount of the indebtedness other than to the two creditors, will accept the security offered under Option 1 of this bid.
>
>
> We agree to pay the expenses of administration.
>
> We agree to pay the creditors of the Simpson Crawford Company 80 per cent. of the principal of their claims—20 per cent. in 7 per cent. preferred stock of the Siegel Stores Corporation, 30 per cent. in second preferred stock, and 30 per cent. in common stock.

It was pointed out that the terms in Option No. 1 showed that the mercantile creditors had received an offer of a cash payment of 20 per cent. on condition that the inside claims were compromised and on the further condition that the mercantile creditors agree to accept security for the 80 per cent. balance, as proposed in the option.

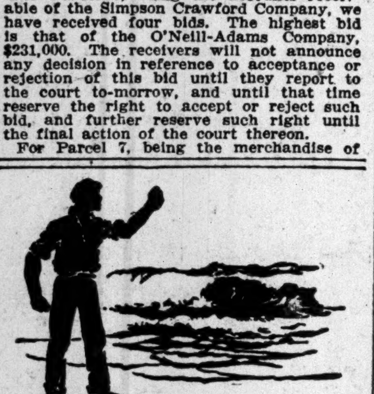
The additional options were unavailable yesterday because transcripts of them were being hurried for presentation to the court this morning.

Henry Melville, receiver of the bank, has been instructed to refund a deposit of $23 made by Harry Greenberg on Dec. 29, the day on which the bank was closed. Greenberg on March 13 filed a petition in which he asked that cause be shown why his money should not be returned to him. The petitioner recited that deposits were received by the bank on the day that the equity proceedings were instituted and for several days succeeding, these deposits having been segregated. United States District Judge Hough yesterday signed an order indorsing the petition of Greenberg.

To-morrow morning at 10 o'clock Henry Siegel will be examined before United States Commissioner Alexander Gilchrist.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Frank E. Vogel, partner of Henry Siegel, who has been ill in Chicago, is expected to be able to appear in the Federal Court in New York on Monday. Reports that his condition was critical were denied here to-day. Mr. Vogel is at the home of Mrs. Edward Morris, 4,800 Drexel Boulevard. Dr. Emanuel Friend, who is attending him, said to-day that he believed the patient would be sufficiently recovered to travel to New York by Sunday.



Here's a Fight, Blow on Blow, as the whole town looks on—and fights, too—in "Storm," the new novel by Wilbur Daniel Steele, just published. "Storm" is for every woman and man in whose make-up there is an ounce of romance. For "Storm" is a romance of the courage of fishermen, of the patience of women, of the terrors of the sea and the eternal beauty and lure of it, of a woman whose loveliness cost the lives of men. "Storm" is a tale of smuggling and bloodshed, of dreams and love. The author has found a new field where southern fire and northern endurance are blended in the characters as the land and the sea merge into each other in the setting. For "Storm" lives up to its colorful title.

FRENCH MANNEQUINS FINISH THEIR TOUR

CHICAGO TOOK TO EXTREMES

While Philadelphia and Boston Had Distinct Shocks—Praise for American Women.

Mme. Henri Joire, who returned on Monday from a tour that embraced Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, and Boston, gathered some lively impressions of those cities. Mm. Joire, who is the sister-in-law of Mme. Paquin of Paris, and who brought over 100 models of Paquin Spring frocks and exhibited them several weeks ago in the Ritz-Carlton ballroom, showed the same gowns on the same French and American mannequins to the inhabitants of the cities mentioned, and the results were different in each.

The Philadelphians, according to Mme. Joire, were surprised and even shocked when the backless gowns were shown them. When they looked the second time, they applauded in appreciation. Pittsburgh greeted the exhibition with something like awe, and the women who wore subdued colors exhibited a lively interest in the bright colorings of the costumes shown. Chicago took at once to the "extreme" gowns. Boston was no less shocked than Philadelphia, and though the spectators were dignified about showing it, they did a lot of commenting.

Mme. Joire held an "at-home" yesterday afternoon at the Ritz-Carlton, and read a little address in English, in which she paid compliments and told how much she had enjoyed herself everywhere during her first visit to this country. She will sail for home next Saturday on the Olympic. Two of the mannequins left yesterday morning, and two will sail to-day.

Mme. Joire said she had been impressed in Chicago with the number of women who not only wore stylish clothes, but knew how to wear them well.

"Some of them appeared even better in Paris modes than many French women wearing the same styles," added Mme. Joire. In Boston, where the visitor was surprised to find the modern dancing little indulged in in public restaurants, many women expressed their appreciation that the slit skirt had been eliminated from the Paquin frocks.

The French girls that Mme. Joire brought over, and who were accompanied by two American girls, had some difficulty in accommodating themselves to the requirements of an American sleeping car. In France, of course, sleeping cars are all divided into compartments. On their first night out the girls could not be persuaded that some foreign head might not appear at the curtains. Two of them, as a result, occupied one lower berth, but neither slept a wink, so says one of the historians of the trip.

In Chicago, whenever Mme. Joire or one of the mannequins appeared on the street she would be surrounded by a dozen or more persons. The mannequins wore their colored wigs to the theatre and shared interest with the performance.

"I have been especially struck with the splendid service in American hotels," said Mme. Joire yesterday. "Indeed, Europeans can learn much over here about running hotels and railroads.

"Of course, it is well known the world over that American women are beautiful, but I was especially impressed at finding there are so many pretty girls not only in society, but in the shops and among people not of the society kind. It is remarkable, too, how pretty an American girl can make herself on a comparatively small outlay of money. Many of them have the knack of making themselves look 'chic' in a simple, inexpensive costume which in many cases has been made at home.

"Clothes do not necessarily make the woman. The most beautiful Paris 'creation' may have its entire effect spoiled by its wearer not knowing how to carry it. Fashionable American women, as a class, do know how to carry themselves, and they certainly make their apparel appear to the best advantage."

Charles Koenigswerther, New York representative of the Paquin firm, accompanied the party on the tour. Mr. Koenigswerther had in his charge a company of fifteen persons, including a man for setting up the stage.

Horse Owners Say His Slowness Emboldens Horse Poisoners.

The slowness of the District Attorney's office in bringing to trial various men indicted for horse poisoning was criticised at a meeting last night at Eldridge and Rivington Streets of the Horse Owners' Protective Association. Morse M. Frankel, Secretary of the association, said four men arrested last May on evidence furnished by the association were still at large on nominal bail with no date set for their trials, while David Kalhofer, formerly President of the association, and his partner, Max Swirsky, when arrested last Fall were rushed to trial within a month.

The charge against Kalhofer and Swirsky, who are manufacturers of ice cream, was poisoning horses belonging to a rival firm. They were convicted last December and sentenced to Sing Sing, but last night Justice Cohalan granted their application to be let out on bail on a certificate of reasonable doubt. The association asserts that the charges against them were the result of a "frame-up" by professional poisoners possessed of political influence whom the association was trying to convict.

It was said, moreover, that the slowness in bringing these professionals to trial was responsible for the recent outbreak of horse stealing and horse poisoning, both of which had been reduced to a minimum on the lower east side until very recently. Within two weeks sixty-eight horses and wagons have been stolen, and last Sunday morning seven horses belonging to Morris Donnenfeld of 246 Eldridge Street were found poisoned. The association attributes these crimes to members of the old gangs, who have recovered their courage on account of the slowness of prosecution and the apparent success of their threat to "get" Kalhofer.

GIRLS HURT IN FIRE PANIC.

Lace Factory in Receiver's Hands Destroyed.

Fire destroed the large factory of Bernstein & Greenman Brothers, manufacturers of lace and embroideries, 757-767 Wythe Avenue, Williamsburg, yesterday, involving a loss of $70,000. The firm had been in the hands of a receiver for several weeks. The only person on the premises when the fire was discovered was Abraham Wash, night watchman and custodian for the receiver.

Directly opposite is the big factory of the American Tobacco Company, and hundreds of young women and girls had already arrived preparatory to beginning work. As smoke enveloped the building from the factory fire opposite the women thought their own plant was afire, and there was a panic. Many in their haste to get out fell and were trampled upon.

PASTOR IS SUSPENDED.

Commission Finds the Rev. J. R. Ellis Guilty of Misconduct.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 24.—The Rev. John R. Ellis, former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Bloomington, Ind., has been found guilty and suspended as a minister of the church in the United States, by a commission of the Indiana Presbytery. The charges against Mr. Ellis concerned a number of women in Bloomington. The names of the women and the exact nature of the charges were not made public.

In the verdict the commission recommended that Mr. Ellis spend a year in recuperation out of doors, indicating that it was of the opinion that he was guilty only of such conduct as might be caused by a nervous and mental collapse.

After the charges were filed against him, Mr. Ellis resigned as pastor at Bloomington and spent several weeks in a New York sanitarium. He denied the charges, and it is said that he will appeal to the synod.

UNTERMYER TELLS OF OLD FLOTATION

Senate Committee Informed There Was Nothing Irregular in Straw Paper Financing.

AN OLD STORY REVAMPED

No Possible Bearing on His Activities for Stock Exchange Reform, He Says—Denies Any Animus.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Samuel Untermyer of New York has presented to the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency, which is considering the bill for the regulation of the New York Stock Exchange based on the Pujo report, a communication which he termed "a personal explanation" and which dealt mainly with the Columbia Straw Paper Company matter brought up before the committee at a recent hearing on the bill. Mr. Untermyer's statement amplified the information he gave at the hearing, saying in part:

"The transactions in question about which I was interrogated and on account of which the discussion on the bill was suspended occurred twenty-three years ago. It had reference to my relations and those of my then law firm with the organization and flotation of the securities of the Columbia Straw Paper Company in 1891. It had not the remotest bearing on the subject matter of the bill, which I appeared before you to explain at the request of your Chairman.

Apart from the fact that there was nothing wrong, irregular, unusual or the subject of just criticism, connected with the business referred to and that, based upon the representations upon which my money was secured and upon the amounts that were paid to the owners of the property, the capital was more moderate and the stock issued for good-will was less than in almost any of the companies organized during that period and since that time, my connection with the business consisted of my having been defrauded out of a large sum of money by representations as to the property. Both the bonds, for which I paid par in cash and the stock bonus that went with them proved worthless, and I and my partners lost over $400,000 of our money, besides our pay for services, which we had elected to take in bonds and stocks instead of cash.

It also happens that the securities were never listed on any Stock Exchange, that none of us sold or offered for sale to the public a dollar of our holdings, that we at no time ever parted with any part of the investment, and that we and our friends held them to the last and bore our losses.

The same story was again rehearsed on the floor of the House and published all over the country last year while I was acting as counsel for the Pujo Committee, in one of the many efforts that was made at that time to distract attention from the exposures in the course of the investigation. It was also stated at the time that the inquiry had cost $250,000, when in fact the total cost was less than $60,000, and that I had been paid $15,000, but it was not stated that I had personally expended over $20,000 of my own money as against the $15,000 paid my firm for my services of eight months.

Among the many canards that have been circulated from time to time as alleged reasons for my activity it has been intimated that I have a grievance against the Exchange because of alleged losses sustained by me in speculation on the Exchange.

It has made no difference that (1) I have never speculated; (2) was never concerned in selling a share of stock short in my life; (3) have never had a controversy either on my own behalf or for clients with the Exchange; (4) have had no grievance or occasion for any against the Exchange or anybody connected with it, have many friends among its membership and that I am interested only in the constructive character of the measure, which in my judgment will greatly enhance the power of the Exchange as a legitimate part of our financial system. No greater service could be performed for the Exchange than the enactment of this legislation. The rumors, however, still persist and I suppose they always will, so long as this controversy lasts and they can be made to serve their intended purpose.

HEARST WINS NOISE SUIT.

New York Central Must Not Switch Cars Near 86th Street.

Supreme Court Justice Philbin permanently enjoined the New York Central Railroad Company yesterday from using that portion of its tracks between Seventy-second and Eighty-sixth Streets and Riverside Drive as a switching station. The complaint was made by William R. Hearst, who testified on Dec. 16 last that the continual noise made it impossible for him to sleep, in spite of the fact that he tried to keep out the racket by double windows. Mr. Hearst owns the building where he lives, on the south side of Eighty-sixth Street at Riverside Drive, and his tenants complained to him of the noise.

Justice Philbin in his opinion said that the plaintiff was entitled to judgment to enjoin the defendant from using its tracks for switching and as a storage yard or terminal and from using soft coal on its locomotives in front of or in the vicinity of the plaintiff's premises. He referred to the complaint that said that the tracks between Seventy-ninth and Eighty-sixth Streets were used to stall trains, to break them up, and to classify them according to their destinations; that there are hundreds of movements of these trains, resulting in noise, puffing and escape of steam, slipping of wheels, ringing of bells, shouting of orders, and crashing together of cars.

The complaint also said that some of the cars carried livestock and that the odor from these cars was very unpleasant. Justice Philbin said that the annoyance complained of constituted a nuisance.

RECEIVER FOR BUILDERS.

Bankruptcy Petition Is Filed Against F. T. Nesbit & Co., Inc.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday against F. T. Nesbit & Co., Incorporated, building contractors, of 116 Nassau Street, by Weschler & Kohn, who represented these three creditors: Candee, Smith & Howland, $800; Adam Happel, $174, and Alexander Aaronson, $3. Judge Hough yesterday appointed Alfred L. Rose receiver, with a bond of $15,000, and authorized him to continue the business for thirty days.

Walter T. Kohn of Weschler & Kohn said that the liabilities were about $275,000 and the quick assets $75,000, but in addition to this the firm owned much real estate, the value of which was unknown. This is situated in Manhattan, Brooklyn, Albany, and in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The absence of cash to meet bills falling due is said to have caused the filing of the petition.

Among the contracts which the concern has on hand is the construction of a $1,000,000 power house for the United Electric Light and Power Company at 201st Street and the Harlem River, and another large building at Charleston, West Va. In the last few years the company has executed a number of large contracts in Washington, among them being the one for $450,000. Frederick T. Nesbit started the business in 1900, and it was incorporated on March 30, 1906, with $100,000 capital stock, Mr. Nesbit being the President.

LIFE SENTENCES FOR FOURTH OFFENDERS

Commissioner McKay Has New Plan for Ridding New York of Criminals.

WHITMAN TO CO-OPERATE

Maximum Terms Also to be Asked for Second and Third Offenses—Preparing Two Cases.

Police Commissioner McKay, through Second Deputy Commissioner Rubin, served notice on the underworld yesterday that habitual criminals must either leave the city or expect the worst if caught in the police net in the future. Fourth offenders under the law can be sentenced to imprisonment for life on conviction of a felony. Deputy Commissioner Rubin let it be known that he was in favor of sending all such criminals to Sing Sing for life.

The announcement was made following a conference between District Attorney Whitman and Mr. Rubin. Shortly afterward the evidence against two notorious safe blowers was in the District Attorney's hands. The cases will probably go to the Grand Jury to-day and indictments are expected. If convictions are obtained, according to the plan, the District Attorney will request the trial Judges to send the prisoners away for life.

According to oldtimers at Police Headquarters no equally effective plan for ridding New York of crooks was ever evolved. It was pointed out that criminals generally expect to spend some time behind the bars, but that there is not a crook living who does not fear life imprisonment.

While the fourth offender will suffer most under the new plan, word also went out yesterday that the lines would be tightened on second and third offenders. Mr. Rubin, at the line-up, told the assembled detectives that he expected every second offender to be brought before him in the future. The Deputy Commissioner will keep a record of every case, and if an indictment is found the court will be asked to impose maximum sentences. Third offenders will be similarly treated.

The first crooks likely to get maximum terms are Caesar Zekka, alias Caesar Crispie, and Harry Sharlot. Crispie, as the prisoner prefers to be called, was caught red-handed in a jewelry shop on the Bowery a few weeks ago after a hard gun fight. In a statement to the police he boasted that he would have got away if his supply of bullets had not been exhausted. Crispie was arrested for burglary in 1896 and served three years in Sing Sing; he was rearrested for burglary in 1899, but the case against him was dismissed. He was arrested again in 1899 and got a suspended sentence. In 1900 he served thirty days for unlawful entry, and when he was released he was sent to Sing Sing for two years on another job. After his release he committed another burglary and was again sent up the river for two years. In 1911 he served six months for unlawful entry. His last arrest was made on March 4. He is suspected of having had a part in the $250,000 Hester Street pawnshop burglary last year.

Sharlot served a six months' term in the penitentiary for petty larceny in 1906. He spent six months in the workhouse in 1908 on the same offense, and was sent to Sing Sing for two years in 1909 for burglary. He was in the penitentiary all of last year for burglary, and was arrested on the last occasion on March 17 for picking pockets.

CARNATION DAY AT SHOW.

Silver Medal Awarded for New White Variety.

Twenty thousand cut carnations of all colors, with stems as long as American Beauty roses, were the special feature yesterday at the International Flower Show at the Grand Central Palace. The competitions were managed by the American Carnation Society and the leading private growers of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York were represented. The cut carnations stood for an investment of $20,000,000 in gardens and greenhouses.

Two private growers had notable successes in bulbous classes. Mrs. D. Willis James of Madison, N. J., and Manhattan, won the special prize for the best collection of not less than twenty-five bulbs in bloom, while Mrs. A. M. Booth of Great Neck won four first prizes with her tulips, hyacinths, and narcissi.

The silver medal of the American Carnation Society for the best new variety was awarded to a magnificent white specimen called the Matchless, exhibited by the Cottage Gardens Company of Queens, L. I. The most conspicuous winners in cut carnations among the private growers were George Mason of Tuxedo Park, Winthrop Sargent of Peekskill, Daniel G. Reid of Irvington, Miss C. A. Bliss of New Canaan, Conn.; John Wanamaker of Wyncote, Penn., and H. M. Tilford of Tuxedo Park.

This will be sweet pea day in the cut flower competitions, and the classes will be managed by the American Sweet Pea Society, of which William Sim is President.

BULGARIANS NEED HELP.

Red Cross Appeals for Refugees Who Cannot Return to Their Homes.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Theodore T. Holway, Chairman of the American Relief Committee of Bulgaria, who has just made a tour through the Nevrocope, Strumitza, Petritch, and Melnik districts, reports to the Red Cross a pressing need for food and clothing and all necessaries of life.

"The people," says Mr. Holway's report, "were exceedingly disheartened, brooding over their sorrow and restlessly awaiting the time when in some way they can return to their former homes. This hope would seem in vain, from the fact that the men are refused admission into Greek and Servian territory, while even the women who seek to return to their former homes are turned back after being maltreated and robbed.

"Moreover, I was told that the Bulgarians in Greek territory are being drafted for the Greek Army, and sent to the islands to serve. It is greatly to be hoped that the Government will deal promptly and effectively with the problem of settling the refugees."

BIG PROFITS FROM VICE.

Maier and Dubelier, on Trial for Bribery, Deny Having Paid Police.

At the trial of David Maier and Charles Dubelier, who are charged with bribery in connection with the Curran Committee's investigation, Dubelier admitted yesterday before Justice Davis in the Criminal Term of the Supreme Court that his profits from a disorderly resort, of which he was the owner, were $200 a week, although he was never on the premises.

Maier admitted that he owned disorderly resorts for twelve years. Dubelier said that his interest in such places extended over a period of four years. Both insisted that during that time they never paid a cent of money to the police.

The two defendants were charged by Mrs. Mary Goode, who was a witness before the Curran committee, with offering $50 to Charles Muller for a denial on his part of certain testimony which Mrs. Goode gave in the investigation. The trial will be continued to-day.

GRAPPLE IN RIVER FOR BOY.

Now Believe Warren McCarrick May Have Drowned While at Play.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—On the theory that Warren McCarrick, the seven-year-old boy who has been missing from his home here for nearly two weeks, was drowned in the Schuylkill, the police to-day began grappling the bottom of the river. Many believe that the boy, while playing along the river bank, accidentally fell in.

Four men who were arrested in New Jersey on suspicion of knowing something concerning the whereabouts of the boy were released from custody to-day.

STOLEN $10,000 PUT IN BANK

Union Trust Seeks to Restrain Bank from Paying It Out.

The confession of Joseph T. White, formerly bookkeeper of the Plaza branch of the Union Trust Company, who stole $10,098.28 from the company and gambled it away on race horses, was submitted to Justice Weeks of the Supreme Court yesterday in a suit to restrain the Greenwich Bank from paying the money to William Meyers, who deposited it, or to anybody else pending the court proceedings.

White said he paid the money to Meyers to bet on horse races and lost all of it. The trust company sued the bank, making Meyers a co-defendant. Attorney Jesse S. Epstein, who appeared for the bank, told the court that the bank did not care to whom it paid the money so long as it was properly protected in its transactions.

Justice Weeks reserved decision.

M'GRAW PICKS NINE FOR PENNANT RACE

Stock and Hearne the Only Recruits Selected for Regular Places on Team.

Special to The New York Times.

MARLIN, Texas, March 24.—The next to the last day of the Giants in Marlin was cold and rainy. The sessions were devoted to routine practice, which went along with spirit, notwithstanding the inclemency. In the evening the annual ball which the Giants give to Marlin friends took place, and, although the day's work had been brisk, those Giants who dance worshipped at the shrine of Terpsichore with unabated zest.

The homeward trip of the Giants will begin to-morrow night, the party traveling in two divisions until they reunite in Boone, April 12. The first team goes from here to Galveston for two games and the fledglings to Austin for a couple of combats. While the regulars are making Beaumont, New Orleans, Mobile, Chattanooga, and Baltimore in turn, the second team will be wending its way north as follows: March 28 and 29, San Antonio; 30, Denison; 31, Sherman; April 1, Bonham; 2, Paris; 3, Texarkana; 4, 5, and 6, Memphis; 7, Nashville; 8, Knoxville; 9, Asheville; 10, Richmond; 11, Portsmouth.

Manager McGraw has divided the two teams as follows:

Regulars—Mathewson, Marquard, Tesreau, Demaree, Fromme, Schupp, and Hearne, pitchers; Meyers and McLean, catchers; Merkle, Doyle, Fletcher, Snodgrass, and Stock, infielders; Burns, Bescher, and Murray, outfielders.

Second team—Wiltse, Schauer, Palmero, Williams, Ritter, Herring, and Westerwick, pitchers; Johnson and Cotter, catchers; Donlin, Prieste, Dyer, and Grant, infielders; Piez, Thorpe, and Harrison, outfielders.

Donlin will be in charge of the second team, and will play first base as soon as his spiked corn is sufficiently healed. Wiltse will cover first when Mike is on the bench. The second team is principally a young blood array, but a team capable of giving a good account of itself. Grant, Donlin, and Wiltse are the only veterans of the lot.

The present make-up of the first team is a forecast of the pennant race personnel, and is a pretty good forecast. Recruits figure not at all. Bescher is the only newcomer, and he is not a young blood. Hearne and Schupp were with the team last year and Stock was with the Giants last Spring. Physically the regulars are in good shape to begin the polishing-up process of the Northern flight, but several of them are handicapped by local injuries.

Fletcher is able to go back to his regular place. He played there to-day, but he wore a mitt. His finger is still too tender for him to risk wearing a finger glove. Bescher's weak ankle may keep him on the bench for a while, in which case Snodgrass will take centre and Stock cover third. Snodgrass also is a cripple for a while. He stepped on a broken bottle in Corsicana and cut his foot. He took batting practice to-day, but did no fielding. McLean has a sore leg, a sore arm, and a sore chest. Larry, who has been working hard and is fit, outside the sore spots, has stopped several pitched balls and foul tips in the localities designated, and the result, discolorations, make him the largest tattooed man extant.

A Giant recruit this afternoon was one Duffy, a pitcher, who lives in Minneapolis and works in Texas. McGraw gave him a try-out in the box. Whether he is a potential Walter Johnson, McGraw did not say, but in size he is a whale.

YALE NINE'S TRIP SOUTH.

Coach Quinby Selects Ball Players to Go to Virginia.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 24.—Coach Frank Quinby of the Yale baseball nine to-day picked the squad which will leave here in two weeks for the Easter trip, which will include four games at Norfolk, Va., and one at Charlottesville. Twenty players will be taken, including three catchers and six pitchers. The list follows:

Catchers, Hunter, Shear and Mudge; pitchers, Gile, Stevens, Brown, Watrous, Way and Handy; first base, Hovey and Swihart; second base, Cornish and Harpham; shortstop, Capt. Jack Blossom; third base, John Reilly; outfield, Falsey, Hanes, Vaughn and Lou Middlebrook.

Hunter was substitute catcher last year. Shear and Mudge were freshman stars. Stevens, Way, Watrous, and Handy are newcomers as pitchers. Watrous was very effective for the freshmen last year. Swihart was substitute first baseman last year. Hovey is especially promising. Harpham has been substitute infielder for two years. In the outfield Vaughn and Hanes are new. Hanes formerly played on a Southern college nine, Vaughn with Exeter.

SEATON GOES TO CHICAGO.

Tinker Trades Four Players for Brooklyn Federal Pitcher.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Four players, including Cad Coles, outfielder, will be added to the Brooklyn Federal League Club as part of the deal by which Tom Seaton, formerly Philadelphia National pitcher, is transferred to the Chicago Federals.

This news was contained in dispatches to-day from Shreveport, La., the training camp of Manager Tinker's team. One of the four whom Chicago will give is a young pitcher, according to Tinker. Coles was to play right field for Chicago. In his place, Tinker purposes to put Ed. Zwilling.

Brooklyn Federals Barely Win.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 24.—The Brooklyn Federals split into two squads to-day, Manager Bradley taking a team of veterans over to Duewest for a game with Erskine College, while "Hap" Myers directed the colts at this place. Bradley's veterans experienced great difficulty in downing the Collegians, and it was not until the ninth inning that either side scored. Then Danny Murphy singled with Jim Delehanty on second, and the latter tore over the plate with the only score of the game. Watkins, Lafitte, and Marion twirled for the Tip Tops, and each allowed a single hit during his time on the mound. Erskine's stubborn fight came as a complete surprise to the Federals, who in their previous exhibition game scored fifteen runs. In to-day's affair Bradley's men piled up nine hits, but poor base running was the cause of the close contest. The score:

Federal Schedule Adopted.

BALTIMORE, March 24.—The Federal Baseball League magnates in session here to-day ratified the schedule of playing dates prepared by a special committee and adjourned without making the schedule public beyond the opening dates, which are as follows: Buffalo at Baltimore, April 13; Brooklyn at Pittsburgh, April 14; Chicago at Kansas City, and Indianapolis at St. Louis, April 16. President Gilmore said that the full schedule, which provides for 154 games, will be announced in about a week.

President R. B. Ward of the Brooklyn Club, before leaving for home to-day disclosed a profit-sharing plan for the players of his club. Each player will have an ownership in the club proportionate to the salary he receives. Shares of common stock will be set aside for the men as a bonus, and when dividends are declared they will profit the same as the original holders of stock.

Federal League President Here.

President James A. Gilmore of the Federal League arrived in New York last evening, coming from Baltimore with President Robert B. Ward and Treasurer Walter S. Ward at the close of the schedule meeting there. President Gilmore's visit here is principally to view the work going on at Washington Park, the home of the Brooklyn Tip Tops.

WHEAT SAVES SUPERBAS.

Sensational Catch in Ninth Inning Prevents Chattanooga Winning.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 24.—The Superbas came near being defeated here to-day by "Moose" McCormick's players at Andrew's Field. A catch by Wheat in the ninth inning, about a foot from the ground, saved the game. The score: Brooklyn, 3; Chattanooga, 2.

The Superbas did not hit the ball nearly as well as in the exhibition games in Augusta. This, however, was due somewhat to the long ride, the train being nearly two hours late. This made it necessary for the players to jump right into their uniforms and drive to the park. Only five minutes of preliminary practice was indulged in.

With the score a tie at 2 to 2 in the seventh inning, the Dodgers barely managed to put over the winning run. Catcher McCarty, who relieved Fischer, opened the inning with single to centre, reached second on a passed ball and scored on two outs.

The feature was the two splendid catches by Zach Wheat. In the second inning he had to back up to the fence to get the ball. His other catch was off the bat of Harry McCormick, who replaced Pitcher Killingsworth in the ninth inning, with men on second and third bases. This catch saved the game for Brooklyn.

Six hundred soldiers from the Eleventh Cavalry stationed at Fort Oglethorpe nearly filled the left side of the grand stand. Their band played before the game.

Daubert, Miller and Stengel were out of the line-up. Stengel hurt his back in yesterday's game, and this morning Miller awoke on the train with a sore throat. Daubert is still suffering from a spiked finger he received in Augusta last week.

Another game will be played here to-morrow, after which the team will go to Knoxville for one game. The score:

Baseball Guides Out.

The thirty-eighth annual number of Spalding's Official Baseball Guide made its appearance yesterday. The contents of the Guide include the usual editorials on important subjects connected with the game, an account of the recent tour around the world of the Giants and White Sox, the world's series of 1913, reviews of the season in the National, American, and leading minor leagues. More alterations in the playing rules have been made this year than for many seasons past and deserve a careful study by all players. This year's issue surpasses all previous ones in the extent of illustrations, full page groups being shown of all the National and American League Clubs, and over one hundred and fifty action pictures of leading players of both organizations, in addition to scenes taken during the world's series and the playing season of both leagues. Group pictures of many prominent minor league clubs are also shown.

Reach's Official Baseball Guide for 1914 was published yesterday and gives a complete review of the American League's thirteenth eventful season as a major league, the records and averages for 1913, and a synopsis of all remarkable American League pitching feats. The world's series between the Athletics and Giants is treated exhaustively together with National League race and incidents in connection with it and a number of special articles treating on the national game. The guide also contains the revised and correct new uniform Playing Rules Code for 1914, (with all changes noted in statistics for instant recognition,) together with the 1914 championship schedules of the American League, National League, and various important minor leagues.

Cady Declines Rich Federal Offer.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 24.—Cady, the Boston American League catcher, announced to-night that he had refused a Federal League offer of $12,500 a year and a bonus of $5,000 to sign with the Pittsburgh Club of the new league. Cady already has signed a Boston contract.

No announcement was made to-day as to whether the temporary injunction obtained yesterday by the Pittsburgh National League Club management against S. H. Camnitz and another Federal League agent, described as "John Doe," will be contested. The order issued in Chancery Court restrained Camnitz and "John Doe" from communicating with any member of the Pittsburgh club. It is said several Federal League representatives are in Hot Springs.

NINTH INNING RALLY WINS FOR YANKEES

Catcher Gossett Turns an Ankle While Catching in Game at Memphis.

Special to The New York Times.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 24.—While the Yankees went through a ninth inning rally that won the game for them against the Turtles here to-day by the score of 5 to 3, Dick Gossett, the catcher, met with an injury which may keep him out of the game until the club returns home, if not longer. Gossett in the fifth inning, while getting set to make a throw to second base, turned his left ankle. He went through the game until the ninth round and then had to retire in favor of Bill Reynolds. Gossett could not walk and had to be carried to the car by "Doc" Barrett, the trainer.

With the score standing 3 to 2 in favor of Mike Finn's Memphis club as the New Yorkers went to the bat for their last turn, Holden came across with a hard drive to left field for a double. Gilhooley then beat out a pretty bunt in front of the plate, Holden racing to the third corner. Peckinpaugh then singled over second base, sending Holden across the plate with the tying run. Gossett advanced Gilhooley to third and Peckinpaugh to second with a sacrifice. Pieh then went out on a tap to the pitcher, but Gilhooley came home when Morrison threw to first, when he could have nailed the New York right fielder at the plate. Maisel then beat out a hot one to short by swift base running, and the Yankee shortstop tallied.

The Yankees could do nothing with the pitching of Liebhardt, a former member of the Cleveland pitching staff. The latter had a moist ball that had the New Yorks puzzled for the five innings he was on the mound. Two hits were all the New Yorkers accumulated in that time. The feature play of the Yankees' game was when Roy Hartzell stole home in the sixth inning, his run putting New York on even terms with the Turtles. Criss walked in this inning, and Maisel singled to right. Hartzell got a hit when Morrison got the ball, but did not know where to throw it, and Hartzell beat the play to first, filling the bases. Walsh then hit to the third sacker and Criss was thrown out at the plate.

The Memphis receiver then whipped the ball to first base to make a double play, but did not get his man, and while this was going on Maisel showed some lightning work on the base paths when he scored all the way from second, making a fine slide to the plate. Hartzell then stole home, while Morrison took a big wind-up, Hartzell also making a pretty slide to the plate. That was the end of the New Yorks' scoring until the ninth inning.

Memphis put over a run in the first inning. Coyle singled and went to second when Norcott went out on a tap to the pitcher. Stark hit to left for a base hit, scoring Coyle. The home club secured a run in their fifth and sixth innings. A base on balls, a sacrifice and a base hit produced the run in the fifth, and in the sixth round Shanley beat out a hit and went to second on Mullen's sacrifice. Dunkle then hit to Cy Pieh, who threw poorly to Maisel to get Shanley at third, and all hands were safe. Wade Reynolds went out, Peckinpaugh to Williams, and Shanley scored on the play. The score:

YANKEE COLTS ERRATIC.

Channell's Three-Bagger Barely Pulls Out Victory Over Mobile.

Special to The New York Times.

MOBILE, Ala., March 24.—A three-base hit by Outfielder Channell, on which "Big Ed" Sweeney scored, enabled the New York Yankees second team to defeat the Mobile Southern League team to-day, 4 to 3. The score stood at a tie in the ninth inning when Channell, with his hard wallop, broke up an exciting though ragged exhibition.

McHale and Sweeney were sent over the full nine innings route by Manager Chance, and but for many miserable plays by his men the Yankee twirler would have had comparatively no trouble defeating the local team. Seven misplays were chalked against the Yankee kids, however, and all of them helped to keep McHale in trouble. In almost every inning somebody made a bad play, forcing McHale to extend himself, and when he did the locals were helpless. Eight were retired on strikes, most of them at times when runners were in scoring position.

In addition to settling the game in favor of the Yankees, Channell's all-around work featured the game. Aside from his ninth-inning triple he bagged two other hits and stole two bases. Ed. Sweeney also marked up two hits, both of them hard line smashes, and caught excellent ball, throwing out the only man who attempted to steal.

Mobile scored a run in each of the first two innings and held this lead until the fifth, when the Yankees scored one on a walk to McHale and successive singles by Boone and Channell. They took the lead in the sixth by scoring two runs on two errors and hits by Rudd and Sweeney. Mobile tied the score at 3 to 3 in the eighth, when one run was marked on a walk and Kirby's two-base hit. In the ninth Sweeney drew a walk as a starter, was sacrificed to second and took third on an infield out, crossing the plate with the winning run on Channell's drive. The score:

Announcement was made yesterday at the office of the National Baseball League that William ("Billy") Hart has been added to the staff of umpires of the National League. Hart comes from the Southern League.

SHEPPARD QUITS I.-A. A. C.

To Run Unattached One Year, Then Join Millrose A. A.

Melvin W. Sheppard, for many years associated with the Irish-American A. C., under the colors of which club he established many notable records, will compete no more for the Winged Fist organization. He has announced his intention of competing unattached for one year, as specified by the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union, and at the expiration of this period he will wear the colors of the Millrose A. A. Sheppard has been a consistent point winner for the Irish-American A. C. since he became prominent in athletics, and his defection will detract from the strength of that organization's track team.

Sheppard has been connected with the Millrose A. A. for some months, or a time prior to the recent Millrose A. A. games at Madison Square Garden. He was secured as one of the runners of a relay team which was assembled for the purpose of opposing the Meadowbrook Club relay team of Philadelphia, these teams representing the Wanamaker stores of the two cities. The Amateur Athletic Union made an objection to this style of recruiting runners and issued orders that the men must wear the colors of their respective clubs rather than the colors of the Millrose A. A.

WOMEN GOLF STARS WIN.

Mrs. Hurd a Notable Exception in Pinehurst Tournament.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 24.—Mrs. R. H. Barlow of Merion Cricket Club, Eastern champion; Mrs. J. Raymond Price of Oakmont, former United champion; Miss Florence L. Harvey of Hamilton, former Canadian champion, and Mrs. William West of Huntingdon Valley are the survivors of the first round of match play in the woman's event of the annual United North and South golf championship.

Easy matches were the rule, Mrs. Price being the only one who advanced with difficulty. Going out in her match with Mrs. E. R. Behrend of Erie, former Rhode Island champion, she had the best of it, making the turn two up. Mrs. Behrend, however, squared the match on the twelfth, lost the thirteent, halved the next three holes, won the seventeenth to tie and lost the eighteenth one down, recording 92 to 93 for Mrs. Price.

The surprise of the day was the defeat of Mrs. J. V. Hurd of Oakmont, former international champion, by Mrs. West, four down and three to play. In the second division there were two close matches, with one in the third and walkaways in the fourth. Survivors in the last three divisions included:

Second Eight.—First Round—Mrs. J. G. Ridout, Lambton; Mrs. R. S. Hooker, Lake Waccabric; Mrs. J. P. Gardner, Homewood; Miss Agnes Blancke, Montclair.

Third Eight.—First Round—Miss E. W. Brien, Vesper; Mrs. A. A. Uebelecker, Hackensack; Miss Dorothy Ballantine, Detroit; Mrs. T. R. Palmer, Erie.

Fourth Eight.—First Round—Mrs. H. C. Philbrick, Braeburn; Miss Priscilla Beall, Uniontown; Mrs. C. S. Waterhouse, Hackensack; Miss Florence Croft, Pittsburgh.

Chisholm Beach of Fox Hill, P. H. McLaughlin of Scarsdale and M. B. Johnson of Cleveland were the winners of the tie play-offs to-day which resulted in yesterday's tin whistle class handicap.

Columbia Athletic News.

Changes in the Columbia soccer schedule were announced yesterday. The Haverford meet, which was to have been played on South Field on April 18, has been changed to April 20. The game with Princeton will be played on Friday, April 24, instead of April 22. Inasmuch as April 25 was tentatively set as the date for the Columbia-Pennsylvania game, postponed from last Saturday because of bad grounds, that game will probably be shifted to April 28. Columbia plays Yale in its second intercollegiate league game on Saturday. The game will be played at New Haven provided the field is in condition. The Columbia team has had little opportunity to practice because of the marshy condition of South Field.

The members of the Columbia basket ball five which tied for the intercollegiate championship with Cornell, will be officially feted to-night by the graduates at a banquet to be held at the Columbia University Club. Harry Fisher, who has sought out five championship teams in six years, received a letter yesterday from S. Melitzer, who is in Chile, congratulating the team on its wonderful playing after a disastrous start. The Columbia squad includes D. S. Meenan, '14, Captain; H. Benson, '15, Captain for next year; J. C. Lee, '15; E. H. Burghard, '15; R. H. Wegener, '17, and R. J. Reynolds, '14.

Charles Halstead Mapes, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Columbia University Athletic Association, is to preside at the mass meeting which is to be held at Columbia on Friday of next week to discuss the policy and condition of the association. The 300 alumni members of the association are to be asked to attend, and all suggestions for the future welfare of the association will be discussed by the graduates and undergraduates acting jointly. It is probable that no definite steps can be taken at this meeting because any amendment to the constitution of the association would have to be presented to the Board of Directors of the association first and acted upon by the members individually.

Cornell May Race Against Oxford.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 24.—Cornell will probably enter a team against Oxford runners in the four-mile relay race at the Pennsylvania relay carnival next month. The Cornell Athletic Council has voted to enter a team in the relays and it is considered certain that the entries will include a four-mile team to race against Oxford. About twenty men will make up the Cornell party and those not taking part in the relay races will enter the open events, particularly the field events. Coach Jack Moakley of the track team decided that it was imperative for the benefit of the team this year to enter the carnival, and a new scheme for financing the project has been undertaken. Cornell has not competed in the Pennsylvania council in the last few years, largely because of the lack of financial support.

Princeton in International Relay.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—Princeton University, it was announced to-day, has entered a team in the four-mile relay race for the international championship at the University of Pennsylvania's carnival on April 25. The entries for this race now include Oxford University of England, Chicago, Princeton, and Pennsylvania, and probably Cornell, all teams of championship calibre. Harvard may also enter this event, as the Crimson coach has sent word that if his runners show good form he will enter them.

Artillery Revolver Team Wins.

The Veteran Corps of Artillery revolver team defeated the second team of the Manhattan Revolver Association at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory by the score of 423 to 422. National match conditions governed, and .38 calibre revolvers were used. The competition was at 25 and 50 yards. The individual scores were as follows:

Veteran Corps of Artillery—Sergt. E. C. Delafield, 88; Private J. M. Perry, 83; Corporal J. C. McGuire, 82; Corporal G. P. Montgomery, 85; Sergt. T. T. P. Luquer, 85. Total—423.

Manhattan Revolver Association—P. Raymond, 94; J. E. Silliman, 74; Dr. W. A. Bayless, 85; C. L. Cammann, 83; R. Douglas, 86. Total—422.

Referee—A. L. A. Himmelwright.

Fordham Baseball Squad Reduced.

Head Coach Robertson made the expected cut in the baseball squad at Fordham yesterday. Thirty of the fifty candidates who reported for practice at the beginning of the season were retained. It is believed that at least ten of these will be dropped after the Brooklyn College game on Saturday. The Maroon squad continued indoor practice in the armory of the Second Battery in the Bronx yesterday, but expect to practice to-day on Fordham Field.

GUS KIRBY RUNS OFF COLORED MEET

Ex-President of A. A. U. Rules with Iron Hand in Disposing of Protests.

Gustavus T. Kirby, formerly President of the Amateur Athletic Union, spent a busy time last night at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory, where he officiated as referee of the athletic carnival under the auspices of the National League on Urban Conditions Among the Negroes. Mr. Kirby had the assistance of two other officials to run off the meet—one judge and one timer. As the majority of the competitors knew little or nothing about the rules of running a number of fouls, deliberate and otherwise, were committed, and protests followed nearly every event. These latter were summarily disposed of by the referee, who showed absolute impartiality by disallowing them. Protests from white and negro competitors fared alike, and in the end the athletes professed themselves satisfied under the conditions.

A programme of mixed competitive events attracted a big crowd of colored folk, who appeared to take more interest in the tennis tournament and basket ball game than in the track events. No one seemed to take the affair seriously, except the athletes, as the announcement of the results apparently fell on deaf ears. The only time any enthusiasm was displayed was when the colored band played ragtime music and the result of the tennis match was announced.

To add to the gaiety of the occasion, Sergt. William McIntyre of the Twenty-second Regiment of Engineers essayed to give an exhibition sack race at sixty yards. Mr. McIntyre covered the first half of the distance according to the prescribed rules, but he lost his balance and did a giant slide over the biggest part of the second half of the journey.

The only event of importance was a mile handicap relay, which brought out nine teams. In the final heat the Pastime quartet won by a good margin from the Central Congregational Sunday school team. The Pastime representatives were virtually scratch. The summary:

60-Yard Dash, Handicap.—Won by F. J. Stephenson, Trinity Club, (scratch;) Herman Foster, S. C. A. C., (9 feet,) second; A. Pendleton, Jr., S. C. A. C., (9 feet,) third. Time—0:06 4-5.

Half-Mile Run, Novice.—Won by Charles J. Hoppe, unattached; Francis Marshall, Smart Set A. C., second; Charles Hill, B. E. H. S., third. Time—2:17 3-5.

300-Yard Run, Handicap.—Won by Harry Oltman, unattached, (2 yards;) F. D. Pollard, unattached, (3 yards,) second; Frank Flynn, Knights of St. Anthony, (7 yards,) third. Time—0:36.

Boys' Race, One Lap., Heat Winners.—Charles Jenkins, St. Christopher's; Paul Bohn, St. Christopher's; C. Pool, unattached; M. Manning, White Rose Boys' Club; Charles Ampy, White Rose Boys' Club. No final heat. Fastest time—0:20 4-5.

One-Mile Relay, Handicap.—Won by Pastime A. C. team, composed of Myles Burke, Denis Daly, Charles H. Kever, and Myles McHugh, (40 yards;) Central Congregational Sunday School team, composed of Everett W. Markes, B. Beardsley, William I. Selover, and J. W. Atherton, (46 yerds,) second; McCadden Lyceum team, composed of G. Rouss, Austin Jones, B. Foranzo, and A. C. Jones, (53 yards,) third. Time—3:30 1-5.

NEWS FOR THE GOLFERS.

With a view to changing the date for the metropolitan open golf championship from August 12 and 13 to a week earlier, a petition is being made up to request this action from the executive committee of the Metropolitan Golf Association. The contention of some of the professionals is to the effect that this time leaves only four days to get to Midlothian for the national open tournament beginning the 18th, and that one day is consumed in the journey, and if it should rain it is figured that there would be little or no time for practice.

An offer of $390,000 has been made by the Harmonie Club of New York for the property occupied by the Glenwood Country Club, at Glen Head, L. I., which was one of the main issues in the recent election of the Crescent A. C. When the Glenwood course was built it was with a view to providing a links for the golfing members of the Crescent A. C., but the Crescent organization thus far has not carried out its purchase plans, and the Harmonie offer is in the nature of an unexpected development. It is understood that the Directors of the holding company are inclined to regard the price as too small, although no action has been taken as yet.

Smith Wins at Brown's.

Cy Smith, a Hoboken lightweight, easily outpointed Young Otto of the east side in the main ten-round bout last night at Brown's Gymnasium Athletic Association. The east sider started the bout in his usual aggressive style, and in the first two rounds did some effective work with hard lefts and rights to his opponent's face and body, but in the third round Smith took the lead and carried the fight to Otto throughout. At the bell the east sider was weak from the effect of the hard blows. Smith was the aggressor for the remainder of the bout and had Otto continually on the defensive.

In the semi-final ten-round bout Mickey Donnelly of Newark easily outpointed Johnny Daly, a Jersey City featherweight. The latter was frequently warned by the referee for his foul work, and in the fifth round Referee Brown stopped the bout to give Daly his last warning. The latter refrained from foul fighting for the remainder of the bout. Three of the scheduled four-round bouts ended in knockouts in the second round.

Salsberg and Brandt Draw.

Young Salsberg and Dutch Brandt boxed a fast ten-round draw last night at the Broadway Sporting Club of Brooklyn. Salsberg showed good generalship and cleverness, but this was offset by Brandt's hard blows and good infighting. In the third round Brandt slipped and as he fell Salsberg caught the falling man a hard blow on the forehead, which brought blood. In the semi-final bout of ten rounds, Barney Snyder of Boston easily outpointed Young Zulu Kid.

Gibbons Outpoints Christie.

HUDSON, Wis., March 24.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, outpointed Gus Christie of Indianapolis in a ten-round bout here to-night.

Lunden a Cornell Captain.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 24.—W. C. Lunden of Mount Jewett, Penn., a junior in the Law School, was elected Captain of the Cornell basket ball team for next year at the annual basket ball banquet held here to-night.

RALPH LEADS WITH CUE.

Keogh Now 30 Points Behind in Pocket Billiard Tourney.

Edward Ralph of Hightstown, N. J., defeated Jerome Keogh of Rochester in both the afternoon and evening games of their 1,000-point match at pocket billiards at Doyle's Billiard Academy yesterday. The double victory pulled down the lead of 28 points, which Keogh held at the close of Monday night's game, and put Ralph to the front with a lead of 72 points. In the afternoon Ralph defeated the former title holder by the score of 128 to 70, and in the evening he made it equally one-sided with a victory by the score of 100 to 58.

Ralph made a slow start in the afternoon, and the early frames showed the ex-champion increasing his previous lead. A run of twenty-nine in the fifth and sixth frames started Ralph on his winning way, and he followed with a run of thirty-three in the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth frames. At the end of the twelfth frame Keogh led, 273 to 259, but he tossed away three points on scratches, while Ralph was running out on the next three frames.

Ralph played a far better game than Keogh in the evening session, and in seven of the twelve innings he practically cleared the table. The match will be continued to-day with games of 100 points both afternoon and evening. Yesterday's scores:

Conway Wins with Cue.

After a lay-off of about a week, owing to the fact that some of the contestants were participating in the national tournament held in this city, the amateur handicap 18.2 balkline billiard tournament was resumed last night at Keeney's Billiard Academy in Brooklyn, when Charles P. Conway defeated George T. Moon, Jr., by the score of 250 to 124. Conway conceded a handicap of 50 points to his opponent and completed his string of 250 points in thirty-four innings. He averaged 7 12-34, and made high runs of 41, 25 and 18. Moon's high runs were 26, 21 and 16, with an average of 3 22-34.

PIPING ROCK RACING.

Series of Handicaps to Mark Association's Season on Turf.

The Piping Rock Racing Association serial handicaps, which are now being scheduled by the Association Committee—J. E. Davis, Allan Pinkerton, and F. Ambrose Clark— will be run at various tracks this season according to the plans now under way. The idea of the association is to keep up interest in the hunt meetings at various points. It is expected that ten feature races will be provided, and all will be handicaps. Several of these are to be run in the Fall, so a continued interest in these amateur events seems assured. It has been suggested that a steeplechase be provided in the Fall if the present intentions of schooling a number are carried out.

Two races will probably be provided during the Spring meeting at Piping Rock, one of which will be at a mile, with a value of $1,500. The events already provided for are as follows:

Rockaway Hunting Club, May 2. Six furlongs. Value, $500.

Meadow Brook Steeplechase Association, May 9. Six furlongs. Value, $500.

United Hunts Racing Association, May 16. Six furlongs. Value, $500; May 23, value $500.

The Country Club, Brookline. June 20. Six furlongs. Value, $500.

No License for Madison A. C.

The State Athletic Commission at its weekly meeting yesterday afternoon denied the application of the Madison Athletic Club for a license to conduct boxing bouts at the Harlem River Casino. The officers of the club, as named in the application, are Walter Hellwic and George Beattie.

A complaint against Young Reilly, the west side boxer, was registered by the Sharkey A. C. for Reilly's failure to fill an engagement at that club with Mike Mazie. Another complaint was received against the Broadway Sporting Club, the charge being that prices were advanced on the night of the Levinsky-Fritts bout. All concerned in the complaints will be cited to appear at next week's meeting.

Boxers to Pay for Beating Policeman

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 24.—Jimmy Clabby, middleweight pugilist, and Arthur McQueen, a trainer, pleaded guilty to-day in Police Court to having assaulted Charles Laurance, a policeman, on Feb. 28. Instead of sentencing the men, Judge White recommended they pay the policeman for the damage done him. Laurance said he had lost thirty pounds in weight since the assault, which was the outcome of a street brawl over a taxicab fare. Clabby said he was willing to compensate the policeman, and final settlement will be made in court to-morrow.

Levinsky Has Gastritis.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 24.—"Battling" Levinsky of Philadelphia, heavyweight boxer, after his defeat by Bob Moha last night, suffered an acute attack of gastritis. He is resting at a hotel to-day and is said by his manager to be recovering. Levinsky could hardly see after the first round last night, and it was said outside of a few blows he did not have a mark of punishment. Levinsky's engagements at Youngstown (Ohio) and Butte (Mont.) will be canceled, according to his manager.

Battling Jim Johnson vs. Langford.

Battling Jim Johnson, who recently boxed a ten-round draw with Champion Jack Johnson in Paris, saw Sam Langford defeat Bill Watkins in one round at the National Sporting Club Monday night, but this did not shake his confidence in his ability to defeat the Bostonian at the Empire A. C. Friday night. Johnson is said to be a much improved boxer since his last appearance in this city, and he is not only confident of staying ten rounds with the hard-hitting Langford, but he feels sure he will defeat Sam. Johnson plans to sail for France again on April 15, where he hopes to secure several bouts as a result of his recent showing against the champion.

FIFTY WOMEN HAVE TAKEN AUTO COURSE

Will Be Represented at Opening of West Side Y. M. C. A. Automobile School's Tenth Year.

Among the most enthusiastic pupils of the West Side Y. M. C. A. Automobile School are a group of society women who are taking the full course. They are to be represented on Friday night when the opening of the tenth year of the school will be celebrated. In the nine years of its life the school has grown from a very modest beginning to the occupancy of the whole of a three-story building on West Sixty-sixth Street, and the ownership of road cars and machines for shop work worth many thousands of dollars. Since women were first admitted as students in January of this year nearly fifty have been graduated. The speakers at the celebration on Friday will be Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, and John Wetmore.

⁂

The establishment of a national automobile touring week is now being considered seriously by the Automobile Chamber of Commerce and the American Automobile Association. The idea, in its present form, is to set aside a week late in June for tours lasting a whole week or at least several days. Mr. Reeves, who has conferred recently on the subject with Frank X. Mudd, Chairman of the Touring Board of the A. A. A., said yesterday:

"We propose to ask the local trade associations to co-operate with clubs in the promotion of the tours by offering prizes which will appeal to the motorists."

⁂

Motorists are much interested, as are other highway users, in a bill introduced at Albany by Senator Peckham, appropriating $600,000 for the use of the Public Service Commissions of the First and Second Districts in the work of eliminating grade crossings. Up to the present, New York, with 8,458 miles of main line track, has appropriated $2,317,606 for the elimination of grade crossings outside of Greater New York, as compared with Massachusetts, which, with 2,111 miles of main track, has appropriated $9,382,719 for this purpose. The only way in which the Public Service Commissions can do away with grade crossings at present is upon the petition of the State Commission of Highways, in which case the State's portion of the cost is paid out of the highway improvement fund.

⁂

"Automobile Row" was interested yesterday to hear of the appointment of W. S. Jewell as Eastern sales representative for the Marion Motor Car Company; of the change of name of E. Leroy Pelletier's electric car company from the Tiffany to the Flanders, and of the taking over of the representation in New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut of the Kelly Springfield motor trucks by the F. T. Sanford Automobile Company. There was much regret at the announcement of his retirement from business by Col. K. C. Pardee on account of failing health. The Saxon Motor Car Company of Detroit and the Chandler Motor Car Company of Cleveland have been elected to membership in the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Cash prizes of $3,500 will be divided among twenty chauffeurs who make the lowest repair expense records in the Winton Six contest, which starts on April 1. Arthur Waterman has been appointed Vice President and General Manager of the Hartford Suspension Company.

No Davis Cup Match Courts Yet.

R. D. Wrenn, President of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, yesterday issued a statement saying that, inasmuch as certain misinformation had been circulated to the effect that the scene for the coming Davis Cup matches had been named by his committee, he desired it to be known that the only questions which have been decided at this time are the dates on which the matches, as drawn, must be concluded. While the committee appreciates the fact that it is advisable to select the grounds as early as possible, it still considers it expedient to postpone a decision until it is definitely known which of the matches will be played in this country.

Change in Wrestling P nt Scoring.

A change in the scoring for the intercollegiate wrestling championships has been announced by the association. The championships will be held at Pennsylvania on Friday and Saturday of this week, and under the revised system of scoring 4 points will be counted for a first place, 2 for a second, and 1 for a third, instead of 5, 3, and 1, as heretofore. If in the preliminary trials a man gains a verdict on a fall he is to receive an extra point credit in the final bout in case of a victory. Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Princeton, and Lehigh will compete in the two-day meet.

Polo A. A. Bouts Thursday.

Owing to the fact that the Empire A. C. will stage bouts on Friday night, the New Polo A. A. will shift from its regular night and hold bouts on Thursday night this week. The card offered is one of the best the Polo Club ever scheduled. Two ten-round affairs are the features offered. In the main event Johnny Daly, the rugged bantamweight, and Battling Reddy, the contender for Johnny Coulon's title, will try conclusions. Young Libby and Bull Cassidy, two lightweights, will furnish the action in the second ten-round bout.

LOW PRICES FOR HORSES.

Gold Plate Reaches Top Mark, $2,000, at Auction of Racers.

Although the auction ring of Van Tassel & Kearney in East Thirteenth Street yesterday was occupied by several score of men prominent in racing circles, the dissolution sale of the racing stable of Leonard Jacob and H. S. Paget, the string of hunters from Charles Pfizer's Essex Hunt Stable, and a miscellaneous lot of horses offered for auction failed to arouse the ardor of those in search of thoroughbred horses.

The only horse of the Jacob-Page consignment to reach a fair price was the chestnut gelding Gold Plate. It was third on the list, and after the announcement by the auctioneer of its successful races, which included the Hunters' Champion Steeplechase of four miles, double victories in the Hunt Cup and National Hunt Cup, and the Sportsman's Steeplechase Dinner Stakes, it was finally knocked down to Allan Pinkerton for $2,000. Since receiving its hunter's certificate in 1911, Gold Plate has started twenty-eight times and won fourteen races.

Mr. Pinkerton also purchased Chopin, a bay gelding, winner on the flat at Saratoga in 1913, for the sum of $800.

C. Schwartz purchased Ben Cabell, a chestnut gelding, for $600, and Graball, a black gelding, for $300. The Pfizer offerings were far from what was anticipated and those sold were knocked down for nominal sums, the top figure being obtained for Rock Abbey, which brought $600.

The most important offerings and the prices obtained follow:

Princeton Loses Veteran Oarsman.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 24.—E. Everett Bunzel abandoned his seat in the Tiger shell to-day on the advice of Dr. Raycroft of the Physical Education Department, following a physical examination. His absence is said to be only temporary, but his removal means the loss to the Tigers of one of the strong veterans of last season. The crews are still drilling on the stationary shells in the gymnasium. Dr. Spaeth stated this afternoon that he hoped to get the 'Varsity out on Lake Carnegie on Friday of this week. The lake is still clogged with ice.

GOVERNMENT ARGUMENTS FOR GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Ought not Postmaster General Burleson to submit his prospectus for Government ownership of wire communications to the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the manner proposed for railway investments in general in the bills now favored by the Administration? The reason for asking is the preposterous statements of fact contained in the report which has the Postmaster General's indorsement, without any check on its accuracy. An example of misstatements is the report's comparison of long-distance tolls, to the disadvantage of the United States. This is surprising, for the development of long-distance telephony is the peculiar accomplishment of our privately owned system. Yet in the list of tolls for 1,000 miles given in the report we find Norway 40 cents, Germany 48, Sweden 54, France 58, Japan $1.37, and the United States $6.

This struck Mr. A. R. Marsh, formerly President of the Cotton Exchange, as so curious that he has applied his tape measure to the physical dimensions of those countries, and now asks the compilers of the report to name the stations on the 1,000-mile routes. Mr. Marsh says that the maps shew the longest straight line in Germany to be about 850 miles, in France 700, Japan 500. It is possible to draw a 1,000-mile line in Norway or Sweden by carrying it into the arctic regions, but not possible if the line is limited to regions where users of telephones live. International circuits of 1,000 miles in Europe are commercially impracticable on account of the differences of systems and instruments. The United States and Russia are the only countries of Continental distances, and the United States is so easily first in this respect that there is no comparison.

It is to be feared that the Post Office Department will not see The Market World and Chronicle unless some kind friend sends it a copy. Until the reply is forthcoming it is fair to ask what protection there is against booming Government ownership by such methods, unless proposals are to be registered, and somebody made responsible for fulfilling the conditions on which appropriations are asked. It is fair to say this because of the experience with the parcel post system, whose finances are grotesque. The Post Office accounts are not assembled anywhere in such a way that there can be any statement of profit or loss. Just now the Treasury is asking for supplies of cash for installing in this city an expensive plant on parcel post account. It ought to be provided and charged against the profits. But the Treasury and Post Office accounts are distinct, and the "profit" becomes a debit when the Urgent Deficiency bill is prepared.

Amos P. Wilder, returning to San Francisco from his Consular duties in China, says that only foreign supervision and auditing of its finances can save the republic from disaster. He cannot say that of the United States, for it may be doubted that even Government ownership could break our Treasury before the remedy is applied. But who can say that our finances are not as slipshod as China's in their methods?

SECURED DEBT TAX REPEAL.

If the secured debt tax law is to be repealed, it should be done in a way which will leave no doubt that the bonds which have already been exempted under this law will continue to be free of the personal tax. By the act passed in 1911 the holders of bonds secured the privilege of exempting them from personal tax by the payment of a recording tax of one-half of 1 per cent. Many bondholders have availed themselves of this privilege in the belief that payment of this tax assured exemption for the life of the bonds upon which this tax was paid. If it now be found desirable to abandon this scheme of bond exemption, the State is of course free to act, but there should be no impairment of the contract between the State and the holders of the bonds who have exempted them under existing law.

The good faith of the State is involved in this matter. Legally, it may resolve itself into the question whether this contract between State and bondholder is a public or private contract, but no such question should be allowed to enter into the matter. The State must not resort to any technical right in violation of the obligation which it entered into under the secured debt tax law.

There is even no argument of expediency in favor of resubjecting these exempted bonds, now amounting to some $600,000,000, to the personal tax. That tax, at the rate at which it is imposed, is uncollectible. It would be confiscatory if it were collected. That would be the surest way of driving bonds beyond the reach of taxation by this State. The practical effect of repealing the secured debt tax would be to deprive the State of the income which it has derived from this source, and which it is now deriving in increasing amount, without adding appreciably to the amount made subject to the personal tax. But this is a minor argument compared with that which addresses itself to the conscience of the State Government. The best thing under the circumstances seems to be to let the secured debt tax stand, but in no event should those who have paid a tax to the State for the exemption of their bonds be deprived of the exemption which the State voluntarily offered them.

A HOLD-UP.

Gov. Glynn favors an honest and convenient choice of candidates next Fall, as provided in Senator Herrick's Primary bill and approved by the National Democratic Club and the Citizens' Union. The Governor has specially urged that it be passed.

Chairman Osborn of the Democratic State Committee favors the bill in all its provisions. He would strengthen it by making the Corrupt Practices act apply more rigidly in the primaries.

Leader Murtaugh of the Senate has told the Governor that the Senate will pass the bill as soon as reported out of committee.

The voters want the bill passed, and the chief organs of public opinion have supported it almost unanimously.

The time is short. Chairman Konta of the Primary Law Committee of the National Democratic Club notes in his letter to The Times, printed elsewhere, that but three days of this session remain.

Who is holding up the bill?

Chairman George A. Blauvelt of Monsey, N. Y., and Messrs. McClelland, Pollock, Griffin, and Foley of this city; Carswell, Torborg, and Velte of Brooklyn; Coats of Saranac Lake, Thomas of Hamilton, Walters of Syracuse, Bussey of Perry, and Brown of Watertown, composing with Senator Herrick the Senate Judiciary Committee, show a good deal of hardihood in withholding a bill called for by the people and by their highest representatives. For its intent is to make New York's primary law like that passed in New Jersey under Woodrow Wilson.

THE MOTOR CAR TAX.

The White bill repealing the automobile tax save for a registration fee of $2 and the dealer's number fee of $5 has been hurried forward for passage in the Senate at the instance of the Motor Vehicle Legislation Commission. This body was appointed to confer with commissions of other States with a view to making the motor car laws uniform. Their action would be to make this State's motor car tax law differ from every law of the kind, from Maine to Virginia, in which the principle of taxing motor cars for the upkeep of the roads has been established. The tax last year available for repair of roads was $1,147,000. This source of highway revenue is wiped out by the White bill, which devotes the nominal fees collected to paying the expenses of administering the act.

Highway Commissioner Carlisle's estimate of cost for repair of the State road system this year is $6,117,932. The State has voted $100,000,000 for the construction of automobile roads. It is the height of folly and unwisdom to repeal a moderate tax law designed to keep the roads good for motor car drivers.

ECONOMICS OF THE PANAMA TOLLS REPEAL.

There is no harm in the President's pointing out that discrimination in Panama tolls was opposed by a majority of Democratic votes, and that repeal of the exemption is likely to be supported by a majority now. That is the politics of it. The economics of the proposal is equally convincing. The President has said that the discussion of either the politics or the economics is dishonorable, being foreclosed by the agreement which the United States signed. But it is permissible to point out that the agreement rests upon solid considerations in the interest of the commerce of the United States.

There is no reason for tenderness regarding the argument that the collection of the tolls from the American coastwise marine is in the interest of the railways, and that therefore the repeal should be opposed by railway haters. Those who are genuine railway haters, and indifferent regarding the proposal to present a million dollars to the coastwise monopoly, must wish the coastwise rates to be quoted "ex tolls." That is not secured by providing that the tolls either shall or shall not be collected by the coastwise marine. Its rates will be the highest possible without turning away the business. The railway rates will not be cut by the water lines a cent lower than is necessary to get the business from the railways under any conditions. Already the railway competition has been crippled by the prohibition of railway owned ships from using the canal. Already the railway rates are regulated with a rigor which shippers would like to see applied to the coastwise marine, a monopoly by law whose rates are the highest in the world, just as the rail rates are the lowest.

Before it can be contended that the exemption is justifiable economically it must be shown that the tolls which are to be waived shall go to the benefit of shippers, rather than into the overflowing coffers of the combine within the monopoly. There is no odious practice which the railways have been forced to abandon which is not practiced by the coastwise marine. Its rates are regulated neither by law nor by competition, but the railways are prevented from abating its extortions by prohibition of law. Favor to such an economic interest is a burden upon commerce. It is no more "American" than it is reasonable. It is an insult alike to intelligence and to honor to suggest the detestable thing. It never would be heard of again if it were provided that the exemption must be in public rather than private interest.

"FREE SERVICE" AND CHEAP FREIGHTS.

The railways have been prompt to take advantage of the Interstate Commerce Commission's advice to make a charge for services which the Commission described as "free." The shippers who have been receiving for nothing the services estimated by the Commission at $15,000,000 are equally prompt to begin their opposition. As a result the Commission is now investigating the facts about the advice which it hesitated to put into an order. There is a pretty struggle ahead before the railways put that $15,000,000 into their treasuries, and the chance is good that if the railways ever get it the cost to those using the railways will be several times the railways' receipts.

The basis for the prophecy is the Lehigh Valley's statement that whereas the railway gets less than 5 cents on vegetables for a haul of 344 miles, drayage within city limits is 15 cents. The railways' alleged "free service" is largely "spotting" and ferrying cars, that is, putting them into positions reducing the cost of team hauling. If shippers and consignees will not pay for free spotting and ferrying the railways will deliver their goods upon the team tracks, and wagons will replace the work done by locomotives. New York receivers may have to go to Jersey City for their goods, and deliveries on team tracks where there are any within the greater city will be managed with all the ease and celerity which accompanies haulage along West Street, where the teamsters wait longer hours than they drive.

The virtue of the 5 per cent. advance in rates is that if the goods are carried the receipts are enlarged. The disadvantage of the attempt to collect $15,000,000 for free services is that the services were not considered to be free, that the payment for that sort of service is grudging, and that the attempt to evade the payment will add to the cost of the service and to the price of the goods more than the railways will receive. No doubt the railways are becomingly grateful even for the smallest favors, and nobody but those who would have to pay the $15,000,000 would be sorry to see the railways get that installment of their deserts. But to get $15,000,000 for the railways at the cost of, say, $30,000,000 to shippers, and perhaps another $15,000,000 for consumers of shippers' products, would be a costly way of doing good to the railways.

THE TURMOIL IN ENGLAND.

The quietest part of the population of the United Kingdom in this time of excitement is the Irish, and the embattled Ulster men are only a little less calm than the Nationalists of the South. There, as in Ulster, the leaders are using all their influence to prevent disorders, and so far with entire success. The comforting thought is that the longer this state of things continues the greater the chance for a peaceful settlement of the main question in dispute.

When one reflects on the way in which this question, in the last few weeks, has been narrowed down and defined, it is easy to see that the fever raging in the Commons and in the press is in great degree political, partisan, and artificially maintained. The Unionists are seeking to pull the Liberal-Irish-Labor Government down and think they could do it if they could force an election; the Government is bent on keeping power until its three remaining measures can be carried through under the Parliament act. These measures are the Home Rule bill, the Welsh Church Disestablishment bill, and the bill to abolish plural voting. An election would imperil them. Even if the Ministry won it would require two years longer to bring these bills as far as they now are. Of course, if the Ministry lost, the whole programme would be defeated. This was undoubtedly the consideration which led the Government to temporize with the officers who resigned, or threatened to resign. It was a confession of weakness, but it gained time, and time is of the utmost value to the Government. We have said that the Irish question has been narrowed and defined. It is now simply this: Mr. Asquith consents that Ulster may remain under English rule for six years if she wishes. Ulster demands that she shall stay under English rule as long as she wishes. It is inconceivable that civil war shall be waged on an issue as to which all are so nearly agreed as on this. It would be monstrous. The policy of the Government, hesitant and irresolute as it appears, has, at least, this effect: it gains time, and time makes for peace.

Meanwhile both parties are making a great outcry over the army, and here wider issues are involved, which it may take a long time to thrash out, and which may involve very serious changes. For the moment the Conservatives have gained an advantage. They plead that army officers are citizens first and then soldiers, and that they have a right to refuse to fight to force their fellow-citizens of Ulster from under English rule, which they love, to Dublin rule, which they detest. And the Government has indirectly assented to this plea. The precedent is dangerous. When Bonar Law advanced the Unionist argument in the House he was greeted with the cry: "What about strikes?" The immediate logic of the question is obvious. If officers are citizens, so are privates; if the former have consciences, so have the latter; if officers may put their personal sense of right above the authority of their superiors, why not the privates? The unlimited application of a doctrine now convenient for the Conservatives might shake the foundations of English institutions to which the Conservatives are deeply devoted.

Chief of these is the throne. Already the King is dragged into the fierce quarrel raging in the party press. A Labor organ very plainly intimates that he is responsible for the weakness of the Government in dealing with the officers in Ireland. Some of the Radical papers declare that if the army is to be allowed to influence the policy of the Government, the army "shall be democratized." That is a threat that the influence of the aristocracy in the appointment of officers, and of the King through the aristocracy, which now exists, shall be done away with. The King's actual part in the present situation is unknown, but it is clearly an active one. He is primarily a naval officer, trained as such rather than as a constitutional ruler. The Radicals believe that he is governed more by his early training and associations than by the spirit of modern English monarchy. At present the bitterness of controversy is directed at him. That may prove ominously significant. For centuries the general tendency of political movements in the United Kingdom has been toward democracy and away from privilege and prerogative. The movement has been slow, but its direction has been unmistakable. The existing situation may greatly quicken it.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Medical Critics Answered.

With what may be called the domestic affairs of the County Medical Society — with the rules of conduct it imposes upon its members and the penalties it imposes for violation of those rules—this paper is concerned only in the rather remote contingency of large public interests being involved. In the progress and achievements of medical science, however, it sees "news" of the very highest value, and eminently "fit to print," and it purposes to print such news, in the future as in the past, with the closest approach to accuracy that the exercise of intelligence and care makes possible.

Conscious of its record and its intentions as a consistent upholder of scientific medicine against all the forms of charlatanism, and of real doctors against quacks, The Times is impelled to protest, with much of grievance and something of resentment, against the terms in which several members of the County Medical Society have characterized the recent publication by it of an article on the use, and the results of using, tuberculin in one of the New York hospitals. Whether The Times should or should not have been invited to send a representative to the largely attended clinic at which this use was explained and these results explained, is beside the present question, though on that point our opinion is strongly affirmative. The plain facts are that the representative was there by invitation from a fully authorized source, that he was selected as especially competent to do the work, and that after he had written his report and before it went into the paper it was read, revised, and approved by the member of the hospital staff best qualified to judge it.

In all the talking and writing since done about this article by the doctors whom its appearance offended, not one of its statements has been impugned and no definite excuse given for calling it "misleading, sensational, and objectionable." If there were any mistakes in it, the responsibility for them, all of it, rests on informants whom The Times had every reason to trust—whom, indeed, it sees no more reason now than before for distrusting. From our standpoint it was good news—in both senses of the word "good"—and from the standpoint of those who requested and facilitated its publication it was held, until the attacks on them began, to be well calculated to promote the welfare of a worthy institution by making its achievements widely known.

And that is why we protest against the terms in which certain upholders of antiquated "ethics" are now describing an article that was as carefully and conscientiously prepared as any that ever went into a newspaper.

Warfare as Waged in Mexico.

Almost as much of surprise as of satisfaction is caused by the appearance in the news from Torreon of the statement that the wounded Constitutionalists are taken, first to a field hospital for emergency treatment, and then to a general hospital far in the rear, where they can receive proper care. This indicates that Gen. Villa is considerably more advanced in the art of waging war than had been supposed, and that he is not, as has been reported, wholly indifferent to its horrors or wholly thoughtless of their mitigation.

Just how well equipped and efficient Villa's field and general hospitals are is, of course, a matter of large dubiety, with the chances in favor of assuming that the arrangements he has been able to make leave much to be desired. At any rate he knows the proper plan, and is following it to some extent, for the manner of dealing with the wounded described in this dispatch is that of the nations that try to show something of civilization, even in what is euphemistically called the conduct of military operations.

Hitherto we have had from the scene of conflict in Northern Mexico only terrible stories of wounded men dying unattended unless they were able to drag themselves across the line into the United States. This, besides filling the mind with appalling images, has increased the wonder that the leaders on both sides are able to find as many men as they do who are willing—who can even be compelled—to face the probability of prolonged agonies as well as that of sudden death.

That it makes any particular difference to the soldiers in either army which is victorious is something hard to believe, and yet in both they fight with the courage and vigor expected only from the devoted followers of a great cause. The psychology of this deplorable situation is full of dark problems, especially in the case of a man like Villa, strange combination that he is or seems to be of brute ferocity and military genius. It is real war that he is carrying on, not the swiftly alternating charges and flights of a bandit chief. And there is nothing of comic opera about it. Unfortunately it is all in deadly earnest, and Villa rides the storm, a sinister figure whose success bodes ill for Mexico, and yet so evidently a born leader and ruler of fighting men that though he may be hated he cannot be despised.

Surely All That It's Worth.

Useful as salt cellars are, and in spite of the fact that some of them can truly enough be called works of art, $28,000, the price paid for one in London yesterday, seems high. The temptation, for anybody who remembers how many things in the world need doing that this sum would do, is strong to call the price too high. Obviously it is not explained by the fact that the salt cellar in question is of silver and weighs thirty ounces. As the name of the maker is not mentioned in the report of the sale, his identity is presumably unknown.

We learn only that "the treasure" dates from the time of Henry VII., and that no salt cellar of the standing kind, as old as this one, is known to collectors. So the value—no, the price—of this piece of tableware rests, not on its material, not on its beauty, but on the fact that its owner can boast of having something possessed by nobody else.

To deny the reality of satisfaction thus derived would be absurd, since the number of people who feel it, and are willing to pay well for it, is and always has been large. Some of us, however, who happen not to be made that way, do wish that they wouldn't take themselves, and weren't taken by others, as seriously as they do and are. An ingenious teleologist might figure out that they serve a purpose in nature, and the moralist must admit that worse uses of $28,000 can be made than that of buying an old silver salt cellar with it, but judged by the harsh standards of common sense they are an absurd lot, wide open to criticism for not finding some better employment for their minds and their money.

That the curio hunter has any direct or real relation to art or literature cannot for a moment be admitted.

WORKING GIRLS' HOMES.

Chelsea Association Well Organized and Self-Supporting.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have been much interested in the letters published in your paper regarding the housing of business girls, and I wish to give a short account of what we are doing in our organization. We have managed an entirely self-supporting house for girls for over eight years, charging from $4 to $6 a week, including three meals a day, for many girls return "home" for a hot lunch. We cover all our expenses, including rent, from our income derived from the girls' board money. We accommodate thirty-eight girls, and the house is managed by a lady we call "house mother"; the girls, with affection, call her "little mother."

We have no rules, and our girls have latch keys; but we have standards, and there is very full co-operation between girls, house mother, and Board of Managers. I hope some day we may realize self-government, but, with a more or less shifting personnel of boarders, it has, so far, been too difficult a problem to solve, though I feel we are working in the right direction, through a social committee, formed of girls and members of the Board of Managers, who meet and arrange entertainments, dancing classes, and other activities. Our house mother never neglects her housekeeping, but she finds time to go with groups of girls to concerts, lectures, opera or theatre, and frequently goes about with foreign girls who come to us.

We have never turned away a girl because she was out of work and could not afford to pay her board. We have "carried her," or the other girls have paid for her, until she has been able to pay us again. We believe in the smaller house, and the intimacy and influence of house mother with girl, and girl with girl. We have just opened another house, where we are charging from $3.50 to $5.50, and expect to make all our expenses. I believe these houses are typical of the newer ideals.

Meddling with Business.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial article "Make This Guilt Personal" has caused a great deal of favorable comment, as it expresses the views of the plain business man personally and in the aggregate. There can be no doubt that Congress has run wild on legislation affecting business, and the only check lies in the veto power of the President. Much of the trouble is due to the playing of cheap politics, particularly in the House of Representatives. In the meantime business itself is becoming stagnant, and the confidence which was so generally prevalent in January has given place to uncertainty, and capital has again become timid.

The figures in the letter of Mr. Fish showing the ever-increasing burden of taxation are very illuminating, but when it comes to appropriations with "pork-barrel" possibilities, what is a deficit between friends?

An Old Public School Janitor.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mr. James Gamble, janitor of Public School 14, the Bronx, has been granted six months' leave of absence without pay, for restoration of health. Here is a man who has grown old in the service of the city, who has served faithfully during that period, and is now practically helpless. He has lately lost his wife. A retirement fund would give this man in his declining years a feeling of pride, and would enable him to pay his way, which would be far more worthy of the city than supporting its old employes in charitable institutions. PROTOCOL NOT OBSERVED.

Misses' and Children's Dress Manufacturers Accused of Bad Faith.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your very practical editorial article headed "They Work and Settle Later," which reviews the investigation of wages and earnings in the waist and dress trade by its Wage Scale Board, composed of an equal number of manufacturers and union representatives, prompts me to state that, unfortunately, the manufacturers in a similar line of trade, the misses' and children's dresses, refused to undertake a similar investigation, though they have agreed to do it jointly with the Misses' and Children's Dressmakers' Union, and because of the manufacturers' refusal preparations are now made by the union to get through a strike what the manufacturers a year ago agreed to do by the reasonable method.

On the 8th day of March, 1913, a protocol agreement was signed between the Misses' and Children's Dress Manufacturers' Association and the Misses' and Children's Dressmakers' Union. A certain number of evils against which the workers cried out were at that time mitigated and abolished. By that protocol agreement both parties recognized that the wages in this industry are very low and insufficient as a living wage in a big city.

Because of a threatened strike last year, at a time when the season was fairly well advanced, both the manufacturers and the union did not desire to spoil the time, and so they agreed that a small raise of wages should be given to the employes. The raise should have been paid in two terms, 50 cents immediately after the signing of the protocol and 50 cents on July 1. This raise of wages is specifically referred to in the protocol agreement as a "tentative" raise of wages.

The further adjustment of the wage question was left to a committee, as in the waist and dress industry, called the Wage Scale Board, composed of an equal number representing the manufacturers and the employes. This Wage Scale Board had to be ready with its labors and report its findings six months after, that is, about the month of September, but at this writing we may say that the protocol in this trade proved a complete failure, for its main provisions in regard to wages have not been lived up to. The second raise of 50 cents due on July 1 was not paid to more than half of the employes engaged on the work of members of the employers' association. The Wage Scale Board has not done anything worth while, simply and solely because the manufacturers refused to take part in any investigation. Even the little that the Wage Scale Board has attempted to do by way of a rule for adjusting prices on new styles the members of the manufacturers' association, (which is composed of the largest manufacturers in the trade,) have not observed.

BIRDS OF FASHION.

Specious Arguments Veil Feather Trade's Real Purpose.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A writer in the Strand Magazine for March professes great concern over the disappearance of such birds as the goura pigeon and the birds of paradise. He confesses that he does not know "how far British and German restrictions are operative or to what extent the Dutch regulations are observed." He could have ascertained easily enough that in New Guinea and Celebes the Dutch authorities are reckless, and the traders force the natives to produce so many plumes a season, or suffer for it. The birds are now so rare near the coastal settlements that the natives must in turn compel interior tribes to pay tribute of feathers; and war after war, murder upon murder, have resulted. All the alleged "natural history" of these birds, with which the article is speciously loaded, is derived from a pamphlet entitled "The Feather Trade: The Case for the Defence," issued in London by the importers in 1911.

This source, and the intent of the article, are disguised under great solicitude that these and other "birds of fashion" should be colonized—somewhere—and raised for the commercial product of their feathers; and a confusing reference to ostrich culture is made, to imply that the cases are alike. The writer knows, or ought to know, that what he proposes is utterly impracticable. In fact, this paper is only another plea for the privilege to destroy beautiful and useful birds, anywhere and everywhere, in order that a lot of greedy traders may put blood-money in their pockets, and that a lot of the more foolish and inconsiderate women may adorn themselves with feathers, nearly every spray of which represents not a single bird, but a whole family destroyed. The occasion of this new effort is the likelihood that the British Parliament will prohibit the importation or sale of ospreys and other ornamental feathers into Great Britain as we have done in this country. France and Germany are threatening similar laws, and the feather men are fighting for their iniquitous traffic with the same animosity as has so long animated the slave-traders.

Industrial Farm Prisons.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

New York State has lagged behind many Western States in prison reform. Sing Sing stands for vindictive punishment; Great Meadow and any new industrial farm prison for reformation. Which do we choose, the three-foot cell of Sing Sing—unfit for human habitation, as Bishop Greer has just said—with damp floors and lurking diseases, or the sanative, upbuilding, out-of-door hard work of Great Meadow, turning out men fit for life's battle?

A large appropriation is not necessary for a new farm prison. The huge old cell blocks, with interior steel cells, costing millions of dollars, are obsolete. Cheap buildings and scattered cottages, with a central square of two-story buildings for the men who cannot yet be trusted, are better, and cost only about one-tenth of the old cell block. Let the convicts build the buildings themselves and regain their manhood and self-respect while doing it.

The Legislature is now considering a bill carrying a small appropriation for an industrial farm prison to replace the Sing Sing horror. Senators and Assemblymen should vote for it. R. M. HURD.

English Spirit Decadent?

UNSATISFIED.

We can see to the distant star,
  That shines in the evening's gray
On the stretching horizon's bar,
  And rests on the grave of day.

Yet we fail in our vision keen,
  And are sad in the evening's thrall,
For the stars that we have not seen
  Seem the tenderest stars of all.

So the pleasures that come by day,
  The victories sought and won,
Like stars in the evening's gray,
  With yearning are looked upon.

For deep in our breasts there lies
  The pain of a smoldering fire;
We yearn for the further skies
  And the stars of our heart's desire.

LURANA SHELDON.

THE CANDIDATES.

Will Mr. Blauvelt Help Safeguard Next Fall's Primaries?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It seems most probable that the legislators of New York desire to continue to delude themselves and the people with the belief that this State has a real primary law on its statutes, for there now remain but three days for the amendments to the primary law to be reported out of the Judiciary Committee and presented to the Senate, if the amendments are to be adopted in time to ward off the use of dubious and perhaps unfair practices in the Fall primaries. The question is whether it is the intention of Senator Blauvelt, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, to break our fondly laid eggs or to hatch them.

It is perhaps not generally known to the public that our amendments have had the express support of almost every reputable element of the citizens of the State, and certainly of every man in a high place in the Democratic Party. The work of rounding up these powerful influences has been the business of the Primary Law Committee of the National Democratic Club, and now, on the eve of apparently certain defeat, we beg the privilege of your columns to show cause why we are entitled to and do feel some consolation in the sense of having done our work well. When the committee began its campaign some weeks ago, the need for primary law amendments and the nature of the amendments proposed were shrouded in obscurity. The whole subject has now had exhaustive treatment in practically all the big newspapers, in their news, Sunday and editorial sections. When we began to seek support for the amendments hardly a single prominent public man had expressed himself one way or another with regard to them. Since then all the leading men in our own party have spoken out strongly in favor of the measures.

Gov. Glynn has been particularly forceful in his utterances of support; Mr. Osborn has been quoted as being unequivocally in favor of them; Mr. Malone can be quoted with like effect; many Senators have expressed their approval; civic and political organizations have been heard from, and President Wilson is known to favor similar provisions all over the country, and he personally effected their adoption in New Jersey.

It is true that Mr. Murphy has been silent. But we have the satisfaction of knowing that Mr. Murphy is at least in favor of "uplift." Perhaps his astute common sense will guide him aright into the fold of the supporters of the primary amendments as the best means to carry out his intention of remaining leader as long as he lives. One thing is certain: we will not resent any assistance he may be moved to offer.

With such persons in high places coming out in favor of the proposed innovation, it has slumbered in the Judiciary Committee for a month, has been ignored in the common councils of the party, was refused even a public hearing in the Senate, and is threatened finally with ignominious defeat. Be it known that this treatment has been accorded the amendments by Democrats at a time when the honor of a Democratic Administration and of all earnest men in the party is unmistakably involved.

Our party loyalty is second to none, but from the first the committee has taken the high ground that the primary law amendments were a matter concerning the fundamental right of the franchise and demanded immediate adoption and vindication as an inalienable American principle. We say without hesitation that sooner or later these amendments have got to come and that if Democrats will not do themselves the honor of passing them, then this great reform must be presented to the people by some other party.

As good Democrats, however, anxious for the reputation and future of our party, we resent the imputation that a Democratic Administration is unequal to the demands of the situation, and we once more fervently call upon the present Legislature and Governor and upon Senator Blauvelt, whose self-counsels must by this time have shown him that he is not strong enough to personally shoulder the responsibility for the omission, to take prompt action before the adjournment of the Legislature.

The good character of next Fall's candidates may be decided now. It is not yet too late to give the people an honest primary. Will Democrats do it?

ALEXANDER LIBRARY SALE.

One Eugene Field Pamphlet of 1881 Is Worth $300.

The library of the late James A. Alexander of New York City will be on public exhibition at the American Art Galleries on Monday and until April 2, when it will be sold. It comprises first editions of Eugene Field, the Edinburgh edition of the works of Robert Louis Stevenson, "The Brothers Dalziel," extra illustrated, library sets of many authors and publications of the Bibliophile Society.

Other properties will be sold on April 3. Included in them will be books illustrated by the Cruikshanks, "Phiz," and other artists, a complete set of "The Bon Ton Magazine," a Third Folio Shakespeare, First Issue, 1663, and a painting in oil of the Battle between the Shannon and the Chesapeake by T. Buttersworth.

The Alexander collection of Eugene Field items includes a copy of the rare first edition of "The Tribune Primer," Denver, Col., (1881,) a pamphlet issued at twenty-five cents, and with a present market value of about $300. Special interest attaches to this copy, as it is the one sent by the author to his friend, M. I. Gray of St. Louis. Accompanying the Alexander copy is a letter by Roswell Field to Walter M. Hill of Chicago, dated Nov. 21, 1909, and saying: "There can be no doubt as to the genuineness of its association value. It never was autographed, which is not strange, as Eugene at that time thought nothing of the 'Primer,' and, indeed, never sent me a copy. He did not begin to inscribe or autograph his work until some years after he moved to Chicago."

Women Painters' Exhibition.

The Association of Women Painters and Sculptors will hold its twenty-third annual exhibition at the galleries of Knoedler & Co., 556 Fifth Avenue, from April 6 to April 18, inclusive. This is the society to which Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President, belongs, and, as at the last exhibition, a number of her paintings will be seen. Four cash prizes are to be offered for the most successful exhibitors. Exhibiting guests will be Mary Cassett, Cecelia Beaux, Lydia Field Emmett, Bessie Potter Vonnah, and Anna Hyatt. Jane Peterson is Chairman of the jury selection. Maud M. Mason is the Association President and Olive P. Black Secretary.

SUFFRAGIST BIBLE FIGURES IN DEBATE

Speaker Asserts Mrs. Stanton Tried to Rewrite Scriptures, Omitting Males.

FRENCH BILL IN COMMITTEE

Mr. Sherley Attacks Measure and Women Speak in Its Favor—Rival Sides Applaud.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The woman suffrage question, despite the recent unfavorable vote in the United States Senate, bobbed up serenely again in Congress to-day when the House Elections Committee granted a hearing to "suffragists" and "anti-suffragists" on the French resolution.

The testimony centred around the resolution offered by Mr. French of Idaho, involving the question whether the Federal Constitution should be amended to permit qualified women voters to cast ballots at national and Congressional elections.

The resolution recently defeated by the Senate sought to amend the Constitution so as to provide for State-wide equal suffrage. The proposition now pending seeks to permit women to vote for Presidents, Vice Presidents, and Congressmen.

Members of the committee were stirred by the vigor with which the contending forces presented their arguments. Oral skirmishes punctuated the meeting from start to finish. Many clashes occurred, and these were the result of the unique way in which Representative Rucker of Missouri, Chairman of the committee, conducted the hearing. Instead of hearing first one side and then the other, Mr. Rucker announced at the very outset that he preferred to have the pros and cons of the controversy hammered out in joint discussion.

The result was that suffragists and anti-suffragists were heard alternately, and there was a spirited debate. As either side made a telling point it was applauded by spectators favorable to that side's cause. There were also alternate groans from the opposing camps.

Rewriting the Bible.

An incident of the hearing was the assertion by Miss Minnie Bronson, Secretary of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, that Elizabeth Cady Stanton had attempted to rewrite the Bible without mentioning a male. Mrs. Clara B. Colby of Portland, Ore., Corresponding Secretary of the Federal Suffrage Association, challenged the accuracy of Miss Bronson's statement.

"The committee will adjourn a minute," exclaimed Mr. Rucker, "and you and Miss Bronson may have the entire room."

Representative French, author of the resolution, opened the discussion for the suffragists with a legal argument in which he contended that sex had nothing to do with qualifications for citizenship and that the House could regulate the qualifications of voters for Congressmen. He asserted that the Federal Constitution did not say only men, and not women, should have the right to vote, and cited various precedents in support of his plea.

Representative Swager Sherley of Kentucky insisted that the right of franchise came from the States and should be regulated by the States. He argued that the States can say who may vote. He cited many court precedents in opposition to the contention of the suffragists, and as he gave these cases to the committee, name, date, lawbook number and all, the antis applauded until their gloves were near the splitting point.

"It has been settled," said Mr. Sherley, "that the right to vote comes from the States. The Fifteenth Amendment gave no new rights. It simply prevented the States from denying the right because of three things—race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

Condemns Unsound Laws.

Mr. Sherley also condemned the practice of trying to pass laws without due regard to their constitutionality. He said it was a bad and vicious practice to unload the responsibility upon the judiciary and "nothing short of cowardice."

The Rev. Olivia Browne of Racine, Wis., President of the Federal Suffrage Association, argued that Congress by passing the proposed law would save the advocates of suffrage the necessity of going before the Legislatures of the various States.

"We merely ask you to report the measure favorably," she said, "so that members of the House may have an opportunity to show their true colors."

Miss Lucy Price of Ohio, speaking in opposition, said the anti-suffragists were not present to ask the House to do the easy thing, but to do the right thing.

"I have heard much about the emancipation of women," she said, "but I have not heard what it is that women are to be emancipated from. Is suffrage the best thing for this country? That is the question. In the States where only men vote the very things which women are most interested in are handled in the best manner by the State Legislatures. The particular laws which women want passed are passed in the States where women don't vote. Equal identity of men and women would mean doing away with the safeguards that now protect women. The poison of fatigue and nervous disorders enter into men and there the thing stops. When the poison of fatigue and nervous disorders enter into women it endangers the future of the race."

Mrs. Clara Berwick Colby, Corresponding Secretary of the Federal Suffrage Association, traced the history of women's rights back to the Magna Charta, and showed how women had held office and voted under Anglo-Saxon custom.

"Women," she said, "helped to ratify our Constitution—why not give them some rights under it?"

Leaders Hold a Conference.

Leaders in the suffrage movement from several Eastern States conferred in Washington to-day with Mrs. Medill McCormick of Chicago, Chairman of the Congressional Committee of the National Suffrage Association, in regard to plans for making an issue of the equal suffrage question in the forthcoming general Congressional campaign. Women representing the Congressional Committees of Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia presented reports. In a statement issued afterward, Mrs. McCormick said:

"The reports made by the Chairmen show that Congressional candidates are aware of the importance of the suffrage movement and they no longer try to laugh it down or sneer at the work that the women are doing in politics. The candidates for nominations in all parties are eagerly seeking the support of the women who are in politics. Quite a number of candidates have promised the women that they will forward any movement looking to the submission of the question to a vote of the people."

The statement said also that the most gratifying reports received were from Pennsylvania and New Jersey, where a committeeman had been elected in every Congressional district. Delaware women have become enthusiastic under the leadership of Mrs. Florence Bayard Hillis, who as Congressional Chairman has had charge of the organization work there.

HERR. G. B. SHAW AT THE IRVING PLACE

"Pygmalion," a Comedy of Phonetics, Is Given Here First in German.

MISS ARNSTAEDT IS ELIZA

And Heinrich Marlow Is Excellent in a Play Which London Has Yet to See.

PYGMALION, a comedy in five acts, by George Bernard Shaw. At the Irving Place Theatre.

Ein Stubenmadchen	Selma Weber

When Bernard Shaw finished his latest long play it may have occurred to him that it would be an ingeniously provoking and possibly a bewildering thing for him to carry it off from London and give it first upon the Continent. At all events, that is what he did, explaining at the time that he could through such means produce the play in German without having its appearance heralded by the scoffing criticism of the English dailies and weeklies. That is how it happened that "Pygmalion" appeared for the first time on any stage at the Hofburgtheatre in Vienna last Fall, and that it was published for the first time in German.

That is also how it happens that the new Shaw play makes its first arrival in New York not for an appearance on Broadway, but down in Irving Place at the German theatre. So while New York in general has had to go as far back as "The Philanderer" for its Shavian diversion this season the programme at the Irving Place Theatre last night announced: "Pygmalion, Komödie in 5 Akten von Bernard Shaw." This was regarded as very much of a feather in the cap of Director Christians, and the premiere last night was something of a gala occasion.

This highly characteristic piece from Mr. Shaw's pen was received with enthusiasm. It is a comedy of phonetics, for the Pygmalion of the title is no statuary of ancient Cyprus but Prof. Henry Higgins, specialist in phonetics, and his Galatea is just Eliza Doolittle—Eliza, the Cockney flower-girl from Tottenham Road, whom he knows he can turn into as good a duchess as any by merely reforming her fearful and raucous speech through that attention to vowels and consonants of which he is the master. It is not what we do that counts, nor what we say, but the way we say it. As a man enunciates, so is he. This is the thesis, and to write an amusing comedy about it is one way to take a Shavian shot at social distinctions.

The professor has reduced phonetics to so exact a science that by merely listening to one's speech he can tell within eight kilometers the very spot of his birth. The first act finds him exhibiting his powers to a group of strangers driven together during a night rainstorm under the sheltering porch of St. Paul's Church in Covent Garden—a setting for an act that Clyde Fitch would have enjoyed. As each one talks the meditative scientist calls forth the place of birth, and as this is done in German it is most amusing. To hear one of the rain-trapped pour forth a stream of guttural German only to have the alert professor chime in triumphantly with some such word as "Dover" or "Hempstead" is in itself entertaining enough to have justified the first production on the continent.

The "disgusting tones" of Eliza's Cockney speech are represented in the German by some such slovenly dialect as might be caught up in the by-ways of Berlin, and as it is amusingly played by Hansi Arnstaedt, the visiting star at the Irving Place, the unsuggestive "Ah-ah-ah-au-au-au-uh" of the text becomes a cross between a Banshee's wail and a yodel that altogether justifies the professor's horror and his scientific interest.

But of course the process of making a Duchess out of Eliza all in the space of a scientifically employed six months develops also a soul. The stirrings of this soul in his handiwork are first noticed by this latter-day Pygmalion when she throws his slippers at his head, and when the curtain falls on the last act it has dawned upon him that he has come to regard his Galatea as something other than a scientific experiment.

The professor is a rôle that belongs in the Shavian gallery somewhere near the niche occupied by John Tanner of "Man and Superman," and it is skilfully played at the Irving Place by Heinrich Marlow.

Luncheon for Miss Hollister.

Mrs. Henry Evans of 20 Fifth Avenue gave a luncheon yesterday at the Ritz-Carlton for Miss Dorothy T. Hollister, the débutante daughter of Mrs. G. Trowbridge Hollister. The guests were seated at one large table, which was decorated with a centrepiece of jonquils and mauve sweet peas. Bunches of violets were placed as favors at the plates. The guests included, besides Miss Hollister, the Misses Evelyn Scott, Dorothy Keene Taylor, Charlotte Strong, Louise Herrick, Louise Tiffany Frank, Helen de Forest Griffin, Vieva Fisher, Mary Baker, Florence Colgate, Marion Hall, Dorothy Legg Howard, Barbara Shedd, and also Mrs. Hollister and Mrs. Perry.

'MARTHA' SUNG AT CENTURY

Lois Ewell and Harrold in a Performance That Sustained Interest.

A week's presentation of von Flotow's "Martha" was begun at the Century Opera House last night. The cast included Lois Ewell as Lady Harriet, Bertha Shalek as Nancy, Louis Kreidler as Plunkett, and Orville Harrold as Lionel. William Schuster was Sir Tristan, and Frank Phillips the Sheriff of Richmond. The work has not been presented on as pretentious a scale for several years, and last night's hearing impressed again the fact that somehow the particular tunefulness which von Flotow put into this opera bears repetition more happily than is the case with a great many similar works of the same period, possibly because there are moments of enough real feeling to balance against a sugary sweetness that might otherwise be cloying.

There were some disturbing bits in the ensemble last night, but on the whole the performance was one that moved well and sustained interest. Miss Ewell's voice showed plainly the strain of the arduous season she has undergone, but she sang very agreeably most of the time and did not fail of any of the applause the interpolated "Last Rose of Summer" is always good for. Mr. Harrold was not entirely himself vocally always, but when it came to his conspicuous moments he pulled himself together and the result was enjoyable. Mr. Kreidler's Plunkett and Miss Shalek's Nancy were good even performances, and William Schuster deserves mention for his Sir Tristan.

Mr. Nicosia conducted capably, though the chorus gave him trouble. The enunciation was always good, and this text did not suffer by it. The stage management is to be blamed for letting Sir Tristan steal into Plunkett's house by the window when the door right next to it was conspicuously open, as it was, to the audience's amusement, when he and the two girls again chose the window to leave by.

The St. Cecilia Club, made up largely of society amateurs, gave last night an invitation concert in the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria. The club, of which Victor Harris is the conductor, was assisted by Gutia Casini, 'cellist, and Charles Gilbert Spross and Frank La Forge, accompanists.

Last night's programme included "The River Sings," the music by Pointer and words by Kingsley; "What Can Lambkins Do?" music by Coleridge Taylor and words by Christina Rossetti; "Venice," words by Vance Thompson and music by Harris; "The Widow Malone," words by Charles Lever and music by Marchant, and Burns's "A Red, Red Rose," with music by Frank S. Hastings. There was a large audience.

ARCHITECTS IN COSTUME.

League Gives a Latin Quarter Dinner—Pantomime and Dances.

The members of the Architectural League gave their annual entertainment last night at 215 West Fifty-seventh Street. It was called a Latin Quarter dinner and dance, and the rooms were made over to represent a street in the Latin Quartier in Paris. Tables were placed in the make-believe street, and there was a cabaret performance during the dinner.

There were about a hundred and fifty present, and everybody came in picturesque costume. Members of the league appeared in pantomime and dances, and there were professional entertainers besides. General dancing followed the dinner, and the carnival spirit reigned.

MISS JULIA ROBBINS TO WED LYDIG HOYT

Young Society Beauty Was One of Paul Helleu's Types of American Womanhood.

ACTIVE AMATEUR ACTRESS

Her Fiance Is a Yale Graduate and Member of the Knickerbocker Club—Wedding in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian W. Robbins of 33 East Seventy-fourth Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Julia W. Robbins, to Lydig Hoyt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Hoyt of 28 East Thirty-sixth Street.

Miss Robbins was introduced to society by her mother two years ago, and has been active in the doings of the younger set ever since, appearing in many amateur theatricals for charity. She is considered one of the beauties of the fashionable set, being a pronounced brunette. Paul Helleu, the famous French artist, included her in his types of truly American womanhood in the Helleu Supplement which was published by THE TIMES.

Since her coming out Miss Robbins has been in demand for society entertainments, and has displayed much grace and talent in her various rôles. At the Junior League entertainment in January she recited the prologues, dressed as a pierrot, and later appeared in a fancy dance. Her last appearance was at the Venetian pageant at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Her mother was Miss Sarah G. Jewett before her marriage, a daughter of the first President of the Erie Railroad. Her sister is Mrs. John W. Minturn, who has a country place at Syosset, L. I.

Mr. Hoyt also comes from a prominent family. His mother was Miss Mary Appleton. He has a sister, Mrs. Samuel A. Wellden, who resides at 316 Lexington Avenue. He was graduated from Yale, class of 1906, and belongs to the Knickerbocker, Racquet, and Tennis Clubs and the Sons of the Revolution.

The wedding is to be celebrated during the first week in June. The ceremony will be performed in St. George's Chapel in Stuyvesant Square, and will be witnessed only by the families and intimate friends. A large reception will follow at the Robbins home.

"ROOSEVELT ALL RIGHT."

Museum of Natural History Hears from Consul at Para.

Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn, President of the Museum of Natural History, said last night he was satisfied that no harm had come to Col. Roosevelt in South America, and that the Museum was making no further effort to get in touch with the Colonel's party. Prof. Osborn received his assurances from United States Consul Pickerell, Para, Brazil, to whom he had appealed by cable for information regarding the mishap in the Fjala wing of the Roosevelt expedition.

Consul Pickerell's message was brief. "Roosevelt all right," he cabled. "Arriving at Manaos by way of Tapagio River."

This was taken to mean that Col. Roosevelt and his party were near Manaos, the capital of the State of Amazonas. Anthony Fiala, whose cablegram telling of the loss of two canoe loads of property, reached THE TIMES last Sunday, is believed to be in advance and to the east of the Roosevelt party. According to the cablegram he sent THE TIMES on Monday he expected to reach Manaos yesterday.

POISON IN BIBLE COVERS.

Bible Society Protects Gilbert Islands Gift from Insects.

The American Bible Society sent a thousand Bibles, printed in the Gilbert Islands language, yesterday to Micronesia. The Bibles, which cost the society $1,367, are a free gift to the American Board's Micronesian mission. They will be distributed principally from Ocean Island, which is a mile and a half in diameter and a point of call for many ships because of the wealth of its phosphate deposits.

To protect the Bibles from insects the binders worked poison into their covers. The Bibles were soldered up in tin packages of twenty and put in fifty stout wooden boxes for their long journey to Australia and then to Micronesia, which is 5,000 miles southwest of San Francisco.

THRIVES WITH PIG'S CORNEA.

Child Expected to Regain Sight of Eye Operated On.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 24.—Success is expected to crown the operation by which the cornea of a pig was grafted on the eye of David Kane, three months old, in the Baltimore Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital yesterday. The actual result will be known next Sunday.

The surgeon who performed the operation was not sanguine of its success, but it was the only chance of restoring the sight of the eye. The bandage was removed from the eye this afternoon and an examination showed that the first stages of the experiment more than met the hope of the surgeons.

The bandage was replaced and will now remain over the eye until Saturday night.

Mr. Yon's Organ Recital.

The organ in Aeolian Hall was heard for the first time in a public recital last evening, which was given by Pietro A. Yon, organist of the Church of St. Francis Xavier. There was a large audience. The most important pieces on Mr. Yon's programme were the Prelude and Fugue in A minor and an aria by Bach and the second sonato by F. de la Tombelle. There were also two pieces by Mr. Yon himself. He is an accomplished player, with an accurate and dexterous technique, with a sense of rhythm and the means of realizing it in his performance upon the organ. His recital would have had more musical interest if less of it had been devoted to exploiting the most unmusical solo stops of the instrument.

MISS GOODSON'S RECITAL.

The English Pianist Appears in Carnegie Hall.

Miss Katharine Goodson, the English pianist, who has several times been heard this season in New York concerts, gave a piano recital last evening which attracted an audience of considerable numbers to Carnegie Hall. She played a varied programme, in which numerically Chopin was given the most important place, with seven numbers, including some of the most familiar and most frequently played of his compositions. Miss Goodson also offered four of Brahms's piano pieces, Op. 119, which pianists seldom put on their programmes, several of which are rather too intimate in their character for public performance in a large hall, though they are of exquisite poetical beauty and suggestiveness. She also played Beethoven's C sharp minor sonata (foolishly tagged with the nickname of "Moonlight") and pieces by Grieg, Hinton, Moszkowski, and Liszt.

Miss Goodson played these with brilliant technique and musical insight. Her style has rhythmic incisiveness and clear articulation, as has often been made evident in her previous appearances here, and her performances are always interesting and significant. Last evening she gave great pleasure to a discriminating and attentive audience.

WINTER GARDEN JUBILEE.

Many Stars Appear in Third Anniversary Special Performance.

In celebration of its third anniversary, a special performance was given at the Winter Garden last night at the close of "The Whirl of the World." The entertainment consisted of specialties by many prominent actors appearing in Shubert attractions. Charles J. Ross acted as master of ceremonies, and, with the assistance of the spotlight man, discovered many of the stars in the audience, whereupon they came on the stage and did their "stunts."

Among them were Gaby Deslys and Harry Pilcer, Olga Petrova, Gertrude Hoffmann, Mlle. Dazie, Stella Mayhew, Joan Sawyer and John Jarrott, Harry Fox and Yancsi Dolly, Lawrance D'Orsay, Ralph Bunker, Mlle. Rabiere, Harry La Pearl, Carter De Haven, Blanche Ring, and Harry Conor. The entertainment lasted until 1 o'clock.

MUST LIVE ON TO WIN.

So Twenty-Year Policy Holders Outlast All Others, Says A. Hunter.

At the meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association of New York in the Hotel Astor last night Arthur Hunter, actuary of the New York Life Insurance Company, read part of a report on mortality in the United States compiled recently by an investigating committee appointed by forty-three of the leading life insurance companies of America. It had been found, among other things, that the mortality rate among women who took out 20-year endowment policies was lower than among women who took out ordinary life policies.

This fact, Mr. Hunter said, appeared to support the theory of the influence of mind over matter in producing longevity. "The woman who expects to receive the principal of her insurance if she lives twenty years," he said, "generally determines to live twenty years and get it, whereas the woman who has insured herself for the benefit of heirs has no incentive of the kind."

The report also showed that the mortality rate among spinsters was lower than that among married women, and among women in business lower than among business men. The rate of death from accidents was greater in the United States than in any other country, Mr. Hunter said, and added that the "I'll take a chance" spirit of the average American was responsible for this.

Dr. Oscar H. Rogers, medical director of the New York Life, said that when an insurance company rejected the application of anyone for a policy the applicant should be informed of the reason for the rejection so that he might take advantage of the knowledge to improve his health.

FIND LODGING HOUSE O. K.

Ministers Tell Mayor City Cares Well for the Homeless.

A special committee of New York clergymen who made an unannounced visit to the Municipal Lodging House last Thursday night, remaining there until after 2 A. M., sent to Mayor Mitchel yesterday a report upon their visit, with recommendations for improvement of the accommodations and general service.

The committee was composed of the Rev. Robert F. Y. Pierce, representing the Southern New York Baptist Association; the Rev. Paul S. Leinbach, representing the Presbyterian Ministers' Association; the Rev. O. H. Pannoke of the Lutheran Church, and the Rev. Prof. Cranston Brenton, Executive Secretary of the Social Service Commission of the Episcopal Diocese of New York.

Prof. Cranston, who wrote the committee's report, said that the inspection was inspired by harsh newspaper criticisms of the treatment of the poor and unemployed in the Municipal Lodging House. The committee found, he said, that the reports were unfounded and the treatment of the applicants for free lodging was all that could be expected.

TREE PLANTERS MEET.

Association Has Grown from Small Membership.

The Tree Planting Association met last night at 122 Madison Avenue. Dr. Stephen Smith, the President, told of the great value of trees to the health of the community, and said that the famous Washington Elm distributed daily through its leaves hundreds of barrels of moisture, equal in volume to what five acres of grass was able to distribute.

William Mitchell, a brother of the late Col. Cornelius B. Mitchell, who organized the association in 1896 by gathering about him a few friends interested in beautifying the Washington Square neighborhood, traced its growth from small membership. The association recently submitted to the Park Department, he said, a plan for the establishment of a Forestry Bureau. Prof. H. P. Baker of Syracuse also spoke.

Among those present were the Mayor and Mrs. Mitchel, Bishop and Mrs. Greer, President and Mrs. McAneny, Park Commissioner Ward, Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler, District Attorney and Mrs. Whitman, Controller and Mrs. Prendergast, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. de Forest, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Delafield, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Willcox, Herman Ridder, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scribner, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. French, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Witherbee, Mr. and Mrs. John Claflin, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Whitridge, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Auerbach, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Milburn, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Tomkins, Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Low, and Dr. Thomas Darlington.

MISS PARKS HAS TWO GUNS.

But Chicago's Policewoman Won't Tell Where She Carries Them.

Policewoman Lulu Parks of Chicago searched the theatres and dance halls of Manhattan yesterday for Marie Stopper, a runaway from the Windy City. Detectives Devoti and Foley from Police Headquarters were with her as guides. Last night the trio made a round of the cabarets without finding Marie. The search will be continued to-day.

Miss Parks looks like a woman who can take care of herself. She admitted yesterday that she carried two revolvers, one the big regulation weapon and the other a smaller one.

"Where do you keep them?" she was asked.

"Ah, a secret," she replied.

"Did you bring handcuffs, too?"

"I don't think I will need them," she said. "I am not expecting any trouble."

"What is your specialty?" she was asked.

"My work as a policewoman has been mainly concerned with women and children," she said. "The hardest assignment I ever had was to get evidence in drug cases."

Miss Parks favors plain clothes for policewomen. She said that thirteen out of Chicago's force of fifteen policewomen went about without display of uniform or badge, and thus were able to get evidence which otherwise would be hard to obtain. She will go to Police Headquarters this morning to see the "line up" of crooks.

CONTRACTORS OPPOSE BILL.

Fear the P. S. Commission Wants to Construct Subways Itself.

Contractors are much worked up over the bill which the Public Service Commission has had introduced at Albany to amend the Rapid Transit act so as to permit the commission itself to undertake the actual construction work. The Bulletin, the organ of the General Contractors Association, will publish an article in which it will declare that this is a nefarious scheme to "provide jobs."

It will ask if the commission believes that it can dig subways any more cheaply than it is getting them dug now, and will say that on one section, recently advertised, there were eighteen bidders, and that the price at which the contract was awarded was considerably lower than that which the commission's own engineers had calculated it would be.

As a matter of fact, it was explained by the commission at the time the amendment was taken up to Albany, it had no intention of doing any construction work itself. It happened, however, from time to time that a company to which a contract had been awarded failed to accomplish its job or went bankrupt. It was then necessary under the present law either to find a firm to whom the contract might be assigned, or to readvertise for bids. The commission wished the law amended so that it might legally, if it saw fit, pick up such an abandoned job and complete it under its own engineers.

JAMES CONNAUGHTON DEAD.

Chief Keeper at Sing Sing for 31 Years Was a Picturesque Character.

James Connaughton, for thirty-eight years keeper at Sing Sing Prison and for thirty-one years principal keeper there, died at his home in Ossining of hardening of the arteries yesterday. He was stricken with apoplexy recently and had to cease work. He was 63 years old, and a native of County Longford, Ireland.

The "P. K.," as Mr. Connaughton was known to many prison generations, was one of the most picturesque and forceful characters of that grim old prison, and one of the best disciplinarians in the country. In early life he was associated with his brother, Michael, in the grocery business, and later was employed in a drugstore in Albany. He became a keeper at Sing Sing in 1876 and principal keeper in 1883. Those who obeyed the prison rules found in him a staunch friend, but those who violated the rules found him a drastic taskmaster.

In 1883 and 1884, an investigation of the prison by the State served to weaken discipline in the institution, and 500 convicts threw down their tools and refused to go to work. Connaughton led a force of keepers against the rebels and brought them into speedy submission. For days thereafter, they tasted of bread and water diet in dark cells. Strikes became unpopular. His coolness likewise quelled the riot at Sing Sing after the indictment of Warden Kennedy, who was liked by the convicts, a year ago.

Mr. Connaughton was not absent from Sing Sing two months in his entire thirty-eight years of service. He never took a vacation. He was practically a stranger in New York. A few years ago he came here to visit District Attorney Jerome and made up his mind to see the tall buildings. But he had merely time to hurry from the Subway to the District Attorney's office and back again. When he returned he complained that he had seen nothing except "the cellar."

Well-Known Lawyer Was Member of Manhattan and Other Clubs.

Andrew Shiland, a well-known lawyer in this city and senior member of the law firm of Shiland & Hedges, of 149 Broadway, died yesterday at his residence, 109 East Fifty-seventh Street, of acute heart disease. Mr. Shiland was a son of the late Rev. Andrew Shiland and Mary Stark Shiland, and a grandson of the Rev. Andrew Stark, D. D., LL. D. He was born at Mount Kisco, N. Y., April 15, 1855, and was educated at the United States Military Academy and at Columbia Law School, from which he was graduated in 1877.

Mr. Shiland was one of the founders of the New York Throat, Nose, and Lung Hospital, and he served as President of that institution from its foundation in 1891 to 1904. He was President and Trustee of the Clinton Hall Association, which was founded to maintain the Mercantile Library of New York, and a member of the Racquet and Tennis, Manhattan, Metropolitan, Opera, Automobile of America, Lawyers and Oakland Golf Clubs and the New York City Bar Association. He is survived by his widow and a son, Andrew R. Shiland.

M. Spencer Bevins.

M. Spencer Bevins, a lawyer, with offices at 299 Broadway, this city, died suddenly last night at his home, 277 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn. The cause of death was heart disease. He was 44 years old. Mr. Bevins was a son of Stanley H. Bevins of 272 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn. He had been engaged in the practice of law in this city for eight years. He was a member of the firm of Bevins & Fleugleman. Mr. Bevins was a member of the Union League Club of Brooklyn, the Royal Arcanum, Palestine Commandery, and of the I. O. O. F. He is survived by his wife, a son and a daughter.

John Norris Buried.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—The body of John Norris of New York, long prominent in newspaper circles of the country, who died last Saturday, was buried in Mount Moriah Cemetery here to-day. A delegation of New York newspaper men accompanied the body here. Brief services were held at the grave. A delegation of Philadelphia newspaper friends among others met the body at the railroad station and accompanied it to the cemetery.

Robert Bridgman's Funeral.

Simple funeral services for Robert Bridgman, son of Herbert L. Bridgman, were held yesterday at the home of his father, 604 Carlton Avenue, Brooklyn. Only the immediate relatives of the family attended. The Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church, officiated. Many floral pieces sent by relatives and friends of Mr. Bridgman were banked around the coffin.

He was born in Hartford, Conn., and had been in business sixty-one years, retiring about a year ago. TOBACCO COMPANIES WOULD STOP U.S. SUIT

METROPOLITAN MAY FIGHT

Independents Insist It's a Monopoly and Should Be Forced to Go Out of Business.

Counsel for the four principal tobacco companies resulting from the dissolution of the Tobacco Trust and for the Metropolitan Tobacco Company, which the independents allege has a monopoly of the jobbing business in this city, will have a conference to-day with United States District Attorney Marshall and his assistant, Claude A. Thompson, who has had immediate charge of the investigation of the tobacco situation.

This will be the first definite step toward a possible voluntary adjustment of the situation complained of by the independent jobbers and manufacturers in regard to the Metropolitan, and it is expected that the conference will be confined to that situation, although the investigation that has been in progress for several months is also concerned with possible violations of the dissolution decree by the other four companies, the American Tobacco Company, P. Lorillard Company, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company and R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, and the purchase of the Riker-Hegeman drug stores by George J. Whelan, head of the United Cigar Stores Company.

During the investigation made by Mr. Thompson officers of the several companies asked that before the Department of Justice took any court action, if such a course were determined upon, an opportunity be given to them to discuss the matters considered by the department to be in violation of the Sherman law or the dissolution decree, and in response to this request the five companies were invited to send their counsel to the conference to be held today.

The officers of these companies had no idea yesterday what demands would be made on behalf of the Government. The independent jobbers, however, will be surprised if the Government does not take the position that the Metropolitan Tobacco Company must wind up its affairs and go out of business altogether, probably with an injunction against its owners going into the same business again in this city, at least for a term of years.

Charles Dushkind, counsel for the independents, especially E. Locker & Co., the Brooklyn jobbers who have a suit against the Metropolitan and the American for triple damages under the Sherman law, said yesterday that nothing less than this would meet the situation and be satisfactory to them.

Such a demand would be more drastic than any heretofore made in an anti-trust case, but the independents point out that there is a reason for such a difference. In the cases against the Tobacco Trust and the Standard Oil Company the courts were careful to protect the interests of innocent stockholders and bondholders and those of banks which had made loans on the security of these issues. The destruction of this property in the hands of innocent parties, it was argued, might have far-reaching results which would not be just or equitable.

The Metropolitan Tobacco Company, on the other hand, was originally organized by some fourteen or fifteen men and is now controlled by substantially the same individuals. If the value of their holdings is based on a monopoly created by a conspiracy on the part of these men, it is contended, nobody but they would suffer by its destruction. No securities of the company have ever been sold to the public, and it is said that few shares ever have changed hands.

None of the tobacco manufacturing companies has ever owned any stock in the Metropolitan, but it was alleged in the Locker case that it was financed at its inception by J. B. Duke, then President of the American Tobacco Company. Since that time it has been the practice of the American Tobacco Company to recognize no other jobbers in this city. Independent jobbers were compelled to buy trust products through the Metropolitan at the same prices as retailers, and consequently had to sell to retailers at cost.

In this way, it was alleged in the Locker case, many jobbers were driven out of business, and the Metropolitan finally acquired a monopoly. Methods used in reaching this position were alleged to have been in violation of the Sherman law. At the trial of the Locker case Judge Mayer instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the defense. The case is now on appeal to the Circuit Court.

After the Tobacco Trust was split up into four big manufacturing companies and a number of smaller ones, the four continued to sell only to the Metropolitan at jobbers' prices, and this is still the case, except that Liggett & Myers have let down the bars to such independents as are still in the field. One of the demands that is expected to be made at the conference to-morrow is that these companies discontinue recognizing only the Metropolitan as a jobber and sell on the same terms to other jobbers.

This the American, P. Lorillard, and Reynolds Companies are expected to agree to without much difficulty, but in the view of the independents this will not settle the matter by a good deal. They say that the Metropolitan has become so strongly intrenched that there will be a few existing independents for the four companies to sell to and that there will be no opening for new ones to start up. For this reason they insist on the entre dissolution of the Metropolitan through the appointment of a receiver, as provided by the Sherman law, unless the Metropolitan gives up the ghost voluntarily.

This raises the question: What would be gained by the Metropolitan in making such an agreement, inasmuch as nothing worse could happen to it if completely beaten in a Government suit? To this the independents answer that it might avoid the criminal prosecution of the persons who brought about the alleged monopoly.

At the conference to-day the American Tobacco Company will be represented by Junius Parker, its general counsel, and De Lancey Nicoll; Liggett & Myers by Frank L. Fuller, the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company by Burton Craige, the P. Lorillard Company by J. Hamilton, and the Metropolitan Tobacco Company by ex-Justice W. N. Cohen.

THE CORN PRODUCTS SUIT.

Stockholders Told That It Can't Be Settled Out of Court.

President E. T. Bedford of the Corn Products Refining Company told the stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday that there was no hope of a settlement out of court of the Government suit to dissolve the company.

"We have had a number of interviews with the officials of the Department of Justice," said Mr. Bedford, speaking for the Directors. "Irrespective of a rapid increase in competition, and a relative decrease in the percentage of our production, the Government insists on the disintegration of your company into several corporations, each with its separate stockholders. We have explained to the Department of Justice that such a violent dismemberment must necessarily destroy the economic efficiency secured at great labor and expense in our four plants, none of which is in itself a complete operating unit, each being supplemental to the other, and the whole forming a single co-operative chain. While most anxious to save the time and expense necessary for the defense of the suit, at present we cannot hold out any hope of a settlement out of court."

The matter of scaling down the company's capital from $80,000,00 to $40,000,000, which Mr. Bedford recommended when he went to the company several years ago was discussed by the shareholders. Thomas Reed of 2 Wall Street, hold of 6,000 shares of stock, submitted a resolution that such action be taken, and received the support of a majority of the share owners. Mr. Reed suggested that new preferred stock to the amount of $10,000,000 be issued and exchanged for the $50,000,000 common stock outstanding, but the plan was shown by Mr. Bedford to be impossible, as the consent of the present holders of preferred shares would be necessary, and this it would be practically impossible to obtain.

In the stock market Corn Products shares broke sharply in the last hour. The preferred closed at 64, with a net loss of 5⅝ points, while the common, at 9¾, showed a net decline of 2 points.

CAN DISSOLUTION SUIT ON.

Company Books and Agreements Made Part of the Record.

Taking of testimony in the suit brought by the Department of Justice against the American Can Company and its subsidiaries under the Sherman Act, alleging restraint of interstate and foreign trade, was begun yesterday in the office of Hatch & Sheehan at 14 Wall Street. The first session was devoted to the introduction of books, agreements and records produced by R. H. Ismon, Secretary of the company, in response to a subpoena.

The hearings are being held before Edward Hacker, examiner appointed by the Government, and the Department is represented by Col. W. T. Chantland, Special Assistant Attorney General; John P. Hill, United States Attorney for Maryland, and Van Sinderen Lindsley, a Special Assistant Attorney General. Former Judge J. B. Payne of Chicago, George R. Willis of Baltimore, L. A. Welles of New York, and W. F. Sheehan are taking care of the can company's interests.

Col. Chantland said he expected to prove from the company's books that it had entered into agreements with rival manufacturers not only to restrict trade but also to divide up territory. The entire afternoon was taken up with the work of putting into the records the documents submitted by Mr. Ismon. The prosecution agreed not to put into the record at this time the amounts of salaries paid, but reserved the right to ask this information later.

Counsel for the Government said that an important fact shown by the company's exhibits was a memorandum from the Executive Committee's minute book showing that in 1908 the company agreed with E. B. Dening, a large independent manufacturer at Bellingham, Wash., not to make salmon cans in consideration of Dening's promise to refrain from making fruit containers.

The hearing will be resumed this morning, but it will be some days before oral testimony is taken.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

City.

EDWIN D. WASHBURNE & CO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Edwin D. Washburne and Charles W. Holton, who compose the firm of Edwin D. Washburne & Co., wholesale dealers in diamonds and jewelry, at 7 Maiden Lane, by these creditors: Israel J. Roe, $3,527; John W. Block, Jr., $575, and Julius J. Flack, $393. It was alleged that on March 24 they admitted in writing inability to pay their debts. A meeting of creditors was held on Nov. 13 last, at which an offer of settlement was made at 20 cents on the dollar. This was refused, and afterward the assets of the firm were turned over to E. S. Stone, Secretary of the National Jewelers Board of Trade, who has since been administering the estate for the creditors. Judge Hough yesterday appointed Mr. Stone receiver, under a bond of $3,000. It was stated that the amount of assets is not definitely known to the petitioners, but is at least $20,000.

F. T. NESBIT & CO., INC.—A petition has been filed against F. T. Nesbit & Co., Inc., building contractors of 116 Nassau Street, by Weschler & Kohn, attorneys for these creditors: Candee, Smith & Howland, $800; Adam Happel, $174, and Alex Aaronson, $3. Judge Hough appointed Alfred L. Rose, Jr., receiver, under a bond of $15,000, and authorized him to continue the business for thirty days. Walter T. Kohn of Weschler & Kohn said that the liabilities are $275,000 and quick assets are $75,000, in addition to which the corporation has considerable real estate and several large contracts. The trouble was due to lack of ready cash to pay bills.

JAMES F. LARKIN.—A petition has been filed against James F. Larkin, dealer in hatters supplies and fancy letters for adornment of floral pieces at 291 Mercer Street, by Albert Hubner Nachflgr of Berlin, Germany, a creditor for $1,077. Judge Hough appointed William Henkel, Jr., receiver, under a bond of $500. It was stated that Larkin locked up the store two months ago and abandoned the premises. The assets were estimated at $750, most of which were purchased from the petitioning creditor.

ALFRED H. GOLDSTONE of 340 West Eighty-sixth Street has filed a petition, with liabilities of $40,266 and no assets. The largest creditors are Martha N. Cohenno, $25,000, on which she obtained judgment for $12,037, and Sophie Goldstone, $15,000 loans.

JOHN W. BREYFOGLE, artist, of 1,356 University Avenue has filed a petition, with liabilities of $26,850 and assets consisting of some furniture and pictures, on which there is a lien of $650 and for which exemption is claimed. Among the creditors are F. L. Breyfogle, $15,000 loan, and William L. Breyfogle of Lake George, N. Y., as administrator, $10,000.

BERNARD DALY.—Judge Hand has denied a discharge from bankruptcy to Bernard Daly, liquor dealer, of 554 Eleventh Avenue, who formerly had a saloon at 100 Nassau Street, on specifications filed by F. F. Eiseman, attorney for William Lanahan & Son of Baltimore. The principal specifications were that he concealed assets from his trustee, viz, $4,400, which he claimed to have paid to Patrick McGirr a few days before bankruptcy, and real estate, 508 and 510 West 143d Street, which was conveyed to Michael Shea, to be held as a secret trust for Daly's benefit. The petition was filed on April 6, 1908, and the schedules showed liabilities $42,450 and assets $29,433.

ABE SOLOMON & BROTHER.—Judge Hough has denied a discharge to Abe Solomon & Brother, the "Overcoat Kings," of 736 Broadway, who were sentenced a few weeks ago to short terms on Blackwell's Island for concealing assets. A petition was filed against them on September 18, 1912. Liabilities were $74,298 and assets $27,072.

FRANK T. MADDEN.—Judge Hough has granted a discharge to Frank T. Madden of Poughkeepsie.

McCREADY-BEALS CO.—Schedules of the McCready-Beals Company, publishers of Dress, 11 West Thirty-second Street, show liabilities of $52,402 and nominal assets of $40,000 in good will and copyright of the publication, subscription list, and contracts for advertising. Among the creditors are Thomas J. Gaines, Jr., $35,006, money loaned; Mansi Joyant et Cie., Paris, $6,001, and the Charles Francis Press, $3,478.

ARTHUR COHN.—Schedules of Arthur Cohn, dealer in dry goods, of 2,808 Seventh Avenue, have been filed by his attorney, Samuel B. Pollak, as Mr. Cohn's whereabouts are unknown since the petition was filed on April 29, 1913. Liabilities are $14,158 and assets $1,611, consisting of proceeds of sale of stock and fixtures by the receiver, $1,025, and cash from running the business by the receiver, $585.

PAYMER & JACOBER.—Schedules of Paymer & Jacober, wholesale dealers in dresses at 86 Allen Street, show liabilities of $1,548 and assets of $901, consisting of stock, $875; accounts, $22, and cash in bank, $4.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—An extensive area of low barometer has developed over Western districts and within it there are two well-developed storm centres, one over Eastern Nebraska and the other over the western Plateau region.

These disturbances have caused snows along the northern border from Minnesota to Montana and in the Rocky Mountain region, and rains on the North Pacific Coast. The pressure is high and increasing over the Western Canadian Provinces, with unusually low temperatures in that region. Temperatures have risen decidedly in the great Central Valleys and in the Lake region, and a further though gradual hise in temperature has taken place throughout the East and South.

With the exception of rains and snows referred to in the Northwest, fair weather was general during the last twenty-four hours.

There will be snows Wednesday in the North Plains States and the North Rocky Mountain region, rains and snows in the extreme upper Mississippi Valley, and rains in the Mississippi Valley and the West Gluf States.

It is probable that the area of unsettled weather and rains will overspread the Middle Atlantic States and New England, the Ohio Valley, Tennessee, and the East Gulf States during Thursday or Thursday night.

Temperature will rise Thursday in the Atlantic States and will fall Wednesday and Thursday in the upper Mississippi Valley, the Plains States, and the Rocky Mountain region, and Thursday or Thursday night in the Gulf States, Tennessee, the Ohio Valley, and the Lake region.

Winds for Wednesday and Thursday along the North Atlantic Coast will be moderate variable, becoming southeast; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate south; South Atlantic Coast, moderate east and southeast.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND THURSDAY.

Eastern New York—Fair and warmer Wednesday. Thursday, cloudy, probably rain; moderate southeast winds.

Southern New England—Fair and warmer Wednesday. Thursday, cloudy, probably rain; moderate southeast winds.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair and warmer Wednesday. Thursday, increasing cloudiness, probably followed by rain; moderate south winds.

Western New York—Increasing cloudiness and warmer Wednesday. Thursday, rain or snow and colder; increasing south winds.

Northern New England—Fair and warmer Wednesday. Thursday, probably rain or snow; moderate southeast winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows;

Sues for a $35,000 Corot.

Laura B. Fitch brought suit against the Ehrich Galleries, at 707 Fifth Avenue, yesterday to recover a painting by Corot, which she values at $35,000. The complaint says that the defendant got possession of the painting about Jan. 28, 1914, and that it is still in his possession. Paintings by Corot have sold as high as $85,000, and very few of them are worth less than the value placed upon the painting in dispute by the plaintiff. Lewis Sayre Burchard is her attorney.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Prices React, Trading Lighter —Outlook for Rate Case Decision.

In a much quieter market prices fell off yesterday, but except in a very few issues the movements were of the desultory sort, which have been seen in most recent sessions of the Stock Exchange. Perhaps the chief explanation of the reaction in the afternoon was a growing realization that too ready an ear had been lent to the previous day's reports that the action to be taken by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the freight rate case would be made known before the week was out. In a formal statement yesterday the commission set March 30 and 31 for the taking of additional testimony in behalf of the railroads and named three days late in April for the completion of this testimony in case it will not all be submitted on the last two days of this month.

This served pretty effectively to set at rest the theory that a practically immediate decision would be announced. For that belief there had never appeared any real foundation, but apparently was widely accepted. The railroads do not seem to have been counting on any decision until June, and it is still considered probable that the ruling of the commission will be announced some time in that month. This is on the theory, on one hand, that the commission will be desirous of settling this important case before adjourning for the Summer, and on the other, that with the hearings lasting until close to the first of May the commission is not likely to be able to formulate its decision much short of some time in June. Of course, if the railroads do not need to avail themselves of the later days in April fixed by the commission its decision will probably be rendered earlier than now seems probable. In this outlook regarding the course which the rate case will take there may be ground for regret, but not for disappointment except among those who have counted on a much earlier decision contrary to probability.

Evidence accumulates of increasing ease in money not only here, but in some of the European markets as well. Exceptional transactions in commercial paper have been made as low as 3½ per cent., and lenders find it difficult to place their funds at the rates named for the short time loans on Stock Exchange collateral. Reports that Germany had been borrowing three months' money here at 4¼ per cent. must have referred to special transactions, for neither the time money rate here nor the discount rate in Berlin would suggest the necessity of the payment of such a rate on ninety-day money. If such loans were made they cannot be regarded as typical of the situation as a whole. At the moment discounts are quoted in Berlin at 3¼ per cent. and rates as low as 2⅞ per cent. are quoted for the discount of ninety-day bills to arrive after the end-of-March settlement. In London, too, the tendency is downward again, for forward rates are being named by that market substantially under the current 2 per cent. spot rate. Paris alone of the great markets fails to show ease in proportion to that prevailing in London, Berlin and New York, but even there discounts were a trifle easier yesterday.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Taking Chances on Cheap Stocks.

Oddly enough, the misfortunes of Rock Island have resulted in a considerable increase in the number of Rock Island Company shareholders. There are now more than 4,000 names on the company's books, and the transfer department has been put to more work than for a long time past by the desire of a large number of persons to take a flier in a low-priced issue. Rock Island preferred seems to be more popular with the small speculators than Rock Island common, probably because it has declined further. In the view of many persons an issue which sold at 25 earlier in the year and up to 45 last year, cannot long remain around 5, no matter what the future may have in store for the stock in the way of an assessment. There are a great many names on Rock Island's books of those who turned in railway stock in 1902 in exchange for Rock Island Company shares and railroad collateral bonds, showing that despite the big declines they are apparently going to stick by the company through the reorganization.

Buying in the Dark.

George Whelan, a brother of C. A. Whelan, President of the United Cigar Stores, and himself largely interested in that company, is reported to be busily engaged in the promotion of a big chewing gum company whose wares will be pushed by all of the United Cigar and Riker-Hegeman drug stores. Wall Street had not heard the name of the new company yesterday, nor the amount of its capitalization, but a number of traders who made money in the recent floatation of Riker-Hegeman stock could not wait for the actual formation of the new company and put their orders in for stock. It was said that one prominent house alone sold 2,200 shares of the new gum company stock yesterday "when, as and if," at par, whatever that may be, plus ¼ for brokerage charges.

100 Shares of C. & S.

There was a sale on the Stock Exchange yesterday of a block of 100 shares of Colorado & Southern second preferred. The previous sale of a full lot was made last Summer, and many things have happened since then, among them the statement by President Darius Miller of the Colorado & Southern a few days ago that the semi-annual dividend usually paid on April 1 would be omitted this year. Yesterday's sale discounted all these changes apparently. It was made at 34, a drop of 26 points from the previous quotation for 100 shares.

Under the Eye of Inspectors.

The Interstate Commerce Commission knows what is going on in the line of keeping railroad accounts down to the last detail through the continual visits of inspectors to the offices of the common carriers. In describing the close supervision kept by the inspectors, a railroad officer told yesterday about ten passes over his company's lines which got lost. The records showed that they had been received and it was known that they had not been issued. Forming an unimportant item of bookkeeping routine, the history of the small batch of passes was forgotten by the office force until one day one of the commission's men wanted to know what had become of them. A thorough search through filing cases and drawers failed to uncover them. In the end the President of the company was asked to prepare a written statement saying that he was positive that they had not been used, and he stands ready to make affidavit to the same effect.

A Pre-election Calm.

The approach of the day when the Nominating Committee of the Stock Exchange will select a slate of officers to be presented at the annual meeting in May has not brought any talk of two parties on the board. It is expected that the election this year will be a cut-and-dried affair. The Nominating Committee was selected by a system which closely approached the method of direct primaries, and the body more truly represents the whole membership than any committee of the past. The Street takes it for granted that the new officers will be men who stand for the reform of business methods begun more than a year ago.

Seeking Source of Rumely Sales.

At 25⅝ for the preferred and 9 for the common the Rumely stocks established new low records in yesterday's trading. There was nothing new in the affairs of the company to cause the decline. A theory held in commission houses was that some of the common shares distributed as a bonus to holders of the company's notes who consented to the plan of extension last week were coming on the market. The aggregate par value of the stock given away was around $750,000, enough, if it were offered for sale, to unsettle the market for Rumely issues. The only trouble with the theory was that it presupposed that the stock had been delivered, whereas inquiry showed that it had not. With this information before them, there were traders who were persuaded that short sales had been made to be covered when the new stock is put out.

⁂

A Matter of Time.

One of the men interested in the rehabilitation of the Rock Island system was asked yesterday whether he had heard of an early rearrangement of Rock Island's finances. "Yes," was the reply, "I heard of it—two months ago."

Receiver Named for Cotton Mills.

GREENVILLE, S. C., March 24.—August W. Smith of Spartanburg, S. C., was appointed receiver here to-day for the Carolina Cotton Mills. Proceedings for receivership were said to be friendly, assets being estimated as more than $500,000 and liabilities as slightly in excess of $300,000.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Better Feeling in London, but Reaction Occurs Before Close —Berlin Prices Firm.

LONDON, March 24.—Money and discount rates were quiet to-day.

Germany and Russia obtained most of the $5,625,000 new gold offered in the open market.

Belief in an early settlement of the Ulster crisis and better South African news caused bears to cover hastily on the Stock Exchange and everything from consols to rubber shares advanced, with Brazilian issues the leading features. Consols reacted later and the other sections drooped below the best. The closing was steady.

American securities opened steady and a fraction higher. Prices improved during the forenoon, but later eased off, and closed quiet.

The general settlement is progressing smoothly.

PARIS, March 24.—The Bourse closed heavy after a firm opening to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 86f. 87½c. for the account.

BERLIN, March 24.—Trading was quiet, but prices were rather firm on the Boerse to-day.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

The special weakness which developed in Corn Products and Rumely had an adverse effect upon the rest of the list in the afternoon trading on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. As a rule, however, the net losses were merely fractional, with the market tending to quiet at the lower levels, and the undertone apparently remaining fairly good. The breadth of the trading list was again a feature, transactions taking place in fifty-eight different securities. Commission house orders covered a wide range of stocks, specialties as well as standard issues.

N. P. HOLDS TO BURLINGTON.

Hill and Morgan Both Deny Reports of Sale of Its Half Interest.

Circumstantial reports of a plan by which the Great Northern Railway was to take over the Northern Pacific's half-interest in the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy were authoritatively denied yesterday by James J. Hill for the Great Northern and by J. P. Morgan for the Northern Pacific.

The story, on which the Burlington joint 4s and Northern Pacific stock have been advanced in the past few days, had it that agreement had at last been reached between the boards of the two Hill roads for the transfer of the Northern Pacific's Burlington interests to the Great Northern for a substantial cash consideration. When the Burlington was acquired the two roads paid for the stock by a joint issue of $215,000,000 of 4 per cent. bonds, which were exchanged on the basis of $200 in bonds for $100 in stock.

It had been reported that these bonds would be called at 105, which is permissible under the collateral trust mortgage, but that holders would be offered an equal exchange for the new Great Northern bonds, bearing 4½ per cent. interest. The Burlington never has paid more than 8 per cent. per annum on its stock, which paid the carrying cost of the property, but it has earned large sums over its dividend requirements and a very valuable equity over the capital obligations has been accumulated.

J. P. Morgan said yesterday that sporadic attempts to effect a sale of the Northern Pacific's half-interest had been made for years past, but that there was no definite proposition before the management at this time, and he knew of no reason for a revival of the story. James J. Hill, being apprised of the story's acceptance in the financial district, telegraphed to THE NEW YORK TIMES from St. Paul last evening:

"Your message regarding the Burlington's being taken over by the Great Northern received. The report is entirely without any foundation whatever."

TOPPING HOPEFUL OF STEEL

Good News, He Says, Would Galvanize Trade Into Activity.

John A. Topping, head of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, brought a hopeful view of the steel trade back from a vacation spent on Jekyl Island.

"I see nothing alarming or discouraging in the steel situation," he said yesterday, "although it is admitted that the market lacks snap and is somewhat disappointing, so far as current volume of new business is concerned. Present conditions, however, are substantially better than they were in December, both as to prices and volume. Operations for March, I think, will show between 75 and 80 per cent. of ingot capacity. Some mills will establish records above and others below these figures.

"The technical position of the market is encouraging as stocks are, generally speaking, normal or under. Some stimulus will unquestionably be given to demand as soon as the country roads are in a more passable condition for travel through the farming districts, and until this condition exists the usual activities in the way of Spring repairs in the farming sections cannot be put in motion.

"In general, the market may be characterized as a waiting one, with a disposition to activity. All it needs is some reassuring or good news from Washington, Mexico, or Europe to galvanize it into activity."

APRIL NEW HAVEN MEETING.

Stockholders Will Be Summoned to Pass on Dissolution Plan.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 24.—A meeting of the stockholders of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company will be called for April, probably between the fifteenth and the twenty-third, to act upon the plan of dismemberment proposed by Attorney General McReynolds. Under their charter the stockholders are entitled to twenty days' notice of a special meeting. The Directors will meet in New York to-morrow, and the call for the meeting probably will be drawn up then.

The last annual meeting was held in Harmonie Hall in this city.

Third Ave. System Reports Deficit.

The Third Avenue system reports for February an operating deficit of $132,462, compared with a deficit of about $200 for the corresponding month of last year. The receipts were $687,379, a decrease of $8,851, while operating expenses increased $127,000. For the eight months to March 1 gross earnings increased $781,173, expenses increased $434,000, and the surplus after all deductions decreased $47,293.

Of this total $10,926,254 was derived from smelting and refining plants, as compared with $12,568,835 from these sources in the preceding year. The revenue turned in from mining properties was $1,185,153, against $3,113,104. Earnings from plant operation were supplemented by $1,318,525 received from investments, rents, &c., making an aggregate income for the company, before meeting administration expenses and fixed charges, of $13,429,933, a decrease of $3,329,566, as compared with the previous year.

The company's net earnings after costs and depreciation were $9,756,540, as compared with $11,079,675 in 1912. Dividends amounting to $8,020,000 were paid, and a balance of $1,736,543 was credited to the profit and loss account. Total surplus at the close of the year was $18,495,942.

"In view of the very unfortunate condition of affairs in Mexico," President Daniel Guggenheim said in the annual report, "by reason of which so large a part of the company's property is at present unproductive, the Directors feel that the shareholders have reason to congratulate themselves on the fact that the earnings of the common stock for the year equal 7.47 per cent.

"The earnings of the company from smelting and refining works and from mines are $3,570,532 less than during the preceding twelve months. The decrease, however, has arisen from the fact that ores in considerable quantities, which have been mined by the company from its own properties and are awaiting transportation facilities, are only valued at the cost of mining, and will not be given a commercial value until they are sampled and assayed after arrival at the smelter. A large credit of this character has simply been deferred, awaiting normal conditions.

"There has been expended $2,368,789 in increasing the capacity of smelting and refining works, and in improved processes. The net increase to property account for the year is $843,271. The current assets of the company have been largely increased by the reduction in metal stocks on hand and now exceed the current liabilities by $7,000,000, all of which is represented by cash on hand, demand loans, or temporary investments properly secured and bearing good rates of interest.

"At the close of the year there were carried on the pension rolls the names of forty employes of the company whose days of usefulness have passed, and who, under the rules of the Pension Board, are cared for from the pension fund. The income from the fund exceeded the payments made during the year by $10,394."

President Guggenheim reported that in order to promote fair treatment and cordial relations between the company and its employes, the services of C. P. Neill, formerly Labor Commissioner of the United States, were secured in May of last year, and the welfare work, hospital arrangements and employer's liability settlements of the company were placed under the supervision of a committee of which Mr. Neill is Chairman. The balance sheet showed total assets of $139,843,782, a gain during the year of $632,077.

POSTAGE COST $260,000.

Sterling Debenture Folk Put $1,000,000 in Prospectuses.

In testifying for the defense yesterday in the Federal District Court before Judge Anderson in the trial of five persons connected with the Sterling Debenture Corporation and the Oxford Linen Mills for the use of the mails to defraud, Frank W. Schumaker, Secretary of the corporation and a defendant, brought out the way in which the Post Office benefits by such stock-selling campaigns as the corporation carried on.

He testified that in the promotion of the Oxford Linen Mills 8,800,000 prospectuses were mailed to possible investors and that these cost to print $753,000. As the average postage charges were 3 cents, the amount of stamps bought was about $260,000, which had to come out of the money subscribed by the public for shares.

MERCHANTS FAVOR VOCATIONAL STUDY

Employers in West and South Advocate Courses for Employes, Says F. C. Pinkham.

DRY GOODS BUSINESS GOOD

National Retail Association's Secretary Back from Three Weeks' Tour Found Optimism Everywher

Optimism is the keynote of the retail dry goods business in the South and Far and Middle West, according to F. Colburn Pinkham, Secretary of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. Mr. Pinkham has just returned from a three weeks' trip through those parts of the country, in the course of which he made stops at Atlanta, New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Seattle, Spokane, Denver, St. Paul, and Chicago. Telling a TIMES reporter of his trip yesterday, Mr. Pinkham said:

"Everywhere I went the merchants expressed the belief that the country is now entering an era of prosperity. I also found that merchants in the cities I visited thought very well of vocational training for employes, including the idea of continuation schools. In all of the cities where vocational training has come up for consideration the merchants have found the Boards of Education in sympathy with the idea. There was a general feeling that the Boston plan of training should be followed instead of the plan fostered by the State of Wisconsin, and it is believed that Mrs. Lucinda Prince, who is director of the Union School of Salesmanship in Boston, will be asked to send young women she has trained to the South and West to install industrial courses.

"Labor is the worst problem faced by the department stores in the cities I visited. The American Federation of Labor has attempted to boycott leading stores in Seattle and San Francisco, which refused to recognize the idea of the closed shop. In Seattle, for instance, two members of the federation have for some time been marching up and down in front of a big store bearing signs worded to the effect that the store will not pay its employes a living wage. However, only four employes of this particular store are members of the union.

"It is generally believed that the boycott by the union has resulted in the loss of some business to the store, but the proprietors maintain that business has been improved by the publicity attached to the boycott. They point out that the boycott is aimed only at the stores paying the best wages, and that the attack is made for tactical reasons rather than for the need of any reform. Profit sharing was everywhere looked upon as the most logical solution of the problem of securing a more satisfactory adjustment with employes.

"While I found little opposition to the idea of a minimum wage, there was considerable opposition to a minimum wage measure distinguishing between the lowest wage that shall be paid a department store employe and the lowest wage that shall be received by workers in industrial enterprises. In Portland, for instance, there is a minimum wage of $9.25 for department store workers, while in the industries the lowest required wage is $8.64. These figures must be paid to girls over 18 in both instances. There is a feeling in evidence that while the difference in these wages is not great in the case of Portland, other legislators, in patterning after the Oregon idea, may make a larger difference. It is thought by the merchants that this discrimination is wrong and unconstitutional.

"A minor, but equally as important, objection to the Oregon arrangement is that the department stores are given only one year in which to qualify their employes for the minimum wage. In Portland, the wage for store apprentices is $6, but despite the fact that the average apprentice is not worth much more than that sum to the store at the end of the first year, the store is required by law to pay $9.25 a week to this employe at the expiration of that period. It is recognized that without vocational training the employe cannot be made to be worth the difference to the store in a single year. There is no objection to the amount of the wage, but it is thought that the stores should be given at least two or three years in which to qualify their apprentices for the wage that must be paid them under the law."

REFUSE TO ENJOIN BANK.

Court Denies Plea of Former Trustee for Reinstatement.

Application was made to Justice Page of the Supreme Court yesterday by Henry W. Neubeck for an injunction requiring the Board of Trustees of the Dollar Savings Bank to reinstate him as a member of the board. The application says that at a meeting of the board on Oct. 2, 1913, when only nine of the fourteen members were present, he was ousted by a vote of five to four on the charge that he had violated Section 140 of the banking law, which prohibits a trustee of a savings bank from borrowing, directly or indirectly, from the bank, or becoming a surety or guarantor for any money borrowed.

The accusation made against Mr. Neubeck was that in February, 1912, when he was a trustee of the bank, as well as the Secretary and a Director of the Bronx Consumers' Ice Company and the owner of seven or nine shares of its stock, the company applied to the bank for a loan of $35,000, to be secured by a first mortgage on its property. The loan was made, and shortly afterward Mr. Neubeck severed his connection with the ice company.

Mr. Neubeck wanted the court to prevent the Board of Trustees from interfering with him as a Trustee pending the trial of the suit he has begun for permanent reinstatement. He says the loan made to the ice company has been paid and that he had not been guilty of any act that might be construed as wrongful and that he is in danger of being greatly injured in his reputation.

Justice Page refused to issue an injunction on the ground that while the loan could not be strictly construed as a loan to a Trustee, he was of the opinion that it came within the statue. He said that the plaintiff's right to relief was not sufficiently evident to justify an injunction pending trial.

WHEAT CROPS REDUCED.

Decrease of 12 Per Cent. in Argentina, Australia, and New Zealand

WASHINGTON, March 24.—A reduction of 12 per cent. in the combined wheat crop of Argentina, Australia, and New Zealand from the previous year's crop was reported to-day to the Department of Agriculture by the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. The total estimated production of all wheat in these countries was placed at 250,133,333 bushels.

Argentina's estimated area of corn which probably will be harvested is placed at 10,260,000 acres, or 8.4 per cent. more than the previous year's area.

Raw beet sugar for 1913-14 in Russia, Rumania, Germany, Australia, Belgium, Denmark, France, Hungary, Italy, Netherlands, Switzerland, and the United States was placed at 8,960,000 short tons, or 2.3 per cent. greater than the previous year.

The estimated rice production of Spain, Italy, United States, India, Japan, and Egypt is 82,544,000,000 pounds, or slightly less than the previous year.

India's flax area is estimated at 2,723,000 acres, or 21.2 per cent. less than the previous year.

Production of oats in Argentina and New Zealand is 87,500,000 bushels, or 33.1 per cent less than the previous year.

General exports, exclusive of specie, from the Port of New York last week were valued at $22,460,666, compared with $21,272,957 in the week previous, and $14,960,442 in the corresponding week of last year. The total value of the present year's exports to date is $243,677,376, against $229,981,859 in the corresponding period of 1913. Exports of domestics and cotton duck from New York last week were valued at $786,766, against $327,350 in the previous week. The greatest amount shipped to a single country, $312,035 worth of merchandise, went to China. Haiti led the week before with $53,588.

Jewelers' Board Extends Work.

The National Jewelers' Board of Trade is broadening its field of usefulness in its efforts to prevent the fraudulent stamping of goods. Heretofore its fight has been largely directed against manufacturers who have violated the stamping laws, but recently it has included jobbers and retailers, who, it would appear, have knowingly disposed of jewelry which was stamped in violation of these measures. One of the main objects of the board in extending its work in this direction is to lessen the competition that is made for honest merchants by unscrupulous sellers who see nothing wrong in disposing of fraudulent merchandise to increase their profits at the expense of the consumer.

Gray Goods Market Stronger.

Following the increased activity in the local gray goods market on Monday, a generally stronger tone was in evidence yesterday. Business was very good in spots, some of the brokers reporting excellent sales in the aggregate. There was a better inquiry reported for narrow goods. Drills and sheetings were also in better demand. There was some nice business done in print cloths for nearby delivery, but not a great deal of contract business was placed from all accounts. Among the sales made yesterday were some good-sized bills of 39 inch 72-76s at 6½ cents, a few sales of 39 inch 68-72s at 5¾ cents, and some fair bills of 38½ inch 60-48s at 5 1-16 cents. Increased activity is expected to-day, as buyers seem to be taking more interest in the goods offered than for some time.

Too Much Similarity.

The conservatism that marks buying of men's wear piece goods for Fall may be explained to some extent by the similarity in colors and patterns of the offerings. Nothing is seen but blacks, blues, and browns and tartan stripes and checks in the same colors, it is said, and the manufacturer is considerably hard put to it to make selections that will add an attractive appearance to his line. The price range, it is claimed, makes little or no difference in the similarity of the fabrics. "At 25 cents a yard there are blacks, browns, and blues," said a manufacturer, "and at $2.50 a yard there are blacks, browns, and blues in tartan stripes and checks with a sprinkling of pencil stripes. There is nothing new, and one page looks the same as another in my Fall sample books."

It Hits the Foreigner.

If between the time of having an order checked and the date of delivery of the merchandise the buyer becomes slow pay, the foreign manufacturer whose account is handled by an agent here faces a rather unpleasant situation. His merchandise has been sold and yet it remains unsold, because the agent refuses to take the risk of the customer failing. The manufacturer may argue that the order was checked at the time of its receipt, but the agent refuses to ship the merchandise. On the other hand, the latter offers to advance money on the goods and thus has nothing to lose and everything to gain by "playing both ends against the middle." It should not prove surprising if this, with other instances of the sort, has not done much to discourage the sale of foreign goods in this country.

Fees Must Be Paid in Advance.

Importers and customs attorneys will hereafter be under the necessity of paying protest fees before protests are forwarded to the Board of United States General Appraisers, according to an order sent to the officers of the customs by Charles S. Hamlin, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. The letter says the department is advised that it is the practice of some Collectors to forward protests to the board when the fee required by Paragraph N of Section 3 of the Tariff act of 1913 has not been paid, and to advise the board of the non-payment. The letter puts a stop to this, and instructs Collectors not to send the protests up for review unless the appeals have been filed within the prescribed time, and the fee of $1 with respect to each entry deposited within thirty days after the filing of the protest. The validity of the dollar fee is now before the Court of Customs Appeals for decision.

Rubber Fairly Active at London.

Bidding was fairly active at the regular fortnightly sale of crude rubber in London yesterday, and, according to cables received here late yesterday afternoon, 445 tons of the 1,270 tons of plantation grades offered had been sold. Smoked sheets opened at 2s. 6½d., but later fell off to 2s. 6d., as compared with 2s. 5½d. at the close of the last previous sale. Pale crêpe, first grade, was in best demand. This rubber was bid in at 2s. 6d. at the opening and 2s. 6¼. at the close, against 2s. 4½d. at the sale which opened on March 10. Prices on the intermediate grades of crêpe were lower than at the last sale. The strength of first crêpe was attributed to the fact that this was the last auction of the month and that sellers had to cover themselves against their March contracts. Up-river fine was held regularly at 3s. ¼d. in London yesterday, while in New York the quotation on this rubber was 74 cents for spot delivery.

Advance Coal Buying Active.

"Anthracite shippers are busy getting ready for the new season, in addition to taking care of the scattering small orders calling for immediate shipment," The Coal Trade Journal will say to-day. "Advance buying for April shipment has been unusually heavy, and there is little doubt that retailers will have more trouble getting coal next month than the operators will have in getting orders. There is little individual coal at tidewater, and there will not be the opportunity to do much loading at the April circular during the closing days of the present month. It is now stated officially by company representatives that the price of stove coal will not be changed this Spring. While the bituminous market is quiet, its absorbing capacity is sufficient to prevent troublesome accumulations at tidewater and to maintain prices at slightly higher levels than ruled a few weeks ago."

⁂

Fur Prices Mostly Weaker.

Weakness continued to be the chief feature of prices at the London fur sales yesterday. At the sale of C. M. Lampson & Co. 500,000 American opossum pelts were disposed of at prices showing an average decline of 20 per cent. from the March, 1913, sale, and 5 per cent. from the January, 1914, sale. On Monday this same company sold 5,000 Russian sables at prices equal to those of a year ago. At yesterday's sale of the Hudson Bay Company the following declines were noted from the prices netted at the sale of last March: Red fox, 10 per cent.; white fox, 15 per cent.; mink, 27½ per cent., and wolverine, 40 per cent. Beaver and muskrat at this sale commanded prices equal to those obtained at the January sale this year. On Monday the Hudson Bay Company sold a quantity of silver fox skins at the same prices as were obtained a year ago. Cross fox brought prices that were 20 per cent. higher than last year.

Ice Weight by Measure.

At the instance of the Natural Ice Association of America a 36-inch ruler is being distributed to consumers of ice who have no facilities for finding the weight of the ice received by them. According to the Refrigerating World, this ruler folds to one foot length and is graduated like a yard stick. It bears the name and address of the dealer and has on the back data as to the weight and volume of ice. A table is worked out giving the weights of a large variety of blocks of the usual dimensions. The weight of a piece of ice 22 inches square is given as 16 pounds for each inch of thickness, while a cake 22 by 32 inches is said to weigh 25 pounds per inch thickness. For finding the weight of pieces of other dimensions the rule is to multiply length by width by height and that product by .532; then divide this result by 16. A simpler rule is to divide the total volume of the ice in cubic inches by 30. The ruler is said to be useful for "weighing" both natural and artificial ice. In Los Angeles, Cal., the weight by measure scheme has been used for some time for artificial ice.

Do Sample Swatches Pay?

Selling by means of sample swatches has become a serious item of expense with manufacturing clothiers. This method was adopted presumably because the old way of making up a line of sample garments had its disadvantages. The question now facing manufacturers is whether the change has been as profitable as it promised to be at the start. The styles carried by the large houses in a season now run up into the thousands, the amount of fabric required for samples varying with the number of salesmen. In a number of cases two or three yards must be used for the purpose, and the largest concerns in the business may need ten or twelve yards for each style. Where two yards are required for each style and 1,000 styles are carried—not an exceptionally large number—it is seen that 2,000 yards must be bought for samples. At $1.25 a yard this would mean an expense of $2,500 in buying the fabric alone. Then there is the additional item of binding, heading and printing the samples, the cost of which is put at 5 cents each. Having served their purpose, the swatches bring from 20 to 25 cents a pound from the cap-makers, or about one-twentieth of their cost. Under the old method of selling by sample garment, the samples brought in from the road were pressed and put back in stock to be sold. The salesmen benefit, of course, by the present system, saving on excess baggage, but the clothier is footing the bill to the extent of thousands of dollars each season, except in the small houses, which send but one or two representatives on the road.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Chinese Slippers and Jewelry Among the Articles Passed On.

Chinese slippers made of silk and straw were held yesterday by the Board of United States General Appraisers not to be dutiable under the Tariff act of 1909, at 60 per cent. ad valorem, as silk wearing apparel, but properly dutiable at only 35 per cent. under the provision for manufactures in chief value of straw. The importers sustained included W. A. Brown & Co., and Quong Wo Chong, New York.

Glass immersion jars used in surgical operations are not blown glassware according to a decision by Judge Sullivan. They were returned for duty at 60 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 98 of the old law, and were claimed by Kronfeld, Saunders & Co., New York, to be dutiable at 45 per cent. under the provision for manufactures of glass. The testimony was that no blowing is used in the manufacture of the articles.

A. L. Audrian & Co., New York, was partly successful in protests relating to the classification under the old law of silver brooches and lockets, and vanity cases made of silver. Collector Malone exacted duty at 85 per cent. ad valorem as articles of personal adornment. The board decided that the vanity cases were properly dutiable at 45 per cent.

H. Nordlinger's Sons, Providence, claimed a rate of 20 per cent. on importations of semi-precious stones in the form of black onyx used in the manufacture of jewelry. The Collector returned the merchandise at 45 per cent. as manufactures of paste or glass. The protest was overruled.

A wide variety of goods imported by Stern Brothers, New York, and returned by the Collector at 85 per cent. ad valorem as articles of personal adornment were held by the board to be entitled to enter at 60 per cent. as jewelry under the old law. Bead necklaces imported by the Manhattan Bead Chain Company, New York, must stand the 60 per cent. duty imposed by the Collector. Lower rates were denied. Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne, New York, failed to secure a reversal of the 35 per cent duty imposed by the Collector on beads and spangles strung. Jewelry imported by Strauss Bros. & Co., William E. Flory & Co., and the China & Japan Trading Company, New York, was reduced in duty from 85 per cent. to 60 per cent. and in some instances to 45 per cent. ad valorem under the act of 1909.

The board granted allowances for breakage of bottles containing stout and for the outage of stout imported in barrels. The protesting firms included E. & J. Burke, Ltd., and D. R. Ward and others, New York; American Shipping Co., Chicago, and W. C. Cummings and Bass, Ratcliff & Gretton, Boston.

'GOING VALUE' RECOGNIZED.

Building Up Must Be Heeded in Rate-Making, Appeals Court Holds.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 24.—A public service corporation is entitled to include in the appraisal upon which a fair return is computed the "going value" of the corporation in fixing rates to be charged, according to a decision of the Court of Appeals to-day. This principle was laid down in a decision reversing the determination of the New York City Public Service Commission, which ordered the Kings County Lighting Company to reduce the price of gas furnished to the residents of the Thirtieth Ward of Brooklyn from 85 cents to 80 cents per thousand feet.

This is the first time in the history of the State that this question has been passed upon by the highest court. In the same decision the Court of Appeals holds that a corporation is not entitled to include in its tangible assets amounts paid for street improvement and the appreciation in the value of lands owned. The lighting company case is sent back to the commission for redetermination.

Judge Miller, who wrote the unanimous opinion of the Court of Appeals in the case, said in the opinion:

"I define 'going value' for rate purposes, as involved in this case, to be the amount equal to the deficiency of net earnings below a fair return on the actual investment due solely to the time and expenditures reasonably necessary and proper to the development of the business and property to its present stage and not comprised in the valuation of the physical property. Going value is to be appraised by showing the actual expenditures of the company, the original investment, its earnings from the start, the time actually required and the expenses incurred in building up the business, all expenditures not reflected by the present condition of physical property, the extent to which bad management or other causes prevent or deplete earnings, and any other facts bearing on the question, keeping in mind that the ultimate fact to be determined is not the amount of the expenditures, but the deficiency in the fair return to investors due to causes under consideration.

"The difficulty of determining the 'going value' will not justify the disregard of it. Rate making is difficult. But that will not justify confiscation.

"It may be conceded that going value has no existence apart from tangible property and that commercially there is but one value, that of the property as a whole, but as the rate cannot be made to depend upon the exchange value, which would in turn depend upon the rate, it would seem to be necessary to appraise the physical property and the going value separately."

The question of the rates which the Kings County Lighting Company should charge came before the Public Service Commission four or five years ago, and was heard first by Commissioner Bassett, and then by Commissioner Maltbie. No copy of the opinion had been received yesterday by the commission, and so none of the Commissioners were prepared to discuss it in detail.

The view was, however, expressed that in directing the consideration of "going value" as an element to be reckoned in calculating a fair rate Judge Miller had introduced a principle of an entirely novel character. The United States Supreme Court, it was pointed out, had decided that it was not right to consider "good will" in such a calculation, and it was not believed that if the question of "going value" were taken to the same tribunal it would approve of it.

It was also pointed out that Judge Miller's definition of a "going concern" favored concerns which had had a tempestuous start in business, but did nothing whatever for corporations which had been profitable from the very start. Thus, in calculating the fair rates to be charged by a company which had during its first few years earned less than a fair return and had afterward worked up a flourishing business, the Court would have considered the difference in its lean years between its actual net earnings and the amount which would have paid it fairly, an element which would be entirely wanting in the case of a company which had paid well from the first.

Thus, a lighting company which had just managed to keep out of the receiver's hands for twenty years would have stored up during that period a great amount of "going value," while another concern which had always paid 6 per cent., the rate of interest held judicially reasonable, would have none. If at the end of the twenty years, it was argued, both companies had attained to equal prosperity, the Court of Appeals's ruling would be prepared to permit the concern which had had a troublesome history to charge higher rates than its rival which had always been doing well.

TYPEWRITER EXPORTS.

More Than $11,000,000 Worth Sent Abroad Last Year.

American typewriting machines were exported during the calendar year 1913, to the value of $11,054,397, according to statistics prepared by the Department of Commerce. The report shows a decline of $862,945 compared with the corresponding period of 1912, but last year's output sent abroad exceeded the exports of 1911 by $450,490. Last year's falling off in exports is ascribed as due in considerable measure to the Balkan War.

Great Britain retained its lead in 1913, as this country's best purchaser of typewriting machines, as the sales there amounted to $2,708,011, a gain of $236,994 over 1912, and 1911 of $417,605. Germany, which is the only foreign country making a pretence as a competitor of the United States in the manufacture of typewriters, bought American machines last year representing a value of $1,053,143.

Last year's exports to France amounted to only $915,146, or less by $54,836 than in the preceding year.

Other countries bought American typewriters during 1913 as follows: Canada, $773,583; Mexico, $238,047; Cuba, $107,406; Argentine, $387,002; Brazil, $247,491; other South American countries, $376,387; British East Indies, $272,239; British Oceania, $482,504, and all other countries, $554,763.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Upper Broadway Block Front Leased as Theatre Site—Operation Involves About $900,000—Chambers Street Loft in a $270,000 Cash Deal—Manhattan Court Apartment Purchased by an Investor.

A long term lease of an entire Broadway block front for improvement purposes in the lower Washington Heights district yesterday, added an interesting element of activity to the realty market. The property is the easterly side of the Broadway block between 134th and 135th Streets, 200 on Broadway by 90 on each street. It is owned by the Riverside Drive Realty Company, (A. C. & H. M. Hall,) and has been leased by them for a term of twenty-one years to the Wayside Realty Company, Incorporated.

The new lessees are preparing to erect at once an artistic two-story building containing a theatre, a large dance hall, and ten stores on the Broadway side. The theatre has been leased by the Wayside Company for the full term of twenty-one years to the Wallingford Amusement Company and it is intended to have it ready for opening early in September.

The theatre will accommodate 1,500 persons. There will be no balcony. The dance hall will occupy a space on the second floor 75 by 75 feet facing Broadway, and it will open on a large roof garden, covering the remainder of the Broadway front. The construction will be fireproof throughout. The plans have been drawn by the architect, Gaetano Ajello. Terra cotta with large glass fronts for the store will form the façade. The aggregate rental for the entire operation is about $900,000.

Slawson & Hobbs and Harvey N. Bloomer were the brokers for the owners and also for the lessees to the amusement company. Negotiations are pending for the leasing of two of the Broadway stores.

$270,000 Cash Deal on Chambers Street.

A downtown cash deal aggregating over $250,000 was closed yesterday by Daniel Birdsall & Co., who sold to an investor the five-story building at 87 and 89 Chambers Street, between Broadway and Church Street. The property runs through to Reade Street, having a frontage on each street of 50 feet by 150.6 deep.

It has been sold for the Interstate Land Holding Company, representing the Ayer estate of Boston, which acquired it through the same brokers in February, 1913. The property is assessed at $270,000. The present deal was an all cash transaction, and reflects an encouraging stability in the downtown realty market.

Franklin Simon Buys Dwelling.

Franklin Simon, of the drygoods firm of Franklin Simon & Co, has increased his Riverside Drive holdings by the purchase of No. 96 from Louisa L. Richards.

The property, which consists of a four-story stone front dwelling on a lot 22.2 by 76.5 feet at the south corner of the Drive and Eighty-second Street adjoins the residence at No. 95 owned and occupied by the buyer, who now controls a plot fronting 44.2 on the Drive and 76.5 on the street.

Manhattan Court Sold.

The six-story apartment house known as Manhattan Court, on the southeast corner of Manhattan Avenue and 101st Street, 100.11 by 95, being 10 to 16 Manhattan Avenue and 12 to 18 West 101st Street, has been purchased by Joseph Shenle from the Froelich Estate. He recently bought a six-story house on Fort Washington Avenue and 160th Street.

Deal in Greenwich Village.

Electus T. Backus sold for the Mutual Life Insurance Company, the property 48 Sixth Avenue, a three-story brick building on lot 19.2 by 74 feet deep to a client. Negotiations for a resale of the parcel which is located between West Fourth Street and Washington Place are pending.

Operator Buys Harlem Flats.

Paul A. McGoldrick has bought 2,255-2,257 Seventh Avenue, two five-story flats with stores on a plot 49.11 by 100. L. J. Greenberger acted as broker.

Bronx Sales.

An important deal in the eastern section of the Bronx was reported yesterday by E. A. Weinstein of the A. N. Gitteman Corporation, who sold for the Hunts Point Estates, of which Robert E. Simon is President, a plot of seven lots on the southeast corner of Hunts Point and Garrison Avenues, to the Baronette Construction Company. Ground will be broken at once by the buyers for the erection of three five-story apartment houses.

Smith & Phelps have sold for cash the four-story flat, on a lot 25 by 90 feet, known as 686 St. Anns Avenue. The buyer is an investor.

Epstein & Yarfitz have sold for the S. O. Construction Company 948 Tiffany Street, a five-story new law house, on a plot 47 by 109 feet, near 163d Street.

$70,000 Brooklyn Deal.

The Solomon-Kraus Realty and Construction Company has purchased premises 357 and 359 South Fifth Street, from the estate of De Nyce and others, and are about to file plans for the improvement of the plot with a six-story apartment house with stores. The plot is 50 by 100 feet. The total transaction will involve about $70,000.

$150,000 Brooklyn Lease.

Sydney S. Cohen has leased the northeast corner of Bushwick Avenue and Hancock Street, Brooklyn, on a plot 100 by 100 feet, to the Beacon Photoplay Corporation for a term of forty-two years at an aggregate rental of $150,000.

The lessees will improve the plot in the early Fall with a theatre similar in construction to the Regent Theatre at the corner of 116th Street and Seventh Avenue, New York City, which they also control.

New Brooklyn Apartments.

Shampan & Shampan are preparing plans for an apartment house to be erected on the south side of Nineteenth Street, 225 feet east of Fifth Avenue, on a plot 62 by 100 feet, to cost $45,000, for the L. E. Realty Company, as owners; also an apartment on the northeast corner of Greene and Tompkins Avenues, for the Clifton Place Realty Company, as owners; also three buildings on the southeast corner of Jamaica Avenue and Bedford Avenue, Richmond Hill, on a plot 64 by 100 feet, for the Cranston Construction Corporation, as owners.

Downtown Hotel Rumors.

A rumor was current yesterday that negotiations were in progress for the leasing of the Park Row Building for the purpose of converting it into a downtown hotel. This is one of several sites which have been suggested within the last few weeks as a desirable site for such a hotel, as stated in THE NEW YORK TIMES two weeks ago. August Belmont is the controlling owner of the building, and at his office it was admitted that such a proposition had been broached, but beyond that nothing definite has resulted.

Plans were drawn a short time ago by an architect for a hotel building on the lower half of the old Astor House, owned by Vincent Astor. At that time the Astor estate stated that no plans were under consideration for the improvement of that section. It is understood that the Astors are awaiting developments to see whether the site will be favorably considered by the Government for a new downtown Post Office. The cost of converting the Park Row building into a hotel it is said would be between $300,000 and $400,000.

Organize to Protect Realty.

Thirty-five taxpayers' associations from various sections of Greater New York were represented at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Vesey Street Salesroom.

The object of the meeting was to continue the temporary organization of taxpayers' associations which recently did such effective work in killing the Harris-Schaap bill at Albany in the interest of real estate in general, and to guard it against any injurious changes in the system of taxation and protect it from the conflict of authority now existing in the various city departments.

Allan Robinson presided, and after explaining the object of the meeting to the assemblage, which numbered about 250, advised that one delegate be appointed from each organization, and that this committee take up their grievances with the heads of the city departments whose orders conflict to the detriment of realty and expense of the owner. Several resolutions were passed, and Alderman Henry H. Curran spoke upon his billboard ordinance recently introduced.

$70,000 Library for West Harlem.

Plans were filed yesterday for a two-story and basement library of brick and marble, to be erected at 78 and 80 Manhattan Street, extending through to 519 and 521 West 126th Street, for the New York Public Library.

The new structure will occupy a plot fronting 50.10 feet on Manhattan Street, 57.3 feet on 126th Street, with east and west lines of 90.6 and 114 feet respectively. According to the architects, Carrere & Hastings, the building will cost $70,000.

Leases.

Walter J. Salomon has leased the store on the Forty-second Street side of the Seymour Building, 503 Fifth Avenue, for a term of years, to Joseph Wallace, the adjoining store to Henry Charbonnier, wholesale glove manufacturer; the store at 742½ Sixth Avenue, for a term of years to Cutterman & Mintz, haberdashers, and the store at 823 Sixth Avenue, for a term of years to Thomas J. Murphy, for a restaurant.

Moore, Schutte & Co. leased 508 and 510 West 140th Street, a five-story walk-up house, containing thirty families, for Franz Joseph Michel for a term of years. The same brokers sold the property to Mr. Michel in February for investment.

Louis Schrag leased for Messrs. Hencken & Haaren, the store and basement in building 360 Sixth Avenue, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third Streets, to Messrs. Cantor & Malgood.

Big Profits from Small Loans.

To the stockholders of the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company the Directors, at the annual meeting Monday, reported the heaviest gross earnings during 1913 of any year since the founding of the company in 1892. They amounted to $1,636,000, or $79,000 in excess of the preceding year. This caused the raising of the quarterly dividend from 3½ to 4 per cent. and the distribution of $800,000, or $100,000 more than the previous fiscal year.

Realty Notes.

The Title Guarantee and Trust Company has begun suit to foreclose a mortgage for $120,000 on the property at 822 and 824 Broadway, southeast corner of Twelfth Street, conveyed on September 30, 1912, by J. Frederic Kernochan to the Peerless Investing Company, Lewis Coon, President. The latter company filed plans last April for a twelve-story building, to cost $225,000.

The recently reported sale of the plot on the west side of Riverside Drive, between 162d and 163d Streets, having a frontage of 222 feet and a depth of 250 feet irregular, was negotiated by the H. M. Weill Company. The buyer is a client of Francis B. Robert.

A meeting of the Harlem Property Owners' Association has been called for to-morrow evening at 147 East 125th Street.

The North Side Board of Trade will meet this evening at the board rooms, Third Avenue and 137th Street.

A meeting of Harlem property owners, under the auspices of the Committee of Thirty, which is working out a plan to improve property conditions in Harlem, will be held at the Lenox Avenue Reformed Church, 123d Street and Lenox Avenue, at 8 o'clock on Friday evening. Several prominent speakers will deliver addresses.

AUGUST BELMONT TESTIFIES FOR SON

Books Produced in Separation Suit Show Raymond's Income Is Now Only $612 a Year.

$10,000 LEGAL EXPENSES

Mrs. Ethel Lorraine Belmont's Counsel Attacks Charge Against Husband's Estate for Fees.

August Belmont testified yesterday in the suit for separation and alimony brought against his son, Raymond, by Ethel Lorraine Belmont, whom he married on Nov. 21, 1912, and deserted eight days afterward. Lawyer E. L. Mooney, in behalf of the plaintiff, did not want the father to testify for his son, but he did want the son to come home from abroad and tell all about the measure of his income to guide the court in fixing the amount of alimony his client should receive. August Belmont was the second witness called. The first was John J. Coakley, a clerk in the banking house of August Belmont & Co., who had charge of the books wherein the financial account of Raymond Belmont was set down.

But Mr. Mooney would not let this witness tell Justice Greenbaum anything about what the books showed. He maintained that the defendant's income could not be justly gauged by them, and he wanted to learn just how much money the defendant received and what his expectations were out of the mouth of a more competent witness. Justice Greenbaum sustained his objections, and after a wrangle between Mr. Mooney and De Lancey Nicoll, the defendant's counsel, Mr. Coakley was withdrawn and Mr. Belmont took the witness chair.

When the defendant came of age in November, 1909, his estate amounted to $143,284.89, according to Mr. Belmont. It has dwindled to almost nothing. The plaintiff got $20,000 before she was married. On the books the balance shown is $41,835, which yields an income of $1,781. But there are charges against it mounting to $27,515.48, which leaves a total of $14,310.52, which will earn only $612 a year for the defendant as soon as the charges against him are deducted from the present total.

When Mr. Mooney heard these figures he gasped. He wanted to see the items which could be deducted from the defendant's shrunken fortune, and he read them as follows:

Sundry bills and drafts paid	$13,756.89
Legal expenses to date	10,000.00
Overdraft Feb. 4, 1913	2,068.35
Loan Feb. 15, 1910	1,200.00
Overdraft in account with August Belmont & Co.	490.24
Total	$27,515.48

Refers to $50,000 in Bonds.

Mr. Mooney then insisted that the books told nothing. He referred to $50,000 in bonds that he said were in the Equitable Safe Deposit vaults, but he went no further along this line, contenting himself with the frequent assertion that he wished to know the total assets of the defendant, and not those that might appear on any particular set of books.

Justice Greenbaum wanted the figures to become a part of the record, with the understanding that the court would not consider them as showing the total income of the defendant, but Mr. Mooney would not consent. He wanted every item mentioned separately and explained. Mr. Nicoll said that all the checks drawn by the defendant could be easily procured, and that probably there were 500 of them. Then the Justice said that he did not intend taking up the time of the court while all this evidence was brought out, and that if counsel insisted upon handling the case in this fashion he would send it to a referee.

Mr. Belmont said he had kept the accounts of his son Raymond since 1908, and that after he became of age the securities and the other assets of his estate had been carefully looked after so far as the bookkeeping was concerned. It was all under his direction, he said. He explained that his son would draw checks or drafts for the sums he needed and they would be paid. Mr. Mooney again protested against the witness taking the place of the defendant, and Mr. Nicoll responded that any such question as that was for the court to decide. Mr. Nicoll next asked:

"How were the drafts drawn?"

"His account was kept at the office," replied Mr. Belmont, "and he would draw against it. No restrictions were placed upon him. If the account was overdrawn some of the securities would be sold to supply the deficiency. He lived with me and so I was familiar with his affairs so far as they concerned the office."

"How much did he draw from the account?"

"I can't say how much the various transactions amounted to at—"

Here once more Mr. Mooney interrupted, saying:

"I object to taking the testimony of this witness in regard to the affairs of his son."

Mr. Nicoll sharply replied that Mr. Mooney had ample opportunity to examine the defendant, if he cared to do so.

$10,000 for Counsel Fees.

"Where?" asked Mr. Mooney.

Then he said that the witness could not tell all that the plaintiff wanted to know about the affairs of the defendant. Mr. Belmont said that the books were under his personal supervision. Mr. Mooney next asserted that some of the items in the list of charges against the account, notably that of $10,000 for counsel fees, had been added since he saw the account. Mr. Nicoll denied this and said that every one of the items had already borne the inspection of counsel for the plaintiff.

Mr. Belmont was then questioned about how much his son received when he attained his majority. He replied that he allowed Raymond $3,000 a year and paid him $75 a month besides as a clerk in his office. These amounts were cut off after the defendant had married. Mr. Nicoll asked:

"Has he any income now?"

"Only the accumulations from his property, so far as I know," replied the witness.

"Any other income or property that doesn't appear in the books?"

"None that I know of."

"Any real or personal property?"

"He has a few dogs and one or two ponies. He has no real estate and no prospective interest in any property."

Then the totals were gone into, and when it was shown that all the income the defendant could reasonably depend upon was about $612 a year Mr. Mooney wanted an adjournment until he could have an expert go over the books.

"Do you want to cross-examine the witness?" asked Mr. Nicoll.

"Not to-day," replied Mr. Mooney. "I want to see what is in these books first."

The case was adjourned until Friday morning, when Mr. Belmont will take the stand again.

PIKE A JAUNTY BURGLAR.

Convicted, He Sorts Out His Loot for Those He Stole It From.

A score of Bronx residents whose apartments were robbed recently, and seven pawnbrokers, who brought with them jewelry that had been pledged to them by Montague J. Pike, were present yesterday afternoon at Pike's trial for burglary in the Bronx County Court.

The trial itself occupied only a short time. Pike said he was 26 years old and a dramatic critic. He said also that he was a graduate of Wesleyan University, but when told that the university reported he had never been a student there he smiled and said that he was known as Schulz in his college days. He admitted that he had robbed Bronx flats while posing as a Board of Health inspector.

When Judge Gibbs asked householders to identify their jewels from a pile brought in by the pawnbrokers Pike volunteered to assist. He arranged the jewelry in little stacks and pointed out to which one of those present each stack belonged. One watch which remained unclaimed he offered to take back to the house where he obtained it in East 138th Street provided the court would let him go in company with an officer. He said that he had entered 100 Bronx homes and had found things worth stealing in only twenty-eight of them.

Judge Gibbs sentenced him to not less than four years and four months or more than eight years and three months in Sing Sing Prison.

It Was His Wife's Bracelet.

Armand Leyssens, a Belgian steward on the Red Star liner Lapland, was taken to the Custom House yesterday and asked to explain why he had in his possession a gold bracelet studded with a dozen small diamonds. Leyssens said the bracelet was the property of his wife, and that he brought it across the Atlantic with him to keep her from pawning it during his absence. The explanation was accepted and he was permitted to retain the bracelet.
